MEMBERS VOTE 3 WEEK RECESS OF LEGISLATURE

More Time Granted Strawn Group.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Springfield, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—After working about five normal legislative days since it was convened May 12 the special session of the Illinois general assembly recessed today until June 17.

This delay was agreed on at a conference between Gov. Louis L. Emmerson and house leaders after it was learned that the Strawn committee will not be ready to go ahead with the bills for the financial relief of the local governments of Cook county next week and that Gov. Emmerson will not be here the next week.

The interval will give an opportunity for compliance with the demands of many legislators that Chicago and the other governmental subdivisions seeking financial rescue formally get behind the bills for their assistance instead of leaving them backed by the political Strawn committee alone.

Conferences Are Held.

There was some criticism of the delay. Conferences of both the Cook county delegation and the down state bloc were held. The latter, eager to dispose of the proposed revenue amendment, voted to insist that amendments be taken up the first day after reconvening and the Chicago men were equally insistent on prompt action.

With the desks cleared by the recess program, the house gave its farewell hours to listening to a defense of the Cook county reassessment by Harry S. Cutmore, who carried it out, and William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, who ordered it.

Members responsible for calling the two men here had admitted their intention to cross-examine them about reported inequalities in the reassessment and the reduction of loop property valuations, but Speaker Shanahan and Minority Leader Igoe seized the opportunity to get at the basic facts of the Chicago situation.

Want Another Special Session.

This hearing came to a climax with a motion by Igoe that a committee be appointed to urge Gov. Emmerson to issue another session call that would permit the enactment of legislation to carry out the Fairweather plan of reducing the present boards of assessment and review in Cook county with a single appointive assessor.

With only a minority present, Igoe's motion was passed by acclamation and a committee, including Igoe, Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Mrs. Rena Elrod, F. V. Lewis, and Roger F. Little, was named. Four of them were on hand and went to the governor's office.

Gov. Emmerson said he had told the callers that he considered the Fairweather plan outside the category of emergency business to which special sessions are limited. He suggested, he said, that it would be proper for the regular session of the new assembly next January to consider it.

Sixteen amendments to the constitutional resolution were introduced in the house. Members said they would have additional proposals later.

INDORSE RELIEF BILLS

A majority of the city council yesterday signed a telegram sent to David E. Shanahan, speaker of the state house of representatives, in which they indorsed the bills presented to the special session of the legislature by the Strawn citizens' committee to obtain financial relief for the city. Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, and Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], Mayor Thompson's floor leader in the council, were among the 29 who signed. The telegram said:

"We indorse in principle the bills presented to the general assembly by the citizens' committee for financial relief to the city. We are making this individual expression because the city council does not meet until June 4. At that time the city council will take formal action approving these bills."

J. Pierpont Morgan Has Examination of His Eyes

Baltimore, Md., May 28.—(AP)—John Pierpont Morgan, head of the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., was a visitor today at Wilmer Opthalmological institute of Johns Hopkins hospital. He returned to New York after having his eyes examined by Dr. William H. Wilmer. It was said to have been one of a number of periodical visits to the institution, to which he gives $500,000 in 1928.

REVEAL CHURCH REPORT FLAYING SMITH BACKERS

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—The supporters of former Gov. Al Smith when he ran for President were characterized as "Jews, Catholics, foreigners, and wets," banded in "the worst combination ever got together to scuttle the ship of state," in a report approved by the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals on Dec. 4, 1928.

Deets Pickett, the church board's research secretary, testified today before the senate's lobby committee that the Methodist board had so approved the report. He said the report had been made by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board. The report was a confidential summary of his own activities in that position.

Dr. Wilson's Other Charges.

In addition to assailing Al Smith's followers Dr. Wilson's report:

1. Accused the pope of meddling in the election.

2. Attacked Smith as the defender of saloons, brothels, and gambling halls.

3. Asserted that President Hoover was pledged to make every government official in his administration and every employé in the federal service, including the army and navy, teetotalers.

4. Denounced the department of justice during the Coolidge administration for "stalling" on Volstead enforcement.

5. Sharply criticized Dr. Henry Van Dyke, noted Presbyterian divine, scholar, and Princeton university professor, for deploring the entry of the church into politics and referring to former Assistant Attorney General Mabel Willebrandt as a "female firebrand."

Text of Wilson's Report.

Commenting upon his election activities Dr. Wilson said:

"We went up against the worst combination that ever fought together in the United States; an effort to corral all the foreigners to get the united voice of one great thoroughly organized church which for the first time gave its sisters, its nuns, its religious orders the right to register and voted them almost to a man, and especially to the last woman.

"Then the entire group of wets, the thirsty and those whose cupidity wanted a continuance of the bootleg trade; an effort to make the Jews believe that they had something in common with the Catholics in the contest and with the aid of one or two distinguished rabbis, who tried to whip them as a race into line back of the marching column for Al Smith, and then that carefully created class known as 'tolerants' who wanted to be so broad that they were glad to vote against their own and denounce their own leaders in order to show how very liberal and tolerant they were."

Reference to "Tolerants."

Senator Glass and Joseph T. Robinson were named in this reference to "tolerants," the letter saying:

"I think some of the leaders of this group will be spending the balance of their lives trying to explain away their speeches in the last campaign, the Carter Glasses, the Robinsons, etc.

"We went up against that combination with only the haphazard support of the newspapers that dared not offend the other side, but the churches of the country and the women instinctively felt that this was their cause and thoroughly did they turn the tide."

In commenting on President Hoover's victory, Dr. Wilson's report read:

"It is a happy circumstance that the government is to fall into the hands of a consistent Quaker and a Methodist Vice President.

Schemes of the Wets.

"It was very interesting to watch the schemes of the wets and the nullifiers as they sought to bow the preacher out of politics and bring in all the trusted wet advocates of the church that has taken no part in politics or religion, but got the consent of its pope for all sisters of charity, all nurses, all the inmates of nunneries to register and to vote with the expectation that they would make it unanimous for a son of the church and a ruler of Tammany Hall and a man whose unbroken advocacy of the saloon, the brothel and the gambling hall cannot be questioned by any act of his in thirty years."

Replying to the charge that if congressmen would vote as they drink,

Dissension that has split the management of the Kenneth Sawyer Goodman Memorial theater for months on the question as to whether it should be conducted for profit or for art, reached its denouement last night in the resignation of Thomas Wood Stevens, director of the theater since its foundation five years ago.

With him resigned, or threatened to resign, the majority of the company, including two stage directors, B. Iden Payne and Whitford Kane; a scenery designer, Leslie Marzolf, the lighting expert, Arvid Crandall, and the leading man, Neal Caldwell. There was hardly a corporal's guard left, back stage or front, after the mutineers had called the roll.

Box Office Keeps Control.

But the box office, it appears, has triumphed over art. Mr. Stevens and his followers represented the cultural or little theater uplift ideal, as opposed to the business views of such men as Robert B. Harshe, director of the Art institute, and Charles Worcester, chairman of the institute's committee supervising the theater.

Mr. Stevens will be succeeded by Hubert Osborne, who joined the company this years as stage director. Mr. Osborne takes charge in the midst of a campaign to raise $120,000 by public subscription. It is known that the Goodman theater has been losing money on its productions because of scant patronage.

Stevens Explains Position.

In a letter to Mr. Harshe supplementing that containing his resignation Mr. Stevens said:

"I am writing to make quite clear my position with regard to the theater's policy for next year. I am sorry if this is a disappointment to you and to Mr. Goodman, but I feel I am hopelessly in disagreement with the theater committee. I believe that the Goodman should be a true art theater, and that it should devote itself to really important plays, not otherwise to be seen in Chicago, and to new plays with some emphasis on vital experiment. . . ."

The theater committee with which Mr. Stevens differed includes, besides William O. Goodman, who built the theater in memory of his son, Mr. Worcester, chairman; Walter B. Smith Arthur T. Aldis, Walter S. Brewster, and Percy B. Eckhart.

Harshe Issues Statement.

None of these would discuss the resignation last night. The only statement came from Mr. Harshe, who said:

"We greatly regret Mr. Steven's resignation; his five years' work at the Goodman represents a distinguished achievement. We have full faith in Mr. Osborne's power to carry on and develop that work. He will be in authority over the repertory company and will direct its policy."

FAMILY SHARES $1,000,000 ESTATE OF JOHN POWERS

The will of the late John Powers, member of the city council for 38 years, was filed for probate yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. The bulk of the estate, estimated to total $1,000,000, is left to his widow, Mrs. Franc Lawler Powers, a son, John F. Powers, and other relatives.

The will sets up two trust funds of $150,000 each, the income of which will be paid to his son and Miss Janith Mary Lawler, a step-daughter. Another trust fund of $10,000 was left for Kelly Powers, a grandson, who will receive the principal of a $150,000 trust fund upon the death of his father, John F. Powers. The Little Sisters of the Poor, Throop and Harrison streets, were bequeathed $20,000.

Robs Actress of Gems on Santa Fe Train

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., May 28.—[Special.]—Several passengers on The Chief, crack train of the Santa Fé railroad, were held up tonight soon after it had pulled out of Los Angeles starting on its fast run to Chicago.

From first reports one daring robber went through the sleeping coaches just before the train reached Pasadena and held up several prominent men and women.

According to railway special agents, the bandit, who worked alone, obtained rings and cash totaling $11,075 from three individuals.

Works as Train Creeps.

He was described as a tall young man of sandy complexion and wore a handkerchief drawn tightly over the lower portion of his face.

First to be held up was Marian Nixon, who in real life is Mrs. Edward Hillman, wife of a well known Chicago merchant. He noted Miss Nixon's four and one-fourth karat diamond, famous throughout Hollywood as one of the finest engagement rings worn in the motion picture colony.

After forcing the actress to hand over this ring he called for another of her rings. This one, Miss Nixon said, was valued at $4,000. From Mr. Hillman the bandit got $400 in cash.

Mrs. Jolson Visited.

Robert G. Lehman, Detroit business man, also was robbed, but reported that the bandit was satisfied with his ready cash, totaling $175.

Next the bandit entered the drawing room of Ruby Keeler, actress wife of Al Jolson, but she reported he got nothing.

Victim Tossed Into Auto; Nab One Gangster

A motor car loaded with gunmen apparently bent on a mission of vengeance late last night made a foray into a quiet residential neighborhood—at Berwyn and Ashland avenues—on the north side, shot and probably fatally wounded their victim, dragged him into the car, and sped away. But they did not escape unscathed. One of their number, presumably the man who did the shooting, was torn from the running board of the fleeing car by policemen and early this morning was being questioned.

The prisoner is Sam Hunt, 27 years old, who first gave his address as 1035 South Wabash avenue and later said he lived at the Hotel Harmonia, 3000 Indiana avenue. The identity of the gang victim was not learned, but the police said they expected to find his body before long.

See Echo of Indictments.

In seeking a motive for the shooting the police turned first to the indictment of Ralph Capone by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of violating the prohibition law. Hunt, they said, has been arrested in the past with men believed to be identified with the Capone liquor interests, and detectives saw in the assassins' raid a possibility that the gang was taking revenge on an informer.

The police also said they would investigate a possibility that the shooting might be an outgrowth of the recovery of $1,000,000 worth of jewelry and the arrest of six alleged members of a gem theft ring in New York.

The attack occurred about 11:30 o'clock. Three young men towing an automobile south in an alley between Ashland avenue and Clark street, just north of Berwyn avenue, were startled by a fusillade of shots from the darkness beyond the mouth of the alley south of Berwyn avenue. They heard a man scream and the roar of a powerful automobile motor.

Find Wounded Man.

A moment later a flashily dressed man carrying a golf bag appeared under the street light at the mouth of the alley, looked hastily east and west in Berwyn avenue and ran back into the shadows of the alley. The three young men were Cletus O'Rourke, 1321 Ardmore avenue; Carl Peterson, 4913 North Clark street, and Carl Voyke, 5749 Ridge avenue.

Voyke, bolder than his companions, ran across the street and into the alley. Seventy-five feet from the street, lying against the wall of a building, was the body of a man. Voyke stooped and saw that one side of his face had been blown away by a shotgun charge.

"Help me. They got me. I'm dying," mumbled the victim.

Voyke had turned to go for a policeman when the roar of an automobile engine was heard again and the headlights of a car flashed in the alley to the south. It was the assassins' car returning. Voyke concealed himself behind the corner of a building and watched.

Victim Pushed Into Auto.

The car stopped as it came abreast of the moaning victim. Voyke said there seemed to be four men in the machine. One of them stepped out and with the help of his fellows inside the car pushed the wounded man into the tonneau.

"We told you we'd get you, and we did," the gangster remarked as he clambered back into the machine and kicked at the prostrate victim. As the car started slowly out of the alley the man whom Voyke and his companions had seen with the golf bag ran up and leaped on the running board.

It was at this moment that Joseph

U. S. INDICTS 300 UNDER JONES 5 AND 10 RUM LAW

Name Ralph Capone in Air Booze Plot.

The May federal grand jury completed its work yesterday, returning 100 indictments, naming more than 200 defendants who are charged with liquor violations under the Jones 5 and 10 law. About fifty true bills against another 100 Jones law defendants had been previously reported, making a total of more than 300 persons indicted under the Jones law during the month. This is a record for this district.

Ralph J. Capone and eight of his associates were named in two of the indictments returned before Federal Judge Woodward. They are charged with conspiracy to "commit divers offenses against the United States," including the running of "large quantities" of liquor from Canada to Cicero by airplanes. The true bills against Capone and his employés also contain Jones law counts. Most of the other Jones law charges name obscure offenders.

Raids Reveal Plane Inquiry.

The Capone indictments follow an investigation begun several months ago by special prohibition agents under Alexander Jamie. The investigation was first made public with the raiding of Ralph Capone's two Cicero cabarets, the Montmartre and the Cotton club. At that time the federal investigators disclosed that the gang had used airplanes to bring booze from Windsor since last August, and it was estimated that $1,400,000 worth of liquor was so transported.

The conspiracy count of the indictment charges that the defendants "transported and caused to be transported 500 cases of whisky from Windsor to Cicero by airplanes," but Assistant United States Attorney Victor La Rue explained that this quantity would be sufficient to prove an overt act.

Eight Capone Aids Named.

Those indicted besides Capone are Percy Haller, manager of the Cotton club; Benny Compton, Jack Keeler, Harry McRae, Robert Kinney, Art Goldie, John Doe (a person known only as Rasputin), and John Doe (a person known only as Logan). All were attachés of the Cicero cabarets.

Besides the conspiracy count, there are charges of possessing liquor at the cabarets, selling liquor, and maintaining a nuisance. The maximum penalty for conspiracy is two years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000. The maximum penalties for the Jones law violations, sale and transportation of liquor, are five years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

Investigate Plane Owners.

Federal agents disclosed that the investigation is not finished and that there is a possibility of bringing action against several alleged members of the gang, including the pilots and owners of the airplanes. The planes were said to have been owned by a Detroit rum syndicate, which is under investigation there now.

Capone and the other defendants are at liberty in bond on the liquor charges. Capone faces a possible sentence of twenty-two years in prison and a fine of $40,000 on his recent conviction of income tax fraud.

Indict "West Side" Frankie Pope.

Other indictments returned yesterday included that of "West Side" Frankie Pope, charged with conspiracy in connection with others to violate the dry laws. Pope is now serving a prison term for violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic law.

One true bill named John W. Sheridan, wealthy real estate operator, in connection with the seizure of a still on a farm he owned near the Higgins road.

Two physicians were indicted under the Jones law on charges of selling liquor. They are Dr. Martin H. Fash, 2255 Madison street, and Dr. Carl Furness, 2527 East 73d street.

A south side gang, allegedly headed by John Bernardi, was indicted as the result of raids on two Calumet Park stills. Bernardi, who is in the cheese importing business, is alleged to have sold sugar for use in the operation of stills.

U. S. INDICTS RONGETTI

The federal grand jury yesterday returned a true bill against Dr. Amante Rongetti, who has been in the state courts many times on charges of abortion, murder and manslaughter. The indictment charges unlawful selling and prescribing of narcotics. There are 31 counts.

The true bill sets forth that Ron-

The names of the individuals for whom Rongetti allegedly prescribed narcotics are set forth in the indictment and their disease in most instances is described as "cancer."

AL CAPONE WINS A POINT

While his brother, Ralph, was having his troubles in Chicago Al Capone yesterday was scoring a point in his court battle to make the Miami, Fla., authorities stop harassing him, according to Associated Press dispatches. Justice Newcomb of Miami informed Chief of Police Guy Reeve: "If you arrest him without making a charge against him I'll have you arrested."

Capone sat through the court session, but did not take the witness stand. The dispatches said he frequently interposed objections and interrupted defense witnesses so vociferously at times that he had to be quieted, either by his attorneys or by Justice Newcomb.

The charge made by Capone that he was falsely arrested on May 8 at the order of Director of Public Safety S. D. McCreary was taken under advisement by Justice Newcomb, who said he would confer with attorneys before deciding whether McCreary is to be held for grand jury action.

Miami Officials Cleared.

The justice discharged McCreary, Mayor Reeder, and City Commissioner Knight from charges of conspiracy to accuse Capone falsely of violation of a city ordinance.

In his testimony, according to the dispatches, Chief Reeve asserted he believed Capone's presence in the community was not beneficial, but said he would not follow the plan of harassing him if he were in complete charge of the police department. He testified he would, however, continue to arrest Capone under the standing order to that effect. It was then that Justice Newcomb declared he would have the chief arrested.

In the evening Capone gave his widely heralded banquet, which was a part of his campaign to counteract unfavorable Miami criticism. One of the guests reported that sixty Miami business and professional men attended the affair, which was elaborately staged. There were musical numbers ranging from opera airs to dance music for the highland fling.

A sumptuous dinner was served, which included Capone's favorite dish, spaghetti. The strongest drinks served were mineral water and soft drinks. While the guests were assembled around the huge banquet table, the guests said, one of the business men made a brief address and presented Capone, "as the new business man of the community," with a fountain pen. Capone responded with a brief talk, thanking his friends for the gift.

G. O. P. WOMAN, LIFELONG DRY, ASKS NEW DEAL

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Margaret Culkin Banning, author, member of the Minnesota Republican state central committee, and uncompromising believer in temperance since girlhood, lined up with the wet cause here today when she volunteered for active work with the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

"Prohibition has assumed such terrific proportions in the minds and lives of the American people that every other important problem is being neglected," she said. "Prohibition has made drinking a most fascinating pastime out of all proportion to the place it held in our life before the passage of the 18th amendment. Now is the time for people of courage to open their minds to conditions and take a determined stand."

SEIZE $1,000,000 IN BOGUS BILLS; 3 ARE ARRESTED

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—The trail of a clean new $10 bill, found in the cash drawer of an obscure Bowery lunchroom, today led to the biggest haul in the history of the American secret service. More than $1,000,000 in counterfeit money was seized in a raid in Brooklyn.

Three men were arrested, and Alan D. Straight, secret service chief for the New York district, said they had been captured while actually engaged in the manufacture of money.

Authorities believe the plant was all "set" to turn out $5,000,000 more of the bogus bills in a few days.

SHOT DOWN AND TAKEN FOR RIDE; NAB GANGSTER

Victim Tossed Into Auto Which Speeds Away.

Laurie, a special policeman employed by the Uptown Business Men's association, and Adolph Wesselhoeft, 1347 Norwood avenue, a watchman for the Fingerhuth Protective patrol, approached the mouth of the alley together on their regular rounds. They saw the man clinging to the running board of the assassins' car as it turned out of the alley, and heard Voyke's yell, "Stop them!"

Laurie ran up to the car, grasped the gangster around the waist and tore him from the running board. The automobile speeded away.

Baffled in Rescue Attempt.

The prisoner was Hunt. Laurie and Wesselhoeft started with him to the police call box at Foster avenue and Clark street. There they met Policeman Martin Laffey of the Summerdale station. All were standing at the corner waiting for a police patrol when the gangsters' car, a large blue sedan, again appeared, its occupants apparently intending a rescue. But the policemen drew their guns and the assassins drove away.

Hunt was taken to the Summerdale station and Lieut. Martin McCormick went to the scene of the shooting. In the alley he found the mysterious golf bag and inside was an automatic shotgun with one shell discharged. The empty shell was a few feet away.

Hunt denied that he had taken part in the shooting, but the police early this morning were searching for Mike Allegretti, James Hines, Ralph Pierce, and Clyde Bridges, who, police records show, have been arrested with Hunt in the past. Allegretti killed "Two Gun" Jack Shea in a pistol battle at Dubuque, Ia., four years ago, and Pierce, a henchman of Al Capone, was indicted in 1928 for election frauds in the 20th ward. The police said that Allegretti is the real manager of Ralph Capone's Cotton club in Cicero.

Lawyer and Companion Charged with Assault

Attorney Paul D. Speer, son of an insurance broker, and Bernard Brown, a salesman, were arrested by state's attorney's detectives yesterday because, it is alleged, they had assaulted Investigator Edgar Dudley, 211 East Delaware place, of the prosecutor's staff during a parking argument in front of Dudley's home on Tuesday night. Investigator Dudley has a fractured nose, two broken ribs and a possible skull fracture, it was reported at his home.

TAX DODGERS HEED INDICTMENT THREAT, U. S. OFFICIALS SAY

The conviction of Ralph Capone and the indictment of more than a dozen others in the government's campaign against income tax evaders were cited yesterday by internal revenue officials as being partly responsible for the collection of about $1,000,000 in delinquent taxes since last fall.

These payments were made by 300 persons, and they include penalties and interest in addition to the deficiency taxes. Twenty-five per cent a year is added to the tax plus 12 per cent interest from the time it should have been paid. When fraud is involved, the penalty is 50 per cent.

SIX NEGROES ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Cairo, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—Six Negroes broke out of the Alexander county jail here last night by cutting their way through a brick wall in the bull pen. Two of the six men were to be taken to the state reformatory at Pontiac.

BARE METHODIST REPORT HITTING SMITH BACKERS

Dr. Wilson Assails Pope as Meddler.

prohibition would be abolished, Dr. Wilson said:

"It is quite as accurate a charge as the one that became stock and trade with the worst combination that ever got together to scuttle the ship of state, when men who had tried to get the unanimous support of one church and interfered with the internal workings of all other churches by threats and intimidations and covered up their diabolical designs by lecturing the Christian people of the nation and the temperance people of the land on tolerance and who interpreted every devotion to the cause of civic righteousness, law, obedience, loyalty to the Constitution and devotion to the temperance reform as a species of intolerance and the voting against the wettest nullifier in the United States as a prejudice against his religion, but the saving common sense of the American people saw through that and sustained the dry law and voted for a drier administration."

Dr. Wilson's report disclosed that $5,000 of the board's funds was used to reprint and distribute "all over the southland" some of the speeches of Bishop James Cannon Jr., Methodist Church, South, dry leader, who conducted the anti-Smith campaign in southern states, while Wilson himself made no less than ninety-eight "campaign speeches" during the fight against Smith.

Confronted with the report, read into the record by Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], Pickett continued to insist that the board confined itself to "nonpolitical" activities during the campaign and sought to argue with both Senators T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] and T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.] that, in spite of the facts revealed by the report, the board was justified in ignoring the federal corrupt practices act requiring detailed statements of receipts and expenditures by political committees.

Before he was excused by the committee under instructions to hold himself in readiness to resume the stand when examination of the board's files has been completed, Pickett admitted that the board has in the past interested itself in the appointment of federal judges, district attorneys, marshals, and deputy marshals.

He also admitted that because President Hoover appointed W. D. Mitchell to be attorney general the board now indorses forthcoming transfer of Volstead enforcement responsibility from the treasury department to the department of justice.

$500,000 ADDED TO ROCKEFELLER LAND VALUATION

Tarrytown, N. Y., May 28.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Jr. laid further claim to being America's largest residential taxpayer today when it was announced by the Mount Pleasant township board of assessors that his holdings had been assessed $500,000 more than last year.

As the Rockefeller property extends into Tarrytown, North Tarrytown, and Greenburgh, it is estimated that his assessment this year will total $6,000,000.

At the average tax rate of $25 a thousand, Mr. Rockefeller's tax is estimated at $150,000.

3 NEAR DEATH AFTER EVANSTON AUTO ACCIDENT

Woman Killed Trying to Cross Street.

Three persons, injured in an automobile crash at Dodge avenue and Oakton street, Evanston, late last night were reported dying early this morning in St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

They are Charles Riel of Third Lake, a summer resort in Lake county; Mrs. Thyng Errington, 70 years old, 300 West Division street, and Stanley McCabe, 7001 North Hilldale avenue, Chicago.

Both Cars in Ditch.

McCabe and Henry Miklowitz, 1455 Summerdale avenue, both 18 years old, were driving northbound in Dodge, when their car hit one driven by Riel, going west in Oakton. With Riel were Mrs. Thyng Errington and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Pearl Errington, both of 300 West Division street.

The impact caused the cars to hurtle over and into a ditch. The injured all sustained skull fractures and internal injuries. Miklowitz escaped with a fractured knee. He was driving a car belonging to Frank Dillon, 1443 Lunt avenue. He said they had taken it without his permission.

Woman Killed in Chicago.

Mrs. Martha Stuehler, 62 years old, 1940 Eddy street, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile driven by Mrs. Loretta Baldwin, 5020 Addison street, while she was attempting to cross the street at Addison street and Damen avenue last evening. Mrs. Baldwin was held for appearance at the inquest.

This death and two others in Cook county raised the 1930 toll to 352. The other victims:

Wilbur Burman, 7 years old, 5217 West North avenue, died at the Keystone hospital from injuries received on May 23 when he was struck by a truck in an alley at the rear of 5203 West North avenue. John Gilcrist, 6045 North Monticello avenue, the driver, was not held.

Anton Pazdan, 45 years old, 2826 West 71st street, a coal passer. Died at St. Anthony's hospital from injuries received Tuesday when he was crushed between a coal truck and a trolley pole.

EVANSTON M. D. JAILED; CHARGE DRUNKEN DRIVING

The village police of Morton Grove last night jailed Dr. P. F. Schneider of Evanston on a charge of driving while intoxicated. They arrested him while he was being held at the Evanston police station following an altercation with Frank Kreml, head of the Evanston safety commission, at the St. Francis hospital.

Dr. Schneider, who resides at 3016 Normandy place, Evanston, and maintains an office at 636 Church street in the suburb, had taken Ward Watson of Waseca, Minn., to the hospital for treatment following a collision between the auto in which the latter was riding and another at Dempster street and Waukegan road in which two other persons were hurt.

Kreml, who was at the hospital investigating another accident, attempted to question Dr. Schneider and when he offered resistance took him to the station. The Morton Grove police arrived soon after and took their prisoner away.

KATHERINE TOD ENGAGED TO WED BRADLEY MARTIN

New York, May 28.—(AP)—Widespread interest was aroused in society circles today by the announcement of the engagement of Miss Katherine Kennedy Tod to H. Bradley Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin.

For several years there were rumors of Martin's engagement to Miss Valerie French, granddaughter of the late earl of Ypres, despite repeated denials from Miss French and Mr. Martin.

When Martin suffered injuries in a motor car wreck in Colorado Miss French visited him at a hospital in Denver.

The future Mrs. Martin is a member of the Junior league and the Colonial Dames of America. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Tod of Park avenue.

Mr. Martin is a grandson of the late Bradley Martin and of the late Henry Phipps of Pittsburgh, at one time partner of Andrew Carnegie. Miss Tod was presented at court recently.

Tail Wind Pushes Ship Off Brazil Coast.

BY GUSTAF KAUDER.

[Correspondent of The Chicago Tribune and the New York Times aboard the Graf Zeppelin. Copyright: 1930: In the United States and Canada by the New York Times company; elsewhere by Ullstein A.-G. All rights reserved.]

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, en route to Havana, May 28.—The Graf Zeppelin, sailing in perfect weather at a speed of 65 knots, crossed the equator at the 40th degree west longitude at 9:45 o'clock tonight.

[This position would place the Zeppelin over the Atlantic ocean, about 600 miles east of the mouth of the Amazon river.]

We passed Natal, the last city we shall see in South America, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and shortly afterwards passed the last South American land, Cape Roque. We will reach the first land probably Friday morning, at Porto Rico.

Make Smooth Start.

We made a smooth start at Pernambuco, taking advantage of a lull between light ground winds, at 9 o'clock this morning after being delayed by a rainstorm, which drenched the Graf and made it so heavy it was forced to wait for the sun to dry it out.

The airship took the air gently and evenly, and then circled a few times over the city and the suburb of Olinda. A few enthusiastic spectators tried to follow us by running across the airfield, but they were soon outdistanced.

We slowly gained altitude and then started over the ocean on a northern course. A good tail wind is aiding us. We expect to land at Havana Friday evening, weather permitting.

Cancels Miami Cruise.

HAVANA, May 28.—(AP)—Cancellation of the Graf Zeppelin's advertised circle tour of Miami, Fla., and the Cuban coast was announced tonight as the trans-Atlantic air liner moved swiftly toward Havana from South America. Several reservations for the 20 hour cruise had been made and it is understood the money will be refunded.

No reason for the reported change of plans was given, although it was intimated that a misunderstanding was responsible for the side trip having been advertised in the first place. The cost had been set at $500, the same fare as will be charged for the Havana-Lakehurst, N. J., flight.

Grocer Convicted of Arson by Jury in Fifteen Minutes

Samuel Madonia, 45 years old, 836 South Hermitage avenue, was found guilty of arson yesterday by a jury in Judge Walter P. Steffen's Criminal court. The jury took only 15 minutes to decide that Madonia was guilty of starting a fire through an explosion which razed his grocery at 522 South Kildare avenue several months ago. Vito Russo, said by Assistant State's Attorney Charles Bellows to have been an aid of Madonia, was burned to death in the fire.

72 PLANES FLY OVER CHICAGO IN SKY THRILLER

Directors Plan for National Races.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Chicago yesterday was given a foretaste of the stirring sky pageant that will be staged here next August during the 1930 air races. Spectators, craning their necks skyward, watched a fleet of 72 flying ships of all sizes and kinds wing their way from the Municipal airport to Curtiss field, where directors of the races laid plans for the coming air carnival.

Assembling at the city field and at the Hillside airport, the planes advanced on the city in two divisions. The squadron of big cabin planes, led by E. Hamilton Lee, ace of the air mail pilots, with a million miles of flying behind him, appeared out of the haze of the south side, swung in a circle over the loop, and sped on to the Glenview air field, where the races will be held next Aug. 23 to Sept. 1.

Two Other Fleets in Parade.

A second group of lighter planes, led by Pilot Jack Oates, flew a direct course over the west side. A third fleet of sports planes flew over the Pal-waukee airport with Owen B. Jones as marshal.

At Curtiss field the 200 pilots and aviation boosters were entertained at luncheon and heard the plans for the air race program as outlined by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events; Capt. Maxwell M. Corpening, executive director; Cliff Henderson, managing director, and Maj. Reed G. Landis, director of promotion.

Nearly 1,000,000 spectators are expected to attend the air classic during the nine days of races and pageantry, the directors announced. Special roads are to be built and 250 acres set aside for parking.

Will Be International.

Capt. Corpening announced that arrangements are being made to make the races international in scope for the first time in history. Various departments of the federal government are endeavoring to bring to Chicago speed entries from England, France, Germany, and Italy for an international race, he said. Some encouragement has also been received from Congressman Fred C. Britten, who is trying to bring here the winning Schneider cup plane from England, the Graf Zeppelin, and the famous D-OX seaplane, with its 12 motors and accommodations for 169 passengers.

The navy department, Capt. Corpening announced, has definitely promised to send one squadron of 18 fighting ships, one squadron of 12 marine corps planes, and the navy dirigible, Los Angeles. The army has also promised full coöperation.

Approximately $100,000 has been offered as cash prizes for the events, which include five Derbies. Two are for women. One will lead down the Atlantic seaboard, around the Gulf of Mexico, and up the Mississippi valley. The second will likely take off from a west coast city. Nonstop Derbies, tentatively planned, probably will start from southern California, Boston, and Philadelphia.

SOUTH PARKS START BEAUTIFYING WORK TO COST $500,000

The South park board yesterday started a beautifying program for the section of barren land bounded by 40th and 51st streets, the Illinois Central tracks, and the lake. The entire program will take a year to complete and will cost $500,000, park officials said.

When completed the section, now a barren strip of sand, rocks, and rubbish thrown up by the waves, will be changed into a park of grass, trees, shaded walks and flower beds. The park will be nearly a mile long, and from one thousand to fifteen hundred feet wide.

Black dirt has been hauled from various sections of the park and now covers most of the strip, with the exception of the extension of 47th street, saved for the constructing of a connecting bridge to the outer drive. The sowing of grass will start within the next week.

As soon as the section is seeded, the landscape gardeners of the park will set out trees, construct walks, and build miniature lakes and flower beds.

BLAST BEHIND THEATER LAID TO BOYS' PLAY

An explosion in an alley at the rear of the Biltmore theater, 2046 West Division street, last evening caused a bomb alarm to be sent to police, but investigation failed to show any evidence of an attempt to bomb the theater. Police believed that boys playing with explosives were responsible. The audience was not alarmed, although theater attachés and persons in the lobby and on the outside of the theater were startled by the explosion. Two windows in a building across the alley were broken.

Homes

REPORT 17 LISTED FOR INDICTMENT IN CANAL INQUIRY

True Bills to Be Returned Saturday.

Seventeen officials and employés of the sanitary district under the régime of Timothy J. Crowe are reported to be listed for indictment in true bills which are to be returned Saturday. First Assistant State's Attorney Northup, who has directed the new investigation into alleged graft, had hoped to finish the inquiry today but this appeared impossible last night.

The first indictment, according to present plans, will name only trustees and officials in a general conspiracy charge of many counts. The second will name lesser lights, charging them with padding expense accounts and otherwise collecting money without working.

To Rename Trustees.

The conspiracy indictment will name 10 or 11 defendants. Whether it names one man has not been definitely decided, it was reported. The trustees still living, who were named in the indictments returned more than one year ago, will be named in the new bills.

The trustees named originally are T. J. Crowe, James M. Whalen, John J. Touhy, Frank J. Link, John K. Lawler and August W. Miller.

Three officials, not trustees, are expected to be named in the conspiracy indictment. They are to be accused, it is reported, because contracts were sanctioned by them and work carried on under their direction. A fourth official may be named, it is reported.

Prosecutor Northup did not announce whether he has dropped his plan to indict persons he charges with responsibility for the absence of witnesses.

Another indictment may be returned on this charge.

The jury yesterday heard minor witnesses tell of alleged pay roll padding.

N. Y. COMPANY GIVING BAIL FOR GANGSTERS, CRIME BOARD SAYS

The Grand Central Surety company, a New York corporation, has been specializing on furnishing bail for notorious criminals, according to the Chicago crime commission, and as a result the commission plans to look up the company's antecedents. The company has acted as surety for Ralph Capone and Leo Mongoven and has been negotiating on the bail of William Niemoth, who is fighting extradition to Baltimore, according to the commission.

CITIES' GROWTH IS REVEALED BY CENSUS FIGURES

New York Increase Falls Below Expectation.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—The 1930 population of New York City is approximately 6,150,000, according to official census returns from thirty assembly districts, approximations of expected returns from 14 assembly districts and estimated returns for the other eighteen. The figure indicates a growth of about 530,000, or 9.5 per cent since 1920, when the city's population was 5,620,048.

The increase is the smallest in percentage recorded by the city in any decade since the first United States census in 1790, and the smallest numerically of any decade since 1870-1880, when an increase of 333,595 was made.

WEST GAINS; EAST LOSES.

Census figures already announced indicate big increases in Texas cities and a steady growth of middle western cities. Manufacturing cities in the east have failed to show growth. Lynn, Mass., with an increase of only 2,145, and Lowell, with a loss of 12,707, are examples.

San Francisco and San Diego each show big increases in population for the decade. San Diego's population more than doubled and San Francisco has an increase of 119,298.

Indianapolis, which in 1920 trailed Seattle with 314,194 to the western city's 315,312, now passes the Pacific city with a population 362,527. Seattle has 362,426.

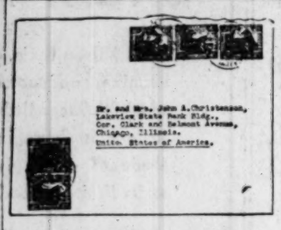
INTERESTING LETTERS

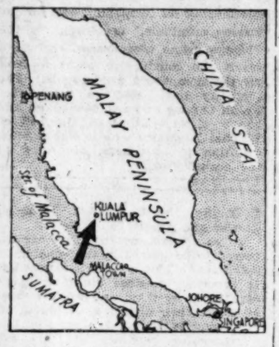
If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

FROM KUALA LUMPUR, MALAY STATES



Mr. and Mrs. John A. Christenson,
Lakeview State Bank Bldg.,
Cor. Clark and Belmont Avenue,
Chicago, Illinois,
United States of America.

Letter received by Dr. John A. Christenson, 502 Briar place, Chicago.



Concerning the sending of this letter Dr. Christenson writes:

"This letter was written by Leon Kofod, a nephew of mine, who is at Kuala Lumpur, in the Federated Malay States, which is north of Singapore.

"This young man is a student of Columbia university. He left New York on an educational tour around the world in August, 1928. He has traveled alone, making most of his expenses en route. In order to learn the mode of living and the habits of the people in the various countries, he has often traveled second, third, or even fourth class.

"He has had some very interesting and horrifying experiences. He contracted dengue fever while in the northern part of India a year ago, and was unable to continue his journey. When he became stronger he landed in the Federated Malay States, where he was given a position as teacher of English at a Methodist boys' school. He will continue teaching there until the close of the school year, when he expects to resume his tour through China, Japan, and the Philippines. He expects to be back in the United States by September, after having been gone for two years, and will continue his studies at Columbia. He is also a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan."

Kuala Lumpur is the largest town of Selangor, one of the Federated Malay States, lying south of Perak on the west coast of the Malay peninsula. The area of the entire state is about 3,500 square miles. Coffee, pepper, gambier, and india rubber are included among the agricultural products. The state is particularly rich in tin. Trade is quite extensive and is facilitated by 100 miles of railways. The bulk of the population is composed of immigrants, Chinese and Hindus coming and going in great numbers.

HOOVER VETOES ADDED SPANISH WAR VETS BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—President Hoover today made evident his intention to hold down expenditures for veterans' relief. The President sent to the senate a message accompanying a veto of a bill broadening the basis for pensions for Spanish war veterans which would have added from $11,000,000 to $12,000,000 to annual costs to the government.

"I am in favor of properly discharging the national obligation to men who served in war or became disabled and are in need," said President Hoover in his veto message. "But certain principles are included in this legislation which are opposed to the interest both of war veterans and of the public."

Summarizes His Objections.

"1. In the whole of our pension legislation over past years we have excluded from such national award persons whose disabilities arise from 'vicious habits.' This bill breaks down that exclusion and opens the door for claims of disability incurred at any time in the life of the pensioner arising from venereal diseases, alcoholism drug habits, etc. Certainly such claims for public help cannot be fairly based upon sacrifices to the nation in war and must be opposed to national policy.

"2. This legislation lowers the minimum service period from ninety days to seventy days for nonservice connected disability pension. Under other provisions of law men who served only one day and during that day suffered injuries or impaired health became eligible for pensions. This law, however, provides that if a man should incur any disability at any time in his life he may claim pension with only seventy days of service. The ninety day minimum service has been maintained against the civil war veterans all these years because less service than this was not considered to imply personal danger or risk which warranted pension. If injury or impaired health incident to service is clearly proven, other laws cover such cases.

Must Avoid Encroachment.

"3. It seems to me that in the interest of justice to the taxpayer, and to maintain the fine body of citizens comprised in our war veterans free from the stigma of encroachment upon the public treasury, there should be a requirement of 'need' as well as disability as a basis for these pensions. It is to me the height of injustice that citizens who are less well placed should be called upon to support from taxes those whose station in life enables them to support themselves or to live in independent security."

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

PRESTO! MAGIC PUTS KIBOSH ON SEERS' RACKET

Get $12,000,000 a Year Here, Foe Says.

Soothsaying, the oldest racket known to mankind, pays $12,000,000 a year in Chicago. This estimate was made yesterday by John Mulholland, New York lecturer and magician, who is here to attend a national convention of magicians. He charged that 2,000 of the mediums, clairvoyants, crystal gazers, and fortune tellers operating in Chicago are humbugs, and gave a demonstration to prove his point.

He borrowed a pencil from a reporter and scribbled secretly on a sheet of paper. He tore off what he had written from the sheet, folded it eight times, and told the reporter to put the paper in his watch pocket, cautioning him to button both his coat and top coat.

He Chooses Seven.

"Now think of a number between one and ten," Mulholland instructed. The reporter chose seven.

"Now draw a picture," the magician said. And when the reporter hesitated he added: "A geometric figure will serve."

The reporter drew an equilateral triangle. He was then told to take the folded paper from his pocket. Unfolded, it revealed a seven, a C, and an equilateral triangle.

"It's a trick," Mulholland said, smiling at the reporter's astonishment. "Simple enough, but part of my trade and I won't tell you how it's done, except to say there is a good deal of psychology behind it. If I were a seer you would undoubtedly believe me if I were to tell you that your mother would die or that you would lose your job in a month.

"Any one of 2,000 charlatans in Chicago does less than that every day and gets away with it. Belief in seers is tommyrot. They employ magic for unethical ends with a smattering of psychology to work only harm.

Tricks Simple, He Says.

"The tricks of these charlatans are amazingly simple to one versed in their arts. As a rule they couple good news with bad. The predictions for which they are credited are of the most simple and general nature.

"They say one is going to have good luck. A month or six months later he gets a raise and marvels at the seer's powers. Or he is told that ill fortune awaits. In time he is in an accident, with the same resulting thought. Any one could make that sort of prediction.

"These charlatans are demoralizing homes and businesses. I have been appealed to six times in as many months by corporations to offset such influences. A soothsayer tells a man that he is about to lose his job, a safe prediction at a period of depression when companies are keeping only the best men. As a result the man becomes negligent, figuring that he will lose his job anyway, with the result that he does. No one can estimate the number of homes the fortune tellers have broken up by telling either husband or wife the other is faithless."

Mr. Mulholland is in Chicago to attend the annual convention of the American Society of Magicians at the Hotel Sherman Saturday and Sunday. The society is conducting an active campaign to expose soothsayers.

'RED SHIRTS' FIRE ON INDIA TROOPS IN VILLAGE RAID

British Planes Bomb Cave of Tribal Chieftain.

PESHAWAR, India, May 28.—"Red shirt" villagers of Takkar, a few miles northwest of Marden, where D. B. Murphy, assistant superintendent of police, was murdered Sunday, today fired on a column of infantry and police after a raid on the town today. Troops returned the fire, inflicting several casualties.

Police had previously made thirty arrests, while troops surrounded Takkar.

Meanwhile a battalion of Dogras left Peshawar for the purpose of occupying Shabkadar, border town and hotbed of "red shirt" activity.

British airplanes also bombed frontier hills in an effort to oust Badshah Gul, tribal chief and son of the haji of Turangzi, from his fort in a cave.

Police Kill Two Rioters.

BOMBAY, May 28.—(AP)—Turbulent India was much quieter today than yesterday, when disastrous riots in four large cities plied up a toll of 84 dead and more than 800 injured, but tension still existed.

Two new flareups occurred at Rangoon, the Burmese capital, where bloody fighting grew out of a dock laborers' strike Monday and Tuesday. One conflict developed when police opened fire on Moslems who had held up a street car and assaulted Burman passengers. Two persons were killed and many injured, the rioters meeting the police fire with stones.

The police opened fire again when a band of Burmans attacked residents in the vicinity of the contagious disease hospital. It has not been determined whether there were any casualties.

Try to Calm Racial Hate.

Prominent Burmese and Indians have attempted to calm the racial antagonism aroused by the dock strike. They decided that Indian and Burmese coolies should not accept work from shipping companies, except for coaling, until Burmese laborers were given treatment satisfactory to the leaders of both groups.

Bombay resumed its normal aspect today, with police and troops alert to prevent a recurrence of the Moslem disorders in Bhendi bazaar yesterday, where the fighting developed over a dog and resulted in six deaths and 56 injured.

At Dacca, where fights between Hindus and Moslems caused the deaths of 14 and injuries to 40, numbers of residents have fled on account of the disorders and there is a food shortage because shops are remaining closed.

While the recent riots have been principall between dock strikers and Moslems and the police, the salt campaign of the Nationalists is continuing. Police arrested 117 volunteers today at Dharsana.

FILES SIX SUITS TO REGAIN $7,993,799 PAID IN INCOME TAXES

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Six civil actions seeking to recover from the United States government a total of $7,993,799 in income taxes alleged to have been overpaid during the years 1914 to 1928, inclusive, in the name of the individuals comprising the firm of Arbuckle Brothers and its subsidiary, the Charles Williams Stores, Inc., were filed in the United States district court today.

The actions are against Frank K. Bowers, collector of internal revenue, and William H. Edwards and John Z. Lowe, former collectors.

The complaints, which give a full history of the Arbuckle co-partnership which started in 1859, are filed in the name of Martha A. and Margaret A. Jamison as the surviving executors of the estate of Miss Christina Arbuckle, who died in Pittsburgh in 1927, and as administrators of the estate of Catherine A. Jamison, who died in Pittsburgh in 1923.

In addition to the amount asked as overpayment of income taxes the suits ask also that the plaintiffs receive interest to date at the rate of 6 per cent on the amount alleged to have been overpaid.

In giving the cause for the action the complaint states that although the firm of Arbuckle Brothers showed a profit of more than $38,000,000 from 1913 to 1923, the subsidiary, Charles Williams Stores, Inc., showed a loss of $26,384,561 during the same decade.

"Big Charley" Faces Trial on Counterfeiting Charge

"Big Charley" Burgess, old time safeblower, recently arrested after he begged a policeman for a dime, yesterday was held in bond of $7,500 for removal to Minneapolis by United States Commissioner Walker. He is wanted there on an indictment charging the possession and passing of counterfeit currency. Burgess also is wanted by Canadian authorities in connection with the $225,000 robbery of a bank at New Westminster, B. C.

SENATORS CALL FOR U. S. SECRET NAVAL ARCHIVES

Prepare to Report on London Treaty.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—The senate foreign relations committee completed its hearings on the London naval treaty today and soon will prepare a final report for the senate.

In today's session two naval officers criticized the treaty as unfair to American interests.

A number of confidential dispatches bearing on the treaty have been requested from the state department by the committee. The writing of the report will begin as soon as these documents have been examined. These dispatches are expected to explain why the United States accepted eighteen instead of twenty-one 8 inch gun cruisers.

Naval Committee Winding Up.

The senate naval affairs committee heard three witnesses today and will conclude the present phase of its session into the provisions of the treaty tomorrow morning. No report will be submitted by this committee to the senate but the criticisms of the pact brought out during the hearings will be made available for senatorial examination.

Major developments at today's hearings were:

1. Rear Admiral W. L. Rodgers, retired, predicted before the naval committee that the American plans for thickening the armor protection on the latest designed 8 inch gun cruisers will revolutionize cruiser construction throughout the world. He said the new cruisers will have more than twice the armor protection of the Salt Lake City class, the first treaty cruisers built in this country. The new ships, he said, will be armored to stop the 6 inch gun projectile.

Robison Criticizes Ratio Changes.

2. Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison superintendent of the naval academy, criticized the treaty as having been dictated by Great Britain and Japan. He asserted that the treaty increase in the naval ratio for Japan from 5-3 to 5-5 plus increased Japan's warship tonnage by 50,000 tons over what she would have had had the 5-3 Washington treaty ratio been maintained.

3. Capt. Dudley W. Knox, retired, warned the foreign relations committee that the London treaty represented abandonment of America's traditional policy of affording adequate protection for United States trade. He also asserted that the sacrifices made at Washington in battleships during the 1922 conference and this country's restraint in building since that time in the interests of disarmament had worked to this country's disadvantage at London.

Parity Claim Called False.

Admiral Robison asserted the treaty did not give the United States parity with Great Britain, compelled the United States to accept the British policy of building 6 inch gun cruisers and represented an abandonment of the 5-3 ratio with Japan. He declared that in every case of controversy in the treaty, the United States received the worst of it, adding that all its restrictions appeared to bear on this country.

Rear Admiral Robison admitted that the 6 inch gun could fire faster than the 8 inch weapon at short range, but asserted that at the normal fighting range of 18,000 yards, the two guns would fire the same number of shots per minute. The relative chances of hitting the target at that distance, he added, were seven for the 8 inch gun and four for the 6 inch weapon.

"A 6 inch gun is always inferior to an 8 inch," he said, "except in volume of fire at short range. The 8 inch gun cruiser can be armored to protect itself against 6 inch guns, but the 6 inch gun vessel cannot carry sufficient armor to protect it against the 8 inch projectile. The 8 inch gun projectile will pierce six inches of armor at 15,000 yards."

The rear admiral said the London treaty ratio would increase Japan's strength by two 8,000 ton cruisers, twelve 1,200 ton destroyers, and twenty 1,000 ton submarines. He said both Great Britain and Japan were aided by the provision permitting the unlimited construction of 2,000 ton 6 inch gun vessels.

The confidential correspondence which the committee has asked of the state department covers exchanges between Ambassador Charles G. Dawes at London and the state department, as well as messages between the state department and the American delegation while the treaty was being negotiated.

FIVE CAPTAINS ARE SHIFTED IN POLICE TRANSFER

One hundred and eighty-five policemen, including five captains, eleven lieutenants and 26 sergeants, were transferred yesterday by Commissioner of Police Russell. The order is the first shift in several months and was issued to care for requests and adjustments.

The captains and their old and new stations follow: John P. Ryan, West North avenue to the detective bureau; Joseph Palczynski, East Side to West Chicago; William H. Killeen, West Chicago to Cragin; William P. Kennedy, detective bureau to West North avenue, and Dennis M. Malloy, Cragin to East Side.

Capt. Ryan will command the Des Plaines street station until the return of Capt. Ben Enright from his vacation.

KILLED IN FALL FROM TRAIN.

Isaac Bradley, 35 years old, 3247 Orange avenue, freight conductor on the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, was killed early yesterday when he fell from his train near Rondout.

SEVEN CHILDREN NIPPED BY DOG AT SCHOOLYARD

Seven children at the Harvard school, 7525 Harvard avenue, were scratched and nipped about the arms yesterday by a stray dog with which they had been playing. None was seriously injured. The dog, described by witnesses as "just an overgrown pup," was believed to have become excited when the children started mauling it.

Policemen H. J. Cavanaugh and Walter Howard of a Gresham flivver squad chased it for an hour before capturing it. The owner was identified as Henry Trenton, 7524 Vincennes avenue.

The children nipped are Thomas Hunt, 10 years old, 7737 Fielding avenue; Paul Edgett, 9, of 7605 Lafayette avenue; Norman Firmell, 12, of 7847 Normal avenue; Lorraine Bibean, 6, of 7701 Fielding avenue; Roy Worthendyke, 11, of 7552 Harvard avenue; Ruth Hedberg, 9, of 7521 Lafayette avenue, and Anna Hubler, 7, of 7341 Harvard avenue.

CULLEN CLEARED OF PAY CHARGE BY MERIT BOARD

Finds Fraud Evidence Is Not Sufficient.

R. W. Cullen, superintendent of the city water pipe extension bureau, was exonerated yesterday by the civil service commission of charges preferred by Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe that he had violated his "official integrity" in office. The commission's finding, according to the announcement of Maj. Carlos Ames, president, was a "no case," which was explained as meaning that the evidence was insufficient.

Testimony Clears Cullen.

The specific charge against Cullen was that he had authorized the payment of salary to W. H. Cummings, a plumber, for three and one-half days that it was alleged that the plumber did not work. Both City Engineer Gryton and Cullen testified that Cummings had been given permission to absent himself while working to obtain back pay for sixteen plumbers in the city service.

During the hearing before the commission on Monday Attorney R. E. Hallwood, representing Cullen, charged that there was a conspiracy to drive Cullen out of his city position. Commissioner Wolfe did not testify at nor attend the trial.

The charge against Cullen was filed by Wolfe on April 25, when the latter was notified by John P. Allen, a district superintendent of the bureau, of the Cummings pay authorization.

Suspended and Reinstated.

Cullen was suspended by Wolfe and superseded by Allen, but was reinstated when he was not tried within the thirty day period prescribed by law.

Allen was superintendent of the water pipe extension bureau under Mayor Dever, but the position was given to Cullen by Mayor Thompson in 1927.

Reveal 1 in 10 Drunk in Helsingfors Under Dry Law

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 28.—Statistics published concerning the results of prohibition in Finland in 1929 place the total number of violations of the law at 31,056, an increase over the previous year of 13 per cent. Proved charges of drunkenness totaled 101,500. In Helsingfors the total number of drunks reached 26,962, corresponding to one-tenth of the number of inhabitants.

FORMER SHIPPING HEADS QUIZZED ON $250,000 FEE

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—William Averell Harriman and Richard H. M. Robinson testified before the federal grand jury today and when they had finished United States Attorney Tuttle said there was as much mystery as ever in the $250,000 fee paid County Judge W. Bernard Vause of Kings by the United American lines of which the witnesses formerly were chairmen of the board and president, respectively.

Other investigators delving into the large fees received by Judge Vause for helping the steamship company obtain leases from the city to piers 84 and 86 and into the financial operations which already have involved him in charges of mail fraud and grand larceny, encountered no better fortune than Mr. Tuttle.

WALSH WILLING TO BE GOVERNED BY REFERENDUM

Dry Senator Would Abide by Voters' Verdict.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], a dry, today indicated willingness to "stand by the result" of a prohibition referendum in his state. He expressed approval of yesterday's statement by Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], author of the Jones law, who, in commenting on the prohibition modification resolutions adopted by the Republican convention in his state, suggested that if the wets desired to obtain a change in present laws they should seek a referendum.

Senator Walsh, who is facing a fight for reëlection in Montana this year, said he was "perfectly willing to submit to the people of Montana a referendum on prohibition." He added that "of course I would stand by the vote in that referendum."

Senator Jones took the senate floor to protest against a newspaper headline that "Jones will go wet if state so directs."

"What I did say, and I think the statement is perfectly clear," said Senator Jones, "was that if those opposed to prohibition would take advantage of the law to call for a referendum and the people of my state should vote to ask congress to submit to the people the question of a modification of the 18th amendment, or its repeal, I would vote in the senate to submit that question to the people. I would not vote for repeal and I would not vote for modification.

CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP CALLS PROHIBITION AN IMPOSSIBLE ATTEMPT

Dubuque, Iowa, May 28.—[Special.]—A brief but forceful attack on prohibition featured an address by the Most Rev. Francis J. L. Beckman, new Catholic Archbishop of Dubuque and former bishop of Lincoln, Neb., at a welcoming banquet in his honor by the Knights of Columbus of Dubuque last night.

"Prohibition," he said, "has killed sociability and has made real conversation a lost art. It is an ill-advised attempt by impossible and unnatural means to correct an evil; and thereby but opens the door to an evil worse than the first. It is ill-advised because it ignores history and is born of fanaticism. It is impossible because it would legislate private morals and attacks personal liberties. It is unnatural, and therefore will never be able to be enforced, because it goes against the very nature of man and the ordinances of God.

"It would let abide the thirst and a desire for the natural, and take away the natural for an object which is unnatural.

"Philosophy tells us and God himself tells us to dominate our passions and control our appetites, and we do that when we know how to use an object with moderation."

FORT SAYS HIS HOME BREW TALK WAS DRY SPEECH

Words Misconstrued, He Explains.

East Orange, N. J., May 28.—[Special.]—Speaking in East Orange tonight, Representative Franklin W. Fort, candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate, asserted that only nonintoxicating beer and wine could be manufactured legally under the present prohibition laws.

Mr. Fort asserted that in his recent speech in congress on prohibition, which was widely interpreted as an endorsement of legal manufacture of light wines and beer in homes, he had intended to convey the impression that he referred only to "nonintoxicating beverages." He accused opposing orators of distorting his address.

Attempt to Clarify Stand.

Mr. Fort's announcement was an attempt to clear up his position on prohibition.

During the senate lobby hearings Dr. F. Scott McBride, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, gave at least partial approval of what was then considered Mr. Fort's prohibition views—namely that the law permitted home brewing without regard to alcoholic content.

At that time, Mr. Fort, busy with his preparations for the New Jersey campaign, refrained from giving his interpretation of what he meant in the congress speech.

He made the announcement tonight, he said, because speakers for the other candidates, Dwight W. Morrow and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, had distorted his views.

Both these are running on wet platforms, and Mr. Fort assailed their suggestions for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

NEGRO A FRIEND TO THIRSTY WHITE MAN; PAYS WITH LIBERTY

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 28.—[Special.]—James Jones, Negro, was a good friend to a white man who wanted some liquor.

He took the white man's money, went to a bootlegger, and returned with a pint. Then the white man turned out to be an "undercover" man in the state prohibition department.

Superior Court Judge Leonard D Verdier decided Jones was guilty and that by accepting the money he became as much a bootlegger as the original dealer under the Cuthbertson act. He sent Jones to Ionia reformatory for from one to four years with a $100 fine, the penalty mandatory under the state law.

ASK FALL VOTE ON $60,000,000 WATER FILTERS

Wolfe Seeks Referendum from Council.

Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe announced yesterday that he will ask the city council at its next meeting to authorize a referendum at the November election on a proposal to filter Chicago's water supply at an estimated cost of $60,000,000. The method of financing the cost, Wolfe said, will be left to the council, the voters only deciding the public policy on filtration.

Funds for the construction of filtration plants could be obtained, according to the commissioner, by selling water certificates which are a lien on the water system. There are about $9,000,000 worth now outstanding. The certificates would be amortized by an increase of 2 cents in the water rates on each 1,000 gallons.

Calls Supply Unsatisfactory.

"Chicago's water supply is unsatisfactory to many because the only method of purification is by the injection of chlorine," said City Engineer Gayton. "Filtration would not only eliminate objectionable taste and odor but would result in a saving in the soap bill, as water is softened by filtration. Industry would find a saving in that filtered water would not corrode boilers as does the present supply."

The necessity of increasing water rates to finance filtration was attacked recently in a report issued by a council subcommittee headed by Ald. Edward J. Kaindl [34th] which is investigating the city's policy on the metering of water services. The report stated that with the elimination of water wastage by meterization and by stopping leaks filtration plants can be constructed without raising the present rate of 6.8 cents per 1,000 gallons to metered consumers.

Would Supply Funds.

"There is no necessity for increasing water rates to complete the meterization program," said Ald. Kaindl yesterday at a meeting of his subcommittee, "and in time we should be able to supply filtered water at the same price we are now paying for water treated with chlorine."

Representatives of the Woman's City club, the Civic federation, Chicago Real Estate board, and the Plumbing Contractors' association attended the meeting. They expressed themselves as being in favor of metering the city in accordance with the demand of the federal government. Metering was under way before Thompson was elected in 1927. He made the matter an issue in his campaign against it.

IDENTIFY LOOT OF BUT 1 HOTEL GEM ROBBERY

Crowd of Alleged Victims Sees Them.

New York, May 28.—(AP)—A $300,000 fortune in jewels, the first seizure in a police campaign against a band of alleged gem thieves which has resulted in arrest of five men and a woman, confiscation of about $1,300,000 worth of jewelry and a hint of a possible murder mystery solution, were spread out on a table in police headquarters today for claiming by the rightful owners.

In an ante-room were crowded the victims of more or less recent burglaries, mostly women. They scanned the glittering display. Of all the group only Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Herman of West End avenue were repaid for their trouble. The Hermans recognized eleven of the twenty-six pieces as stolen from the Ambassador hotel in Palm Beach, Fla., in February.

Officials again expressed the opinion the jewels had been stolen in widely separated cities by a well organized band. This theory gained weight when a representative of Kohn and company, Newark, N. J., jewelers, identified several pieces stolen from George W. Beardsley, a salesman for the company, on a train between Grand Rapids and Chicago on June 1, 1926.

QUESTION FOUR IN CHICAGO

Four men were taken to detective headquarters yesterday for questioning by Chief of Detectives John Stege, in connection with the arrest in New York of six men when stolen jewelry valued at a million dollars was recovered. They are Meyer Gordon, who has a jewelry shop in the Chicago-Clark building, formerly Bush temple, who has an appeal pending from a conviction for receiving stolen property; Louis Silver, 3333 West Washington boulevard; Morris Levinson, 1221 Greenleaf avenue, who recently escaped conviction in connection with a Kansas City jewel robbery, and Frank Brown, who gave a loop building address.

When found Gordon was talking to a policeman about the disappearance from his safe of $20,000 in jewels. Brown had six diamond bracelets in his possession and Silver carried 434 diamonds worth $20,000 and pawn tickets for $3,200 more.

All four men knew R. G. Nelson, reputed leader of the New York theft ring, who was well known in the Haymarket district.

Gordon told police he was now acting as go between in the recovery of stolen jewelry for insurance companies.

TEETH Mon. Tues. Wed. WHITER
3 shades in 3 days

when this condition you can't hide is removed

THERE'S a condition that blasts happiness and stands in the way of success because none of us can forgive or forget stained, unclean teeth and soft receding gums. This condition is known as Bacterial-Mouth and anyone may have it. It is due to millions of germs that sweep into the mouth with every breath. These germs defy the average toothpaste and attack teeth and gums. KOLYNOS quickly kills these germs and so removes Bacterial-Mouth.

Try the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique★ for just 3 days ... Then note the results.

Teeth look whiter—fully 3 shades. Gums feel firmer, they are healthier. And your mouth tingles with a refreshing, clean taste.

Kolynos cleans teeth and gums as they should be cleaned.

As soon as it enters the mouth, this highly concentrated, antiseptic dental cream gives you a pleasant surprise. It becomes an exhilarating FOAM that is full of life.

This FOAM gets into and cleans out every tiny crevice, pit and fissure. It instantly kills the millions of germs that cause offensive Bacterial-Mouth—that lead to tooth decay, stain, ugly yellow and to gum diseases. (Kolynos kills 190 million germs in 10 seconds.) Moreover, this FOAM keeps on working after you hang up your toothbrush. For 3 hours it continues to cleanse teeth and purify the mouth.

That is why teeth are so easily and so swiftly cleaned down to the beautiful, naked white enamel—without injury.

If you want whiter teeth free from decay, and firm, pink gums—discard the dentifrice that does only half the job. Switch to Kolynos. It will win you in 3 days. Get a tube from any druggist—or mail coupon for a generous trial tube.

Save Teeth . . Save Money!
The unique action of Kolynos permits the Dry-Brush Technique advocated by leading dentists as the way . . . to use a dental cream full strength . . . to keep the brush bristles stiff enough to clean every tooth surface and massage gums properly . . . Use a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night . . . Dental cream lasts longer... Teeth look cleaner and whiter . . Try this amazing Kolynos Technique.

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days, (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

NOTE—You do not necessarily have to name each of the 48 pictures correctly to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

MORO OUTLAWS BEAT OFF TROOPS AT JUNGLE FORT

One Soldier Wounded in 8 Hour Attack.

BY FORD WILKINS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, May 29.—[Thursday.]—Moro outlaws, firmly entrenched in an old fort in Lanao province of Mindanao, yesterday repulsed another attack to dislodge them in an 8 hour battle. Three hundred shells from trench mortars, together with a withering fire from machine guns, and tear gas bombs failed to dislodge the outlaws.

At dusk insular troops withdrew, fearing an ambush. One soldier was wounded in the fighting. Casualties among the outlaw gang are believed to have been severe.

Outlaws Keep on Flying.

Forces of Sultans Ganassi and Maamur joined to repel the attack of the constabulary in the Tagaya fort. Armed with native weapons and home made gunpowder, the outlaws kept up a steady stream of fire on the attackers. Col. Luther R. Stevens, commander, in charge of the offensive, refused to permit his men to rush the fort.

In keeping his men under cover as much as possible, Col. Stevens desired to avoid such casualties as were inflicted on the constabulary May 7, when five soldiers and ten Moros were slain.

The attack to dislodge the outlaws was ordered by Gen. Charles E. Nathorst, chief of constabulary, when an ultimatum by Gov. Heffington of the province to surrender went unheeded. The armed attack was sanctioned by Governor General Dwight F. Davis.

To Renew Fighting Today.

The soldiers will renew the fighting in the morning. All roads leading to the fortress are guarded to prevent other outlaws from joining the defenders. The trouble started two weeks ago, when constabulary pursued Moro cattle thieves and other felons into the fort.

Troops are searching for underground tunnels, leading from the fort, in the hope of shutting off the mysterious supply of ammunition, as well as food.

FAIR FINED AFTER PARTY.

Mrs. Mary Sheldon, 58 years old, and Samuel Simon, 27 years old, were fined $10 each yesterday by Judge Joseph L. McCarthy as an outgrowth of a party on Tuesday night in the woman's apartment at 1704 South State street, at which a revolver was fired.

Outlaws Hold Fort

Map shows scene of Philippine constabulary attack on fort held by Moro outlaws at Tagaya in Lanao province, Mindanao island. Three hundred shells from trench mortars failed to dislodge the outlaws, who repulsed an eight hour attack with home made ammunition. The troops retired last night at dusk and expect to renew the attack today.

RAID 'EM, THEN TAX 'EM, PLAN OF YELLOWLEY

E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, disclosed yesterday that he is endeavoring to collect large sums in taxes and penalties under the old revenue laws from saloonkeepers whose places are raided.

The United States attorney's office, however, is not coöperating with this form of punishment by taking the cases to the courts, according to Assistant District Attorney Victor La Rue. Such a case was lost by the government before one of the Appellate courts and a decision by the Supreme court is awaited.

Mr. Yellowley said he had been collecting taxes from bootleggers since the adoption of the 18th amendment, relying largely on compromise settlements. Court action is necessary to confiscate property. There is a $500 license fee for selling liquor, Yellowley said, and special taxes for beer in barrels, and wine and whisky by the gallon. Additional delinquency penalties are imposed. One bootlegger was reported as having received a bill for $1,906.

WIFE DIVORCES D. L. JENNINGS; GIVEN $30,000

Mrs. Patience A. Jennings, 1249 Asbury avenue, Winnetka, yesterday won a divorce and a $30,000 settlement from David L. Jennings, president of the Jennings Railway Supply company, in Superior Judge Sabath's court. She charged desertion. She was also awarded custody of their son, David, 10 years old.

Mrs. Jennings testified that she and her husband have lived apart since 1925 when she was awarded a decree of separate maintenance. At that time, she named Mrs. Grace Haynes as co-respondent. The Jennings were married in November, 1911.

SIBERIA VILLAGES MUTINY AGAINST RULE OF SOVIETS Turkestan Mohammedans Declare Holy War.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 28.—Mutiny against soviet rule throughout the maritime province of Siberia and as far west as Turkestan in central Asia are reported tonight by both Chinese and Japanese sources. In the maritime province and especially near Vladivostok the farmers and fishermen are protesting at the food shortage and resisting the land socialization program.

In Turkestan it is announced that the Mohammedan leaders have declared a holy war against the soviet régime because of the wholesale destruction of mosques by the bolsheviks.

The newspaper Kungpo at Harbin, Manchuria, reports that the crews of the soviet gunboats Vorovsky, Krassny, and Vimpel have mutinied and that the sailors have seized the island of Russky in Vladivostok harbor, liberating thousands of prisoners incarcerated there by the soviet authorities in the last few months. The prisoners were mostly peasants and fishermen.

Telegraphic communication between Harbin and Vladivostok has been cut off, but passengers arriving at Harbin from the maritime province confirm reports of open revolt in the Siberian villages. The rate of exchange in soviet currency at Harbin has taken a big slump.

RUMANIAN FOES REPORTED ARMING TO OUST BOY KING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, May 28.—Prince Charles of Belgium, second son of King Albert, will be offered a Balkan crown, according to reports from Bucharest.

Vintila Bratiano, former dictator of Rumania and chief of the powerful Liberal opposition party, wants a foreign king to replace the boy ruler, Michael, and will sponsor Charles of Belgium, says a story in the Brussels La Libre Belgique. Bratiano is said to hope in that way to exclude former Crown Prince Carol from Rumania forever.

"The boy king Michael is too small to inspire any one to confidence," is the contention of numerous members of the Rumanian Liberal party, says the Belgian paper. "If Rumania wants to get loans abroad she will have to pick a virile, energetic sovereign."

CHICAGO JUDGE URGES BRITAIN TO HANG MURDERERS

Kavanagh Testifies at Parliamentary Hearing

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 28.—A special parliamentary committee investigating capital punishment listened for two hours and a half today while Judge Marcus Kavanagh of Chicago told why he considered capital punishment not only the greatest possible deterrent to crime but actually a merciful institution. Parliament has before it a bill to abolish capital punishment.

The judge balked at sentencing women to death, but declared that capital punishment is the most effective way of reducing murder. He accompanied his testimony with statistics to back up his contention. In addition to executing murderers, he ...ved the best way to decrease ...e is to forbid the sale of revolvers and pistols except for government purposes, and to educate children to respect and obey the country's laws.

Tells About Chicago.

"From my observation in the United States and Canada, I unhesitatingly assert that there is no large city or thickly settled state where the death penalty, if enforced, hasn't prevented murder," Judge Kavanagh said. "In 1928 there was no execution in Chicago by law, but 498 evil minded persons put to death many law abiding, innocent victims. Early last year four assassins received the extreme penalty, and the murder rate fell from 498 to 401."

Judge Kavanagh cited the case of Detroit, Mich., where capital punishment does not exist, and Windsor, Canada, where murderers are speedily executed. While the temperament, habits, morals and religions of the peoples of the two cities are similar, he pointed out, in 1928 and 1929 there were 485 homicides in Detroit and 97 in Detroit's suburbs, while not one occurred in Windsor. Boston, he said, which has had capital punishment for 300 years, had 23 homicides last year against Detroit's 257.

"Abolished in U. S."

Every American state which has abolished capital punishment shows at least twice the murder rate of every neighboring state which has retained it," Judge Kavanagh said. "England has abolished capital punishment by enforcing it. As a matter of fact, capital punishment has been practically abolished in the United States, too. It is inflicted so few times in cases of willful and premeditated murder as to almost encourage the robber to kill his victim rather than let him live and testify in court.

"That is why there are so many robberies in the United States accompanied by cold blooded murders. Out of all of the 10,000 homicides committed in 1928 there resulted only 132 executions.

"It is estimated that when a man has committed murder in the United States his chances are six to one against being arrested, twelve to one against being convicted, and 120 to one against being executed. Every argument urged against the death penalty finally simmers down to sympathy for the feelings of the condemned.

Compares Crime to War.

"But hasn't he sacrificed the right to have his feelings stand in the way of public safety? Why didn't he consider the terror and agony of his victim? Why didn't he have pity on the woman he widowed and the little children who would never hear the victim's voice again? It is argued that the state hasn't the right to take a life because the deed is irrevocable. How about the fate it inflicts on its enemies in battle? The right of a country to slay in its own defense is founded upon exactly the same principles as its right to slay in the protection of the lives of its children.

"Are there sentimental societies in England to aid the victims of robbers and assassins? Have the ladies and gentlemen so concerned with malefactors ever been known to seek out the real sufferers? If not, then the sympathy they express isn't healthy sympathy and their sentimentalism is not wisely directed."

MAC DONALD WINS COMMONS VOTE ON UNEMPLOYED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 28.—The MacDonald government came safely through the unemployment crisis by 29 votes tonight, when the house of commons, by a vote of 270 to 241, rejected a Conservative motion to reduce the salary of J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal and minister for unemployment. The government's majority was due chiefly to the Liberals' abstention from voting. Last week the government won on the unemployment question by 15 votes.

Sir Oswald Mosley, who resigned from the cabinet recently as a protest against the government's policy, tonight voted for the government after a bitter attack on the cabinet's methods.

Prime Minister MacDonald, in defense of the government's policy, announced that the cabinet was summoning a conference of representatives of municipal authorities to discuss the possibility of immediate cooperation and action on the unemployment problem. He denied that the government was to blame for the situation, saying it was the result of world conditions. He called attention to unemployment in the United States and other countries.

GLOBE TROTTER ENDS LIFE WITH GUN AT HOTEL

Calvin Fletcher Combs, a globe trotter and advertising copy writer, shot and killed himself in his room at the Congress hotel yesterday. He was 33 years old and a native of Buenos Aires.

Armed with letters of introduction from the foreign representatives of a dozen or more large United States corporations, he landed in New York City on March 17, his passport indicated. But New York was not to his liking; there was reference to his displeasure in a letter signed "May," written at Meadevale farm, Woodbury, Conn. On Monday re registered at the Congress.

Numerous letters from advertising agencies throughout the country replying unfavorably to his inquiries for employment led Capt. John Prendergast and Deputy Coroner Ray Conerty to believe that failure to find work had prompted his suicide.

Bank Watchman Gets Six Months for $53,000 Theft

John J. Kearns, 48 years old, veteran watchman of the People's Trust and Savings bank, 32 North Michigan avenue, was given a six months' sentence in the county jail yesterday by Judge D. J. Normoyle in the Criminal court. He admitted stealing a package of money which he thought contained only a small sum, but which contained $53,000. The money was recovered.

VET TO RE-ENACT CHOICE OF BODY FOR U. S. SHRINE

Chicagoan to Pay Honor to "Unknown Soldier."

The Chicago doughboy who chose the body of America's "unknown soldier" is going to pay his respects tomorrow to the comrade he made immortal. The Chicagoan is Edward F. Younger, 2005 Bingham street, now a postal clerk, formerly a doughboy sergeant in the A. E. F. He departed for Washington last night where he will take part in a Memorial day ceremony at the grave of the unknown fellow soldiers in Arlington National cemetery.

E. F. YOUNGER. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Nine years ago, Sergt. Younger walked three times around four caskets in a small chapel in Chalons-sur-Marne. On one he laid a bouquet of roses. Thus he chose America's "unknown soldier."

Sergt. Younger yesterday was concerned in getting together all that he could find of the uniform he wore at Chalons.

To Re-enact Scene.

"I've got the same army coat I wore then," he said, "but I've got to rustle the rest of it. You see, I'm supposed to re-enact exactly what happened in the Chalons chapel. That isn't so easy, because I've forgotten some of it."

Sergt. Younger told how he was one of six soldiers sent from Coblenz, one of whom was to choose the body of the unknown soldier. The staff officers at Chalons quizzed them concerning their war records, and Sergt. Younger was selected.

"It was on Oct. 24, 1921," said Younger yesterday. "The four caskets were in a small chapel. I was handed a bunch of roses. Every one was asked to leave the chapel. I walked around the coffins a few times and placed the roses on one of them. I don't know why I chose that particular one.

"Then I saluted. And the French band played slow music. Later they draped the casket with the American flag and when it was in the rotunda of the city hall the whole town turned out. Many brought flowers.

"Pretty soon the five other soldiers and I carried the casket to the gun carriage. We were followed by an escort of 24 American soldiers and by French troops. We took the body to the special train for Paris where we stayed all night. There was a big ceremony there, and we went on to Le Havre. At a ceremony there, Maj. Gen. Henry Allen, who commanded the army of occupation, delivered the address in French. Then we escorted 'the unknown soldier' to the United States cruiser Olympia, which carried the body to America."

Sergt. Younger enlisted in February, 1917, in the 9th infantry. He was at Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel, the Somme offensive, the Meuse-Argonne, and was wounded twice.

Complete Parade Plans.

In Chicago preparations for the Memorial day parade down Michigan avenue and the decoration of the graves of thousands of war dead are being completed. This morning Lane Technical High school students will hold a memorial service at the Lincoln monument in Lincoln park.

The Chicago postoffice and all its stations will be closed tomorrow. Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder announced, and there will be no deliveries by letter carriers. The special delivery service and retail stamp window will be open all day, and the general delivery department from 8 to 10 a. m.

Heads of the departments in the county building and 200 employés of the office of the clerk of the Superior court will attend a program at the office of the clerk at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Most county employés and officials will have a three day weekend vacation beginning tomorrow.

The Field museum will remain open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. tomorrow. The west Chicago park commissioners have arranged a special flower show for Memorial day at Garfield park conservatory.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(AP)—Government acquisition of 13,000 acres of privately owned timberland in Yosemite National park was announced by Secretary Wilbur.

A resolution for investigation of Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson of the Western Tennessee district was approved by the house judiciary committee.

President Hoover accepted an invitation extended by a Lancaster, Pa., delegation to attend the unveiling of a monument in the capitol to James Buchanan, native of Lancaster.

The navy awarded a contract for 27 airplanes at a cost of $405,905 to the Boeing Airplane company of Seattle.

On request of the governor of Colorado the state department has issued a presidential warrant for extradition from Mexico of Jake Fleagle, Lamar, Colo., bank bandit.

The Shipstead bill to curb injunctions in labor disputes was referred to the attorney general for an opinion on its constitutionality.

19 CONTRACTORS WILL BUILD NEW LANE HIGH SCHOOL

The new Lane Technical High school at Addison street and Western avenue will be constructed by 19 subcontractors under the supervision of Paul Gerhardt, board of education architect, it was indicated yesterday.

John Griffiths & Son were the only contractors to submit a bid for the entire job. Their bid was $5,572,300. The 19 low bids of 150 sub-contractors totaled $439,700.60 less. The Griffiths bid, however, was $1,000,000 below the school board engineer's estimate. Contracts will be awarded at the next regular meeting of the board.

This was considered a victory for the Caldwell faction of the board, as the Myers-Hemingway group has been charging the board with a waste of money by this method of letting contracts and advocating a change to the general contract system.

The election of a board president scheduled for yesterday's meeting was postponed until the next meeting on the suggestion of President Caldwell.

Trustees Brandenburg, Durante, Schmid and English, it is said, favor the reelection of Mr. Caldwell, while Trustees Mullenbach, Myers, Blatchford, and Mrs. Hefferan favor Trustee James Hemingway.

This places the issue before the mayor. He can appoint a trustee to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. Otto Schmidt and break the deadlock, but then he will have to appoint two new trustees to replace Mullenbach and Schmid, whose terms have expired.

STEEPLEJACK KILLED IN FALL.

John G. Reizenger, 45 years old, 2132 West Superior street, a steeplejack, was fatally injured yesterday when he fell to the roof of a building at 1243 South Wabash avenue from a high chimney he was repairing.

DROP IN MILK SALES IN LARGE CITIES REVEALED

Consumption of milk in big cities has dropped appreciably, according to figures revealed yesterday by Don Geyer, manager of the Pure Milk association, with headquarters at 608 South Dearborn street. Unemployment has caused the decrease, Mr. Geyer said.

Chicago was shown to be the least affected by unemployment conditions. The decrease in milk sales was estimated as follows: Chicago, 3 per cent; New York, 8 per cent; Philadelphia, 6 per cent; Detroit, 15 per cent; Cleveland, 7 per cent; Pittsburgh, 8 per cent; far west cities, 7 to 15 per cent.

Mr. Geyer said Chicago is the best market for dairy products because labor conditions have remained more nearly normal here.

"The consumption of milk has been reasonably steady in this district," said Mr. Geyer. "I would say that sales and collections in Chicago have been surprisingly good."

Mr. Geyer explained that other cities depend upon one or two industries for prosperity.

"Chicago has so many lines of employment that depression in one or two businesses does not affect the general good," he said.

Grape Juice Dealer Held as Dry Law Violator

Carl A. Futter, a grape juice dealer with offices at 213-21 East Illinois street, was held in bond of $2,500 when he was arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker yesterday on an indictment returned at Cleveland charging conspiracy to violate the dry laws. A removal hearing was set for June 10.

SOCIALISM VIA VOLSTEAD.

Owen Roberts has taken the seat on the Supreme bench first tendered to Judge Parker, and the fight for the control of the court is over for a time. In the contest, particularly as it concerned the nomination of Judge Parker, various motives were operative which did not rise to the surface in the debate in the senate. The talk was mostly of the rights of labor and the Negro. The mainspring of the radical opposition in reality was a desire to widen the breach already driven in the bill of rights.

An examination of the senate roster with this thought in mind is instructive. The radicals, for the most part, are also bone dry. This is not accidental. These gentlemen do not trust the individual's private judgment and capacity to mind his own business and respect the rights of his fellows. Therefore his habits must be regulated; therefore, too, he must be subjected to coercions to make him conform.

In a considerable measure, these left wing prohibitionists have found themselves in alliance with the right wing of capital, which also distrusts the common man. The Volstead act probably owes as much to the one group as to the other. When the law was pending it drew support not only from the saloon wreckers of the Populist belt but also from men of wealth who wished to coerce their workingmen into patterns of behavior which made for greater docility and, perhaps, greater profits as well. Without the money supplied by the capitalists it is doubtful if the prohibition movement could ever have succeeded; and its success is, therefore, a monument to as amazing an example of shortness of vision as the history of this country affords. In their attempt to conceal their own interest in regulating the lives and liberties of their workingmen the men of wealth sent the hue and cry up another street. They pretended that their interest in prohibition was humanitarian and that they were engaged in a great moral crusade. They did not foresee that the law could be made effective only by overturning the constitution and its bill of rights. They did not reckon that triumphant fanaticism would not halt after overcoming the constitutional requirements for search warrants and trial by jury, but would march on to the confiscation of property as well.

That is exactly what has happened in the intervening ten years. The Volstead act has made a revolution of the Russian type, marked by the coercion of individuals and the seizure of private property, measurably easier to achieve in this country. The Supreme court's decisions under the Volstead act form a precedent for all kinds of confiscations and the precedent exists not only in the printed records but in the consciousness of the people regarding the powers which government may exercise. The result of the agitation for prohibition may now be alarming in the extreme to the right wing, but to the left wing, led by Brookhart, Norris, Nye, and the rest, it is altogether desirable. They have not and never had any great tenderness about the rights of property. They now have their precedents for such seizures as they care to make in nationalizing the nation's productive enterprises.

Before Volstead the constitution stood between the radicals and their objectives, for socialist schemes cannot be realized without the confiscation of property, with or without compensation. For this reason Volsteadism has been a godsend to the Brookharts. It enjoys the odor of sanctity. In its name precedents of confiscation may be established which will prove invaluable in later attempts to force the American people to accept extensions of government action which are abhorrent to the constitution. All that the radicals in congress need do now is enact their confiscatory laws and place five men on the Supreme bench to apply the principles laid down in the Volstead decisions in upholding the new laws. The Volstead act is the advance guard in the attack upon private property. Its true significance, and the true character of the radical interest in the makeup of the Supreme court, is manifest despite the efforts to screen it.

WASTE LANDS IN TOWN.

A few tons of earth and a bushel or so of grass seed can make of the postoffice site something green and pleasant that now is piled with wreckage and flat ruin. If a new site will be used, the old one should be made decent.

Eyesores are made in Chicago at about the same rate that fine things are put up. Old buildings, deserted frames, empty wrecks of homes, vacant lots left to the billboards and old junk grow over the town like mold. Unless the cleanup is continued vigorously, they soon increase. They are fire risks. They are damaging to the city. But still they increase.

Cleanup on public land within the city should be expected as a matter of course, and on private land cleanup should be enforced more rigorously. Fire risks should be destroyed on authority of the fire marshal. This alone would go far to make the city better looking.

At a meeting of the joint committee on housing at the City club not long ago a program for demolition of uninhabitable buildings, revision of antiquated building regulations, and coöperation with the planning bodies was considered. First in the list is the razing of bad buildings. With the coöperation of the fire marshal much might be accomplished.

If the vacant land, public and private, or land now occupied by buildings no longer of any use could be used, even temporarily, for greenery and sun, Chicago would be transformed. At small cost, and with the burden well distributed, the waste lands of the town could be made socially productive. A place for boys to play, for a baby park, for sitting in the sun would appear in every neighborhood. Eyesores would disappear. Chicago would improve in looks. Health would be better. Few things could be more effective in making Chicago a better place to live.

THE TAX AMENDMENT IN THE HOUSE.

At the suggestion of Gov. Emmerson, his friends have apparently abandoned their original program of forcing a tax amendment through the legislature before consideration is given to Chicago's need of financial relief. The change of plan is an evidence of political wisdom in Springfield. The original program promised to alienate thousands of Republican votes in Cook county next November, and Republican prospects were none too bright without that handicap.

The issue raised by the tax amendment is clear to the voters and touches them in a vital spot. The amendment in the form in which it passed the senate was intended to do just one thing: transfer the tax burden from the rural population to the salary and wage earners of the cities. Downstate members voted to a man for the amendment in the senate. They would not listen to any proposals for a reapportionment simply because the amendment would do them less good if Cook county, which must pay 90 per cent of the income tax, had a fair voice in determining how the tax should be collected and spent.

Had the original program been adhered to, and had the amendment been approved, Cook county would have been forced, in self-defense, to organize for control of the governorship. Cook county today has a majority of the voters in Illinois. They have never stood as a unit against downstate, but if driven to it in self-defense they would unite. They would find allies in Peoria, Rockford, East St. Louis and the other cities of the state. Denied a fair share of the seats in the legislature, the cities would have to control the governor with his veto power.

The leaders at Springfield seem to have appraised the consequences of their program, if carried out as originally planned, at its true value. Even if the amendment were to be jammed through the legislature by main force, the chances of its surviving the referendum are so slim as to be negligible. Those responsible for the amendment were therefore inviting trouble in Cook county without any real expectation of gain elsewhere in the state. The mistake lay in underestimating the strength of the opposition to the plan in Cook county. It is to the credit of the administration that it is aware of the popular will and responsive to it.

SOME OLD MONUMENTS.

A monument in Warsaw, on the city's main street, has been torn down in haste. The citizens and authorities did not want the new American ambassador, John N. Willys, to see it on his arrival. It was set up in 1923 to commemorate the work of Herbert Hoover in the relief of Polish children. Afterwards it was observed to be horrible. The sentiment had been fine, but the consequences were unpleasant and Warsaw decided to get rid of it. Usually the idea which brought forth such a memorial protects it and it stands as an enduring absurdity or monstrosity because it seems ungracious to defeat the purposes of the people who had the generous impulse.

Such reverence cheapens many a noble place. Shortly after the American civil war there was a dark age in the United States and it covered the period when loyalty and grief raised many monuments. Many of them now disfigure the spots they set apart. Gettysburg in its own right is of heroic mold. It is as if the land itself had been convulsed in the struggle and had been shaped by heroism and agony as the fate of a nation wavered in the strain of human masses. Worthy human beings entered this sanctuary with their ideas of memorializing an event beyond their power to do so. Ninety per cent of the effort has detracted from the great scene. It would be released if considerate selection would replace unfitting monuments with tributes in harmony with the field and truly commemorative of its action.

Editorial of the Day

[New York World.]

Tired of reading in the exchanges constant references to murder in Chicago, THE TRIBUNE of that city prints a page advertisement in New York calling attention to the fact that, many as are Chicago's murders, there are American cities even more given to deeds of violence. Thus Chicago's murder rate per 100,000 of inhabitants is 12.7. But Detroit's is 13.6; Kansas City's, 24.8; New Orleans, 28.9; Atlanta's, 51.3; that of Memphis, 66.8. New York, debited in THE TRIBUNE'S table with 425 murders to Chicago's 401, has a murder rate of 7.1 per 100,000.

Why, then, so much talk about Chicago crime? AS THE TRIBUNE sees it, because "more people visit Chicago than visit any other city except, perhaps, New York"; because Chicago is an important news center; because people are interested in the place on account of its business importance; so "crimes in Chicago have received a prominence out of proportion to their number." We could add to these reasons: Chicago crime has a news value because of its wholesale character and its picturesqueness, and because of a general belief that criminal gangs play in Chicago a rôle not often equaled elsewhere of direct participation in the machinery of local government.

Grant all that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE says, it remains true, as President Hoover told us last month, that life and property in this country are "relatively more unsafe than in any other civilized country in the world." Nor need Chicago boast of a murder rate 12.7—or, for that matter, New York of a rate of 7.1—as long as towns like Boston and Hartford, Des Moines and Davenport, Lowell and New Bedford get along with much lower rates. The problem in Chicago and all American cities should be not to excuse crime, not to explain crime, not to extenuate crime, but to fight it, to punish it, and thus lessen it, so that it shall no longer be a reproach to the nation.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HE SPELLS CAT WITH 2 T'S—

and he's worth—oh, maybe, ten million, maybe fifteen; he hasn't counted lately. What made us think of that was the story yesterday about the spelling contest down in Washington attended by all the very best spellers we've got in the country. An Iowa girl won it because she spelled "albumen" correctly and the others slipped on it. And some of the other words that floored the good spellers were "abysses, abominable, necessarily, occasional, grievances, concede, and conveyance." It's a fine thing to be able to spell all those words. We ourself are not the worst speller in the world, but so many people we know spell worse than we do, and the worse they spell the more money they've got. We can't explain it, except maybe when the rest of us were copying words fifty or a hundred times so as to be sure to remember how they were spelled these other fellows were out monkeying around with a dollar bill and seeing how many more dollars they could make it change into. We can spell every word in the list of hard words the good spellers tumbled down on at the contest in Washington, but we'd rather be the man who wrote us a note the other day and said, "You pore fish you, when are you kumming out to my plase for dinner like you sed you wud?" than be able to spell abominable and albumen and abysses. Because the bird who wrote the note has—oh, maybe ten, maybe fifteen, maybe fifty million. Yes, Mr. Webster, you certainly made a bum out of us.

ADVENTURE.

Mellow wine at midnight
When candles waver low,
A Spanish song, an old guitar.
(How strangely eyes can glow!)

A kiss can be a token
One gives without much thought;
A kiss is just gesture.
(At least so I've been taught.)

But mellow wine at midnight—
Señora Isabelle,
She had an old-world viewpoint.
(I wondered: wot-tha-hell?)

A Nordic shouldn't wander
In Latin lands too far . . .
(I made the well known breakaway:
She kept my old guitar!)

COLORADO PETE.

BOBBY JONES is keeping right along winning games in the British amateur play at St. Andrews. Why didn't we send Bobby to the London naval conference? Or Babe Ruth? Or Bill Tilden? Or Gallant Fox? Or Rin Tin Tin? Then maybe we'd won a few points. And maybe not. We seemed to be hexed.

HAIL AND FAREWELL.

Another landmark is passing; the good old Century Magazine has been sold down the river; hail and farewell. Did you ever see those Civil War stories the Century published in the middle '80s? They were afterwards put out in four volumes and there's nothing can touch them for giving a real insight into both sides of the Lost Cause. We found our set in a second hand bookshop years ago, and when we wore the covers out and the pages loose from reading and rereading them we had them rebound and started all over again. For there's nothing quite like them. In the middle '80s many of the soldiers of the Civil War were still living, but enough time had passed since those embittered days that they could write their first hand recollections of what happened with a wider vision and a shade more tolerance perhaps than they could have done at the actual time. Anyway, the Century got dozens, perhaps hundreds, of them to contribute—Grant, Sherman, Joe Johnston, Beauregard, Burnside, McClellan, Buell, A. P. Hill, Longstreet, Rosecrans, Hood, Howard, Cushing, Lew Wallace, an almost endless list of officers and enlisted men, wrote their experiences and their impressions for the series.

And then the illustrations: drawings by artists little known then but dating their rise from their pictures in the Century war series. Remembered and forgotten signatures leap out at you from every page. Edwin Forbes, E. W. Kemble, T. De Thulstrup, C. A. Vanderhoof, Joseph Pennell, Rufus F. Zogbaum, Winslow Homer, W. L. Lathrop, Walton Taber, Charles Kendrick, W. L. Sheppard, and others contributed fine portraits and sensitive illustrations. We always liked best the initial pictures, delicious little bits that are small masterpieces of humor and irony and pathos. There's "Gin'l Longstreet's Body Sarvant, Sah, Endu'in' de Wah," by Sheppard; "A Very Raw Recruit," by Kemble; "An Affair of Outposts," by Taber; "Listening for the First Gun," by Kemble; and our own particular favorite, "W'at War Dey Fightin' Bout?" by Taber. This last is a tiny sketch of two darkies plowing a Virginia field years after the war—one an old bowed man, the other a strapping youngster. The plow has turned up a skull and the old man has apparently told the youngster that it is the skull of a soldier killed in the fighting before Richmond. The young darky holds the skull wonderingly in his hand. "W'at War Dey Fightin' Bout?" he asks. And Kemble's lovely sketch, "Listening For the First Gun" . . . oh, well, the old Century may vanish from the bookstalls forever; the Forum may swallow it up in time completely; but while it lived it did great things and was a great magazine. Hail and Farewell!

Lagniappe.

THE BILL for erection of two new and bigger and better federal jails has just become a law. And we notice with pardonable civic pride that the law carefully provides that one of the bigger and better jails shall be situated in the northeastern part of the country, which will place it somewhere around New York City. Say what they may about crime in Chicago, you don't see a law specifying that a new federal jail shall be placed handy to the Boul Mich, do you? Again we point with pride, etc., etc.

IS EVERY LITTLE POLLYANNA happy now? You ought to be. Tomorrow begins it—the three days' vacation. But there's so many people taking a vacation from their work nowadays that maybe things won't look very different. R. H. L.

THE NATURE OF JAKE PARALYSIS.

It is said there are ten thousand cases of jake paralysis in the United States, all having developed since the first of March. If there are only one-tenth as many—and that would be an understatement—the disorder is one of considerable public health and economic importance. Not one-tenth of those who have it will make a crop this year or will materially contribute to the support of their families before next Christmas. While none will die, they will have to be supported by their relatives or by the country for six or twelve months.

The history of a case of jake paralysis is about as follows: About two weeks after drinking from two to six ounces of jake the symptoms appear. Jake is a mixture of alcohol, water, pepper, and some coloring matter. The alcohol used is probably the denatured product. It is not wood alcohol. The two week interval is spent in ordinary comfort. The first symptom is pains in the calf of the legs. About a day later weakness in the feet is noticed. The paralysis centers in the front of the foot and in the muscles which lift the toes. A good name for it is "toe drop."

The gait is determined by the inability to raise the toes off the ground. The pain in the feet and other disturbances of sensation there are of minor importance, though an intelligent patient describes minor feelings in the feet which a careful physician recognizes as due to neuritis. The loss of muscle power in the legs extends sometimes to those muscles which move the knees.

In the arms the trouble does not extend above the elbows and it is almost limited to the hands. The principal involvement is in the thumb muscles. There is no involvement of the eyes or of the optic nerve. Nothing suggests encephalitis.

It is plain that jake paralysis is a toxic neuritis, involving especially certain nerves in the lower leg and lower arm, and followed by considerable muscle atrophy. None of those who have it should die from the disease. Recovery can be expected, though it will be slow and it may be incomplete.

Treatment by medicine will do very little good. The poison in the liquid, except that which was quickly absorbed by the sick nerves, was all eliminated days before any symptoms appeared. That absorbed by the sick nerves cannot be eliminated. The kind of treatment which will help is proper use of sick muscles and nerves. Unless they are used they will waste. They are very weak and if they are used too much they will suffer permanently. The effort should be to decide just how much use, how much massage, how much passive motion each group of muscles needs and to see that it gets it and, even more important, that it gets no more. Treatment of jake paralysis along these lines is worth while. Other treatment is not.

ENLARGEMENT OF TONGUE.

H. P. writes:

1. What does macroglossia mean?
2. What are vagotonic symptoms?

An obese friend of mine with a glandular imbalance has been told she has vagotonia?

REPLY.

1. Enlargement of the tongue.
2. Cold feet, poor circulation, hot and cold flashes, frostbite, red nose, perforating ulcer, dry gangrene; these are among the many symptoms of vagotonia.

WAKING UP STRONG.

F. M. writes: Most people, after a night's sleep, wake up feeling greatly rested. My brother, the same age as myself, says he feels as energetic as Hercules. However, I feel just as tired as when I retired. I think I am so vimless because I don't get rested from sleep. Tell me what I should do to arise and feel like a Hercules.

REPLY.

I am afraid to tell you. You might hurt somebody. If you will take cold baths, exercise more and, above all, become interested in life you will have enough pep for all practical purposes. Perhaps you sleep too much.

DANISH WIFE'S RIGHTS.

Chicago, May 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a married woman in Denmark hold property in her own name, sell it, or will it away if she wishes? What dower rights has her husband? M. C. W.

An alien woman who marries a Dane acquires his nationality; her conjugal right will be determined by Danish law.

All that the parties own at the moment of the marriage or later on acquire will be a part of their community property.

Each party has the right, inter vivos, to dispose of what each has brought into the community with exception of the house in which they are living and the furniture in the house, which cannot be sold or mortgaged without the consent of both.

Marriage settlement may reserve ownership to and right to dispose of and administer real or personal property for each of the parties.

TRANSFER OF COPYRIGHTS.

Chicago, May 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In the event of a certain publication becoming merged with another publication, do the copyrights held by the first publication on articles published in its columns pass as a part of the assets and become valid as the property of the merging publication, or do they lapse on the transfer of the publication?

2. Can the author submit these articles to other publications as being without copyright coverage? H. H. R.

1. Ordinarily an assignment would be executed which would be valid.
2. Not if the holder of the copyright has taken proper steps by assignment, as above.

DRIVING FRIEND'S CAR.

Chicago, May 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Am I permitted to drive a friend's car without an individual driver's license?

2. In case of accident while I am at the wheel and the owner is a passenger, who would be held liable? F. H.

1. Yes.
2. You would be liable if you were to blame. The owner might also be liable, depending on the proof that the trip was taken on his business.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 29, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gov. Pierpont and the several officers constituting the state government of Virginia reached Richmond and were met by a large delegation of citizens. The governor in a brief speech at the executive mansion thanked the citizens for their demonstration and promised to do his best to reorganize the Old Dominion under the banner of freedom.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is now believed that the witnesses in the Lincoln assassination conspiracy trial before the military commission will be examined before Thursday and that after that day the arguments will begin. An effort will be made to close the case by the end of the week.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A gentleman who returned from a tour of central and southern North Carolina gave a discouraging account of the sentiment of the people of that region. The question was universally asked: "Well, now you have freed the niggers, what will you do with them?" Planters avowed their determination not to hire their former slaves, but to get along with what white labor they could import. Dr. J. T. Leach, a prominent union man, however, made a contract with his Negroes to give them food and clothing as before and to pay them $10 a month. The result is that only a few have left him.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Gov. Oglesby will leave tomorrow for Chicago to attend the opening of the great Northwestern Sanitary fair. He will deliver the opening address. The magnificent sword presented to him when he was a major general will be on exhibit at the fair.

CHICAGO.—Aurelius N. Pitts and Miss Mary Bentley of Chicago were married in Rockford on May 25 by the Rev. Robert Bentley.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is understood that Maj. Gen. George H. Thomas, who has been ordered to Washington from Nashville, will relieve Gen. Halleck in command of the department of Virginia. Maj. Gen. Steadman has been ordered to await the arrival here of Gen. Thomas. Maj. Gen. Logan will retain command of the Army of Tennessee, and Gen. Sherman for the present will retain command of the military division of Mississippi. The rage in the army now is to secure appointments in the regular army. It is said, however, that Gen. Logan will not accept a brigadiership in the regulars, even if it is offered to him.

MAY 29, 1900.

CHICAGO. — John M. Roach was elected president of the Union Traction company after Jesse Spalding had resigned. This promotion completes Mr. Roach's advancement in eighteen years from the position of conductor on a Clybourn avenue horse car to that of head of a system of 500 miles of cable and electric railway, the most extensive system in point of mileage in the world. Mr. Spalding was made chairman of the board of directors. James H. Eckels, president of the Commercial National bank, was elected a director to succeed Walter T. Johnson of New York City.

CHICAGO. — While Chicago and many sections of the north waited in vain for the sky to clear yesterday, scientists from the universities were witnessing in the south what is declared to have been the most perfect eclipse of modern times. In the belt of totality, a strip from Norfolk to New Orleans, weather conditions were perfect and gave observers every opportunity to carry out the work for which they had so extensively prepared.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Judge Morrow of the United States Circuit court issued an injunction restraining the health board from inoculating Chinese and Japanese with haffkine serum or restraining their liberty of travel to and from the city. He held that in the war on the bubonic plague the health board's discrimination against Asiatics is illegal.

LONDON.—A Daily Mail special from Tientsin says the "boxers" are reported to be at Fingtai Junction, near Peking. They burned the Liulino station, 29 miles from Peking, wrecked the tracks, and killed several Chinese employés.

NEW YORK.—With much less ostentation than the expenditure of $150,000 would seem to signify, the wedding of Miss Katherine Clark, daughter of ex-Senator William A. Clark, the Montana copper king, to Dr. Lewis Rutherford Morris was celebrated in St. Thomas' church, 5th avenue and 53d street. Mr. Clark, besides his jeweled gifts, according to friends, settled on the bride holdings valued at $4,000,000 and about $10,000,000 in cash. The simplicity of the wedding occasioned much surprise.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 29, 1920.

NEW YORK.—New York witnessed a remarkable debate tonight at Carnegie hall between the dynamic governor of Kansas, Henry J. Allen, and Samuel Gompers, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor. The debate, heard by all the people who could crowd into the hall, was one of the most spectacular of recent times—a face to face meeting of the acknowledged representatives of two absolutely divergent views on great modern industrial questions. The debate turned on the Kansas law making illegal such strikes as that which cut off the coal supply and the act of that state establishing an industrial court. Gompers declared the Kansas law meant nothing less than slavery for the American workingman, while Allen held it was the only effective method to protect the public interest.

CHICAGO.—The clubhouse of the Glen View Golf club, four miles west of Evanston, burned to the ground with practically all its contents.

CARNIVAL.

Chicago, May 27.—The warm weather has again brought us that outrageous nuisance, the neighborhood street carnival. The quiet residential districts [as recently as the week of May 19 to 25, at 71st and Constance avenue] are invaded with these so-called carnival companies. Ferris wheels and merry-go-rounds are erected. Raucous music rends the air until midnight, making sleep impossible. Glaring lights, din, noise, barkers, and ballyhoo men shout their wares and the suffering residents are supposed to enjoy it and make no complaint because these alleged carnivals are presumably conducted under the auspices of a local post of the American Legion, which is to receive a probable 10 per cent of the profits—principally derived from fleecing the public by means of gambling wheels of chance and other methods of gambling.

The residents of the neighborhood are expected to show their patriotism by having their sons and daughters, large and small, attend these carnivals and be taught how easily it is to win a blanket or a bicycle by gambling.

To us older residents it is merely another racket—unjust—unfair—dishonest, and neither ourselves nor our families should be subjected to this annoyance just because the profits are alleged to go to lighten the burdens of disabled veterans. SUFFERER.

SWISS NEUTRALITY.

Chicago, May 23.—I was very much interested in Kathleen McLaughlin's report on the convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, particularly what she reported of the preparedness speech by Prof. Beyer, who spoke of the Swiss citizen army as an insurance against war. I never studied political science, but I do know something about Switzerland, and my recollection of why Switzerland's neutrality was respected by France and Germany differs from, though it does not contradict, Prof. Beyer's preparedness defense.

Switzerland's population consists of three distinct groups—the Italian-Swiss, the French-Swiss, and the German-Swiss. Hence she is linked to her border countries by bonds of language. In previous European wars she had proven her integrity and strict neutrality by giving aid and safe harbor to all refugees from warring border countries. Belgium, on the other hand, with her French mother tongue and French traditions, could hardly be expected to maintain as unbiased a neutrality as Switzerland. Moreover, Switzerland, being surrounded by natural mountain fortresses, could defend her borders with a comparatively small army.

MRS. J. H. ALBERDING.

DRY-EYED.

Champaign, Ill., May 26.—About twenty-five years ago we voted out about fifty saloons from this community, and as our population has nearly doubled it would require a hundred saloons to supply the needs at the same ratio. Recently, at the close of a circus day with its added people, there was but one arrest in twenty-four hours for all causes.

There are 11,000 students here. I have had children in the university for the last ten years and not one of them has ever seen a student under the influence of liquor, nor have I, though I have mingled with thousands of them often on the campus.

I have traveled from coast to coast, in nearly all the large cities, and have never yet met a drunken auto driver.

If I was not a constant reader of THE TRIBUNE I would think that the 18th amendment was the greatest law for the benefit of man ever enacted in the history of the world.

W. S. VAN DOREN.

BUILT FOR BURNING.

Chicago, May 25.—While the city is so near bankruptcy whose idea was it to spend our money to construct the building which Chicago fire fighting heroes so courageously set fire to and burned Saturday? The building was of new material and freshly painted and it would have made a better home than some of our poor families now inhabit. The total cost of construction would have gone a long way toward purchasing necessities such as food, clothing, and medical attention for several destitute families. TAXPAYER.

FRACTIOUS STEEDS AND FRAGILE PANTS.

Chicago, May 26.—As a member of the Chicago Black Horse Troop I take exception to everything "Ex-Cavalryman" writes in his article dated May 22; even to his statement that "the troop as a whole appears to ride well." They have much more work to do before they, as a whole, will be riding well.

The use of packing boxes in mounting was necessary because of the tight fitting breeches and the frightful nerves of high spirited horses at seeing the uniform for the first time. After the breeches have been broken in and the horses have become accustomed to the uniform, the boxes will, of course, be eliminated.

In regard to the manual of the saber. The troop has but recently been issued the saber.

It is true that the troop has been organized a year, but during that time the organization has had to resort to a give and take procedure. In order to get a crack outfit many of the original members have been replaced with new men and many of the horses have been traded for better horses. Consequently there have been green horses and green men, and any cavalryman knows what a great amount of training is necessary to combine the two into a unit of concerted action.

BLACK HORSE TROOPER.

UNASSISTED.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., May 24.—As a United States cavalry officer, I ask permission to answer the letter of "Ex-Cavalryman" appearing in today's issue of your paper.

This is so new an organization the troop is indeed flattered that "Ex-Cavalryman" finds that the troop as a whole appears to ride well. Considering that the men and horses are both beginners, this is a compliment that the officers of the troop heartily appreciate. I was present at the drill referred to. As part of this drill, in the open arena before the entire audience, the troop dismounted and, as a member of the audience, I can assure you that no trooper was offered, or accepted, or received any assistance in this simple feat.

"Ex-Cavalryman" must indeed be a has-been of many years standing when he speaks of the manual of the saber including cuts, parries, moulinets, etc., as this portion of the manual was eliminated by the United States cavalry in 1913, relegated to the limbo of the bow and arrow.

The Black Horse troop has never been referred to by its officers or those interested in it as a "crack organization." It is a new organization with a very high ambition to have itself, at some future date, called a crack organization by others when its performance deserves it, and not until.

U. S. CAVALRY OFFICER.

A VOICE FROM IRELAND.

LIMERICK, April 7.—In a recent issue of your wonderful paper there appeared a letter from "H. McEvoy." In reference thereto I wish to say that the baronetcy of Burleigh was created in 1607. The earldom of Balfour (the late Arthur James) was created in 1922. The holder of the baronetcy was called "Lord Balfour of Burleigh," and of the earldom "Earl Balfour."

Through the kindness of a friend I have had the privilege for a couple of years of reading your Sunday edition regularly, and it gives me pleasure to say that your claim that THE TRIBUNE is "the World's Greatest Newspaper" is well proved by the beautiful pictures, the leading articles (which do lead), the high class fiction, the generous prizes, and last, but to me not least, the magnificent layout of advertisements.

A PLACE TO SIT.

Chicago, May 21.—Now that so much of our money has been and is being spent on the world's most beautiful park, can we ask that the south Grant park board sprinkle a few seats here and there, so that one does not have to constantly walk, and walk, and walk, with hardly a place to sit down, unless on the damp ground and grass? The park needs at least a thousand seats scattered over the various inner walks.

CAR FRANCHISE RIVALS LINE UP FOR VOTE FIGHT

Albert Demands End of 2 Elevated Leases.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

While the opponents of the proposed indeterminate transit franchise were broadcasting their attacks yesterday and while the supporters of the franchise were organizing their campaign for the July 1 referendum Att. Arthur F. Albert made this announcement:

"I shall file a petition with the Illinois commerce commission asking that it order the North Shore electric line to supply transit service to Niles Center and the Aurora and Elgin line to supply service to Westchester. Those communities are now served by the elevated lines at a yearly cost to the Chicago car riders of $1,000,000 under dishonest leases. I want those leases abrogated.

"I am not objecting to the transit ordinance, which will go to a referendum, but these leases are bad. In addition, they are not going to dip into public funds to campaign for this ordinance."

Appeals for Subscriptions.

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough, chairman of the nonpartisan transit committee favoring the ordinance, said yesterday that no public funds will be used, either for or against the ordinance. An appeal for subscriptions to aid the ordinance was issued yesterday by Harold E. Foreman, chairman of the finance committee of the nonpartisan group.

"Never before in the history of the community," said Mr. Foreman's letter, "has there been so complete an agreement between the city, the transit companies, and the leading civic groups on a plan for settlement of the transportation question. If this proposal is rejected and the opportunity for a solution is neglected it is not likely that all these elements could ever again be brought together."

Mr. Foreman added that the purpose of the collection is to pay the cost of "a campaign simply to disseminate reliable information relative to the ordinance." In another statement Mr. Foreman was quoted as saying: "We want the nickels, dimes, and quarters of the individual voters."

Publicity Leaders Appointed.

At a meeting of the McDonough committee Harry W. Bettinghaus was appointed publicity man, Mark Shanks was made director of civic organization activities, Frank J. O'Brien director of community newspaper publicity, A. B. Messer director of foreign language newspaper publicity and foreign language activities, Mrs. Harold F. White director of women's activities, David L. Shillinglaw director of the speakers' bureau, and Patrick F. Sullivan director of labor activities.

The committee approved a digest of the ordinance which later it hopes to circulate widely.

The two leading opponents of the ordinance so far are the Cook County Real Estate board and the Farnham-Kuhn company, one of the backers of a rival ordinance presented by Attorney John Maynard Harlan. These groups have issued criticisms of the ordinance passed by the city council. The McDonough committee was not ready yesterday to make reply to these attacks, although a statement on each has been promised later.

$500,000 Damages Asked in Stolen Love Charges

"CITY WITHOUT A BANK" WILL SOON HAVE ONE

Pana, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today by J. A. Clark, representing financial interests of St. Louis, and Warren Penwell, president of the Penwell Coal and Mining company of Pana, that sufficient capital stock and surplus had been fully subscribed to insure organization of a new national bank for Pana—"the city without a bank."

Application for a charter, under the name of the "First National Bank of Pana, Ill.," will be made to the controller of the currency at Washington immediately. When it is granted other details of the banking law will be promptly complied with by July 1.

Pana has been without a bank since the closing of the H. N. Schuyler State bank, fifty-four years in business here, on Feb. 6 last, and the forced closing of the Pana National bank, March 28, following a run in part precipitated by the suicide of A. J. Johnson, vice president.

The new First National bank will have a capital of not less than $75,000 and surplus of not less than $25,000.

I Never Have Had An Accident

How many times we hear motorists say: "I never have had an accident." Most of us know veteran motorists who have traveled hundreds of thousands of miles without an accident, and yet accidents happen every day.

Although we may not be certain of avoiding accidents, nevertheless we can be assured that if one should occur, we will not suffer a financial loss. The prudent motorist knows that any motor vehicle that is worth protecting against the hazards of fire and theft, is worth protecting against the hazard of collision.

Many forms of this insurance are available. Some prefer what is known as full collision, which takes care of all damage resulting from collision with a moving or stationary object. Others take out some form of deductible insurance, which ranges from a deduction of $15 to $150. In other words, the motorist with a $50 deductible collision policy will pay, on each accident, for all damage up to that amount, and the insurance company pays for damage in excess of $50. Thus on an $800 loss the motorist would benefit to the extent of $750.

The Inter-Insurance Exchange of the Chicago Motor Club writes an insurance policy for members of the club, which is free from technicalities. For example, some policies do not consider sliding into a ditch a collision. The policy issued by the Inter-Insurance Exchange does consider this a collision, and the claims department handles it as such.

Another feature of the policy, which is available to members of the club, is the coverage of tires and accessories without additional cost. Then, cash savings are returned to subscribers. Last year this return amounted to $711,332.11.

These features, together with the fact that the "exchange" settles claims quickly and satisfactorily, explains why insurance sales in 1929 amounted to $3,894,706.04.

A few of the services available to members are:

Free mechanical first aid and towing service at any hour of the day or night.

Travel service, which provides you with maps, logs and the most complete and up to the minute advice on road conditions.

Bail bond service, which guarantees your appearance in traffic violation cases, where a bond not in excess of $100 is demanded.

Accident prevention work, which seeks to cut accidents, especially among school children, by means of safety posters and by fostering school boy patrols.

Home district service, which attends to special conditions around your home, such as seeing to it that refuse is promptly removed.

These are a few of the many money saving services. Write or call for further information. Sixty-two branches: 32 downstate; 30 in Cook County.

REV. HEYWORTH'S FRIENDS ACCUSE CHURCH LEADER

Resignation to Result in Hearing Today.

The recent resignation of the Rev. Dr. John R. Heyworth as pastor of the New England Congregational church will have an aftermath in a church trial today in which, it is reported, leading members of the church will be accused of using improper methods of forcing Dr. Heyworth out.

The hearing will be held in the Central Y. M. C. A. building by the advisory board of the church. One of the "defendants" is reported to be Dr. Ernest Graham Guthrie, general director of the Chicago Congregational Missionary society and one of the leaders in the denomination.

Pastor for Five Years.

Dr. Heyworth became pastor of the church, which is located at Dearborn street and Delaware place, five years ago. He succeeded Maj. Anthony Thornton Mills, who was ousted by his fashionable parishioners because he was accused of radicalism and of bringing hoboes and casuals into the church, which for two generations had been a bulwark of New England conservatism.

The resignation of Dr. Heyworth was announced two months ago. At the time there was no hint of trouble in the congregation. It was stated that Dr. Heyworth would recuperate in the east for several months and then would return to Chicago to continue in religious work.

Minister Refuses Comment.

At his home, 4507 Beacon street, Dr. Heyworth last night refused to comment on the hearing of the charges today, stating he was now "an outsider." He confirmed the reports that such a trial would be held, however.

The charges against Dr. Guthrie, which are said to involve several other parishioners, have been surrounded with secrecy, and none of the members of the church would comment on the matter. It was reported, however, that one of the charges is that the opponents of Dr. Heyworth threatened to deprive the church of the income from $300,000 left to the church by Victor Lawson, publisher, unless Dr. Heyworth resigned.

KIDNAPED MAYOR IS FOUND DEAD IN MEXICAN CANYON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, May 28.—Three weeks ago Ireneo P. Figueroa, mayor of Atoyac, state of Jalisco, was kidnaped by a band of robbers said to have been headed by Braulio Morales. Yesterday the body of Figueroa was found in a neighboring canyon, riddled with bullets and hacked by machetes. The robbers had taken vengeance on Figueroa because his friends and relatives, instead of paying the ransom of $10,000 demanded, had notified the authorities.

Federal troops closed in on Morales' gang today. Morales and two of his officers were captured and promptly shot. Their bodies were hung from trees as a warning to other robbers.

Forty Robbed on Highway.

MEXICO CITY, May 28.—(AP)—Dispatches from Guadalajara tonight said bandits operating on a highway near the city held up successive groups of travelers. In all, 40 were robbed.

QUITS BOLIVIAN PRESIDENCY IN SURPRISE MOVE

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 28.—(AP)—Dr. Hernando Siles, president of Bolivia, resigned tonight and placed the government in the hands of the cabinet. He gave no reason for his act. Dr. Siles took office Jan. 1, 1926.

Dr. Siles immediately abandoned the presidential palace and told the cabinet it should call a general election.

The South American republic has had frequent governmental difficulties. The cabinet resigned March 8 this year and the new cabinet, which was formed March 12 to succeed it, was followed by another one May 17.

Woman Leaves $2,000,000 of Her $5,000,000 to Yale

Hartford, Conn., May 28.—(AP)—Yale university is made the residuary legatee of the estate of Miss Mary E. Hawley of Newtown, who died recently, according to the terms of her will, announced today.

The estate is estimated at about $5,000,000 and it is figured that about $2,000,000 will eventually go to Yale. Large bequests of a public nature disposed of the remainder of the estate.

Girl Who Flew from Britain to Australia Cracks Up

BRISBANE, Queensland, May 29.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—The airplane of Miss Amy Johnson, British aviatrix, in which she had flown from England to this continent, crashed today as she was coming here from Charleville. Miss Johnson was unhurt and has arrived here safely.

ELEVATOR MAN IN IOWA BECOMES A BRITISH BARONET

BRIXHAM, England, May 28.—(AP)—It was to fulfill a mother's dying wish that Miss Marian Elizabeth Baker of this town crossed the Atlantic and visited Waterloo, Ia., where she sought and found Dick Wolseley, elevator operator, now Sir Reginald Beatty Wolseley, ninth baronet of Wolseley. He is 53 years old.

How her sister made the journey to the United States and finally married Sir Reginald was described by the elder Miss Baker at her home here today.

"My sister left England on April 26," said Miss Baker, "with the intention of endeavoring to induce Sir Reginald to return to his mother country and take up the baronetcy. Sir Reginald left England thirty-three years ago. His brother, Sir Capel Charles Wolseley, died in 1923. It was a great grief to his aged mother that he would not come back to prove his succession to the baronetcy.

"For many years Mrs. Wolseley lived abroad, mostly in Switzerland, where she met Sir Reginald. It was Mrs. Wolseley's dying wish last November that Marian should go to Iowa and use her personal influence to induce Sir Reginald to return to England.

"My sister carried out that wish. We received a cable announcing their marriage. My sister will probably leave Iowa today for England and be followed shortly by her husband."

To start the Day right eat Cereal and Milk sweetened to taste with Sugar

CEREAL, flavored with sugar, makes that essential food with milk a pleasing carrier of the vitamins, minerals and roughage it contains.

THAT STEAMING, hot, fragrant porridge—that crisp, crunchy ready-to-eat cereal served with milk or cream—tastes so much better when sprinkled with sugar.

Consider this, especially when children are concerned. Many youngsters get an early dislike for this important food because their mothers, often ill-advised, fail to heighten its mild flavor with sugar. But, as a matter of fact, doctors are in favor of sugar on cereal for its flavoring qualities. If you wish, you can add the sugar to the cereal as it cooks.

Other wholesome foods are also more pleasant to eat when sugar is added while they cook. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a good rule to follow. Such use of sugar, as a flavor, makes essential foods pleasing carriers of the vitamins, minerals and roughage they contain.

For a pleasant surprise add a dash of sugar to peas, carrots or other vegetables as they cook. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

For your health's sake, enjoy the tonic refreshment of this Tomato Soup regularly!

Health wins. And food has so much to do with health! Selecting your food wisely is a real part of the game—at work or play.

That brilliant red hue of the tomato seems to be Nature's attractive signal, telling us that here is a food of exceptional healthfulness. And in Campbell's Tomato Soup, you enjoy it in all the fullness of its glory.

Tomatoes that have basked in the sun until they fairly burst with luscious goodness. The pure juices, the rich tomato "meat" strained to a smooth puree. Made richer still with golden creamery butter. Seasoned "just so." Irresistible!

And there are 20 other Campbell's Soups of the same splendid quality—a fascinating variety. Twelve cents a can.

Wherever or whenever you buy Campbell's Soups you always obtain the same uniform high Quality. There is only one grade of Campbell's—and that's available in every grocery store in America.

It's so convenient for you to get 6 cans at a time!

Do you know that:—

1—Soup digests easily.
2—Soup aids in the digestion of other foods.
3—Soup brightens and improves the simple meal.
4—Hearty soup makes an ideal luncheon or supper.
5—Soup retains practically all the valuable minerals of vegetables, so often lost in cooking.
6—Doctors and dietitians advise soup for children.

By ALICE CAMPBELL

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Germaine Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is patheticaly glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is right and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He has already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apartment he takes her in his arms as he says good night. Catherine responds to his kiss. He asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On her way to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly on Jeanne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in.

INSTALLMENT LII.

AN OFFICIOUS SUGGESTION.

Although the suffering passed after the single morphia injection, she was distressingly ill for three days. Still she was in no danger, and throughout was ably cared for by Jeanne, who showed herself an admirable nurse. Berthe, too, much concerned, bestirred herself to concoct the simple dishes ordered by the doctor, and dropped in at frequent intervals to inquire how the patient progressed. It was from her that Catherine learned that Geoffrey, having heard of her attack over the telephone, had called twice daily, a fact which brought her great solace, even though she was too weak to wish to see him. He had sent flowers, too, more lilies of the valley, and a great bunch of early peonies, pink and cream. She lay feasting her eyes upon them, now and again slipping his notes from beneath her pillow to read over anxious messages.

The fourth afternoon Dr. Girard himself arrived, hobbling with a stick. He had been fully informed of her alarming symptoms, which he agreed were those of acute ptomaine poisoning occasioned by the oysters eaten on Sunday evening. Oysters at this season were a bit of a risk. She might think herself fortunate to have got off so lightly.

"In a few days," he retorted grimly, "I mean to take you out of this. Whether you like it or not, you're going to leave this place."

"But fortunate or not, mademoiselle," he added with pompous kindliness, "you have had a bad time which has left you extremely weak. You must go slow, and as soon as possible get away from Paris into the country, for a change of air."

"But I'd rather not leave Paris just now," she said. "And I shall be all right in a few days."

"Not so soon as you think," he contradicted with a shake of his head. "I should really like to insist on your getting out of town. It is what you need to put you on your feet."

"Tell me doctor," she said, looking him straight in the eye, "Has any one suggested this to you?"

He wavered a little, then nodded, smiling.

"Well, yes, I admit it. This one has, only yesterday."

"Does it occur to you that this person is being rather officious on my behalf?" she inquired sarcastically.

"I would hesitate to call it that," replied the old man in a conciliatory tone. "As a matter of fact, it was a young man, who appears to take a very warm interest in your welfare."

So! It was not Jeanne but Geoffrey who had stolen a march on her. She was relieved, but what a reversal of the situation! Here she had lain praying for Girard to order the maid away, and now it was herself he was virtually commanding to go!

"But, monsieur, have you forgotten our conversation last Friday?" she asked, ready to cry with disappointment.

"Ah, no, mademoiselle, assuredly not! I had meant to speak of it this afternoon. I broached the subject to the person in question the last time I was here, and I am happy to report that I met with almost no opposition. The affair is arranged most satisfactorily."

"Arranged?" she exclaimed, electrified with astonishment. "You mean she is willing to go?"

"But certainly—quite willing, even pleased at the prospect. She desires only a little time to make her plans. She was to write to her brother to prepare him for her visit and make sure he has room for her. That is all. You can put your mind at rest."

Catherine sank back overcome by the unexpected good news. How simple it all was! If only she had known she might have spared herself endless anxiety. She began to laugh softly, while tears of weakness came into her eyes. She wiped them away hurriedly, aware that Girard was watching her with concern.

"There, mademoiselle, you see? It is you who are unnerved now. Your friend, the Englishman, was right, you must get away from this atmosphere for a little in order to recover your strength. Yes, the woman was most reasonable. She only stipulates that madam should be gradually accustomed to her leaving, and that she should not be left entirely alone with a strange nurse during her absence. In short, she wishes that you yourself should be here while she is away."

"I?" echoed Catherine, hardly able to believe her ears.

"Yes, you, mademoiselle. As she says, Mme. Bender is attached to you and will be less likely to feel the change if you are with her. It is for that reason that I urge you to get your own holiday first, so you will be perfectly strong and equal to the responsibility."

She looked at him searchingly, wondering if he knew what a clever method he had hit upon for gaining her consent. His heavy features gave no hint of duplicity, showing merely complacence at his management of the situation.

"Eh bien! We may regard the matter as settled. Naturally you must stay in bed for a few days longer, while we watch the diet and give you a tonic to put some strength into you. Towards the end of the week we might think of getting you to the country. What do you say to Fontainebleau?" he added with a look of arch cunning.

She said no more, but inwardly observed that things were less settled than he thought. Much as she wanted to accept Elspeth's invitation, the tone that wires were being pulled to make her do so filled her with reluctance. Jeanne's sudden, complete veering round, moreover, provided food for conjecture. Languidly Catherine lay and pondered the matter, trying to make head or tail of it.

"One way or another, she's a liar," she concluded. "But she may have changed her mind about me, and she may not be as bad as I've thought her. I suppose I must give her the benefit of the doubt."

Anyhow, her end was accomplished. In a short time Germaine would be under the care of a competent nurse and free from tormenting influences. To be sure, a month was not long, but before it was up she hoped something would come to light to prevent the woman's return to power. Eduardo, of course, would have to be dealt with, but by himself he was nothing to be feared.

A knock sounded and Berthe's voice called through to her, saying that a gentleman had called. Might he be permitted to come in?

For the first time in days Catherine's heart leaped with glad expectancy, while a flush crept into her cheeks.

When Geoffrey entered he found her propped up against pillows, her eyes shining in their wells of dark shadow. He took her hand in his warm grasp and stood looking down on her with so much intensity that he momentarily disconcerted her.

"Catherine—my dear! What is the meaning of this?"

She shook her head with a grimace.

"Oysters, I suppose. Anyhow, that's what they tell me."

"It's my fault. I was a fool to suggest the damned things in this weather. I ought to be kicked!"

"What rubbish! Besides, I'm well now. In a few days I shall be up."

"In a few days," he retorted grimly, "I mean to have you out of this. Whether you like it or not, you're going to leave this place."

He sat down, still retaining her hand, which she could not bring herself to withdraw. She was battling with a sudden absurd desire to cling to him and weep upon his strong shoulder; instead of which she assumed a bantering smile and tried to turn the conversation away from her illness.

Six American Women Bow Before Royalty

Prince of Wales and King Are Absent.

BY ANN WHITTINGHAM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 28. — Mrs. Jacob Baur of Chicago was one of the six American women presented by Mrs. Charles G. Dawes tonight at the fourth court of the London season.

Due to the king's slight ailment, the queen held the court alone with the same proceedure as last year when her majesty carried all the burdens of formal functions and the king was recuperating from his long illness. The queen wore a gown of pearl gray and silver.

The duke of Gloucester led his mother to the throne and then took his position slightly behind her in the royal circle. The prince of Wales was out of town; George V. was absent because of rheumatism.

American women participating in the pageant beside Mrs. Baur, were Mrs. Edward Spafford and Mrs. Franklin Terry, both of New York City; Miss Maxine Adams of Rexburg, Idaho; Mrs. Hoffman Nickerson of Oyster Bay, and Miss Corolyn Apperson Leech of Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Baur's gown was made by Marguerite of Chicago of Patou pink Elizabeth crêpe and embroidered with butterflies of the same color. Her court train was of Patou pink duchess satin with butterflies woven in the material and graduated from large ones at the bottom to smaller ones near the shoulders.

This piece of satin was woven specially for Mrs. Baur at Lyons before the war, and was part of her trousseau. The butterfly design appeared again in the white feather fan she carried, this time with a butterfly on the pearl handle of the fan. Two more diamond butterflies were worn as clasps on her gown and a pearl necklace completed her jewels.

Mrs. Nickerson has been accompanying her husband and three sons on a trip through Egypt and the near east since January, and her presentation at the Court of St. James's was the crowning event of an eventful trip. Her gown was of opalene rose duchess satin with a tight bodice, ornamented with bows of the same satin.

Rev. T. C. Atchison Named Moderator of Presbyterians

Des Moines, Ia., May 28.—(AP)—The Rev. Thomas C. Atchison of Lawrence, Mass., tonight was elected moderator of the United Presbyterian Church of North America. He succeeds the Rev. John McNaugher of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Atchison, for the last twenty-one year pastor of the church at Lawrence, was named without opposition. He was nominated by the Rev. W. I. Wishart of Pittsburgh, former moderator.

The new moderator narrowly missed being elevated to his present position five years ago when he was defeated by a single vote.

Proposed merger with three other denominations will be discuussed by the assembly tomorrow.

Cincinnati, O., May 28.—(AP)—Last minute campaign plans for selection of a moderator, which will occur tomorrow soon after the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States convenes here, occupied attention of hundreds of delegates and commissioners today.

The retiring moderator is the Rev. Cleland Boyd McAfee of Chicago, while his immediate predecessor is the Rev. Hugh Kelso Walker, D. D., of Los Angeles.

Of those mentioned for the moderatorship thus far, two, the Rev. Hugh Thompson Kerr, D.D., LL.D., and the Rev. Edwin L. McIlvaine, D.D., are from Pennsylvania, the largest synod in the denomination.

Ex-Pupils Honor Teacher, in Schools for Fifty Years

More than three hundred former pupils of Miss Florence Holbrook met last evening at a dinner in the Palmer house to honor her for fifty years as an educator. She is principal of the Wendell Phillips High school, and the dinner was presided over by Mrs. Marion Brewster, president of the association of former students of that school. Miss Holbrook was presented with a bouquet of roses that concealed fifty $5 gold pieces. The speech of the evening was delivered by William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Would you approve of closing certain streets to be used as playgrounds for children?

The Answers.

Richard Jahnke, 2905 Logan boulevard, electrotyper. —Having a daughter, now eighteen, I know what children are up against in their effort to find places to play. Having a car, I know that some of the short streets, practically without traffic could be turned over to the children.

Mrs. Jennie Golbus, 4957 North Sawyer avenue, housewife. —Of course, I would be in favor of that on account of the children having the advantage of playing without risking their lives. The street could be blocked off in such a way that autoists having business on the street could enter and leave.

George F. Keegan, 7444 North Artesian avenue, salesman.—It's a good idea. children are tremendously active and automobiles are speedy. There always is the danger. Every autoist should be willing to sacrifice the use of certain streets.

Miss Rosa Linda, 1821 North Park avenue, dancer.—That is the proper thing to do. Especially now that children are not allowed to roller skate in some of the parks. Other playground facilities should be opened to them; playgrounds are the best investment for the children's benefit.

Maurice Greiman, 38 South Dearborn street, lawyer.—If the closing of the street does not interfere materially with traffic I would be highly in favor of such a plan. Otherwise I would favor utilization of available lots and other open spaces.

Report U. S. Catholics Seek to Buy Yacht for the Pope

Treaties Fail to Avert Wars, Baptists Told

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 28.—[Special.]—Neither armament limitations, complete disarmament of the nations, nor the Kellogg peace pact will bring world peace.

This declaration was placed before the 4,000 delegates assembled here for the Northern Baptist convention today by Alton L. Miller, convention president, in his address opening the annual sessions, which continue until Monday night.

President Miller is a Boston business man. He pointed out that one of his chief concerns is world peace, but he expressed the opinion that disarmament conferences and international treaties were going at the peace problem from the wrong end.

"Even in civilized America we find a substantial police force desirable," said President Miller. He said the factors which the church must regard as the real war makers are the American movies, the American tariff, American novels, and the race and class hatreds that founded on selfishness.

"No more provoking cause of international misunderstanding and ill feeling ever existed than American moving pictures and American novels, which represent to other countries an America far different than the real America," he said. "Unfortunately, these inflammatory pictures are supported by the tariff activities of our solons in Washington."

President Miller called on the church to throw its weight "against the sources of war, as well as in favor of the remedies for war." He asked whether the "convention of Christian forces must endure an international irritant in the form of a tariff drawn without reference to its world significance or its economic implications, merely to satisfy the selfish desires of this small group and that minority influence?"

In the face of President Miller's address the committee on international justice and good will submitted a resolution commending the London naval treaty and urging its immediate ratification.

W. A. Elliott, chairman of the enforcement committee of the church, will submit to the convention tomorrow a report on "new problems in connection with prohibition and law enforcement." The report will emphasize the "campaign for nullification that is being waged with vigor and backed by huge sums of money.

"Those who have been interested in the repeal of the existing law," it will say, "have been quick to seize upon the opportunity to gain widest publicity for their cause. That many have read, and not a few have been convinced, that the 18th amendment cannot be enforced, is evident to all. In the main, those thus convinced have been persons in sympathy with the nullification of the law."

The report will close with an appeal to "fight it out on this line if it takes 10 years by people who will not waver or falter when the winds are contrary and who are not thrown into a panic when the wets grow vociferous and boastful."

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, will speak at the convention banquet Saturday night.

Parliamentary channels were cleared this afternoon for debate tomorrow morning on overtures toward union of the Baptist and Disciples of Christ churches. Delegates are not optimistic about steps toward union at this time.

The convention awaits with interest the report on the relationship of the Baptist church with the Federal Council of Chruches of Christ in America. The movement to withdraw from the council is said to have gained during the last year.

Battle of Book Prices Growing; Counter Attack

Old Publishers Point to "Economic Perils."

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—"The economic consequences of the dollar books." That is what the statement issued today by eleven publishers might be called.

Nothing in the history of book publishing has had the effect that the announcement of Doubleday, Doran & Co., Farrar & Rinehart, and Simon & Schuster, that they would publish light fall fiction at $1, and the Coward-McCann statement that they would publish new novels at $1, has had. Nothing connected with books has so stirred the public in the east.

The statement today was a broadside from the opposing publishers, Cosmopolitan Book corporation, Dodd, Mead & Co., Harcourt, Brace & Co., Harper & Brothers, Alfred A. Knopf, Little, Brown & Co., Horace Liveright, Inc., Longmans, Green & Co., William Morrow & Co., G. P. Putnam's Sons, and Frederick A. Stokes.

The movement toward cheaper books is felt by these opposing firms to be of such dire economic influence that a group of them has issued the following broadside:

"No publisher can quarrel with a competitor who for his own reasons reduces prices in a particular deal. But when such action is made to appear as a legitimate price concession based on big profits of the book publishing industry, the whole publishing business is being misrepresented."

"The profits of the general book publishing business are small and little of these profits have gone to the publisher and bookdealer. The actual figures bear us out that it is not practical to publish new books at $1 on a fair business basis. This is due to the costs involved in composition, plates, paper, printing, binding, advertising and sales promotion cost, royalties to the authors and in addition a fair return to the jobber and the retail bookseller.

"In addition there is the risk incurred by a publisher of any new book, because he cannot tell to what particular book the public will respond. We ask for that fair play which marks every public controversy in this country and we are willing to let the public have the figures.

"We forsee the possible destruction of the livelihood of 6,000 retail book dealers and their families throughout America. They will have to shut their shops, because they cannot make a living out of $1 books. This will wreak havoc in their lives.

"It will force the public in thousands of communities to do without the bookseller's wares and his guidance and to fall back on the drug store, the cigar store and even the grocery store for such literature as these places can afford to sell at cut prices. What the eventual character of this literature will be we leave the public to judge for itself.

"In the second place, unless publishers are allowed to make a fair and reasonable return on their capital they will become mere mass production printers and the publishing business in America will have fallen on evil days with the dollar only in the minds of every one concerned with it and the quality of the literature no factor. Any one who knows the history of letters in this country must say that the publishers have been unselfish contributors to the upbuilding of the cultural life of the country.

"While publishing as an industry is not one of the largest in the country, it represents a capital investment of $50,000,000 and helps to support such important allied industries as paper, printing, cotton industry, electrotyping, and bookbinding machinery industries. The publishing industry employs 25,000 persons, who with their families are dependent upon it. Certainly the present time, when we are just struggling out of demoralized business conditions, is not the time to strike a body blow at such an industry particularly when that blow serves the industry badly and the public worse.

"So far as we are concerned we intend to continue to make sacrifices to maintain the book publishing business of America on a high level with a view not only to a reasonable compensation for the authors who create, the publisher who produces and the retailer who distributes, but to that public service which, we are happy to say, has always been a part of our business in life."

Stately White Herons Stalk in This Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A charming exhibition of water colors by Alice Hugher Smith has just opened in the Anderson galleries. The water colors are scenes of South Carolina, of the curious bearded trees and sluggish water in that romantic land of the everglades, where white herons and fantastic egrets and the purple gallinule stalk, and fly, and utter weird cries at dawn and dusk. Huge yellow lotus flowers hang like open globes above flat green pads that curtain the water. It is a fairy-tale landscape and Mrs. Smith has the vision to see its wonders and the ability to paint them.

She takes you a far way. Plantations and reservations, little clumps of ancient trees, creeks with thin water rippling over deep mud, a shore on which blue, clear waves break in ecstasy, days of sunshine and days of rain—all these things she shows you with a brush that never falters and a paint box whose colors were derived directly from the rainbow. Hyperbole is weak in view of an exhibit as exquisite and radiant as this.

"Netting Shad on Wadboo Creek" is a symphony in color. An egret seated in solitary splendor at the tip point of a dead tree is "A Picture of Pride." Gorgeous greens and blues run riot in "Clearing the Underbrush in the Dean Hall Lake." Over and over the artist pulls you back to earth with a matter of fact title which is outrageously out of keeping with the painting that has just fascinated you. "The Reservoir at Lavington Plantation" is a beautiful place where clouds are reflected in still water jeweled with lilies and their sober leaves.

"Riding a Turtle at Midnight" is an effective and for the moment a different theme. Disregarding the turtle, the girlish figure is more like Aphrodite dancing into the dawn. "Black Skimmers" keeps the change in force and gives us a dramatic moment with swift, black feathered birds diving into the hollow along the rolling surface of a vast green wave. Rain falling in silver arrows is seen in "Lord of the Edisto Ranch." "With Eager Waving of Wings" shows a heron feeding its two half grown young ones, and the beating wings are like the soft flapping of silken fans.

The exhibit will continue another ten days and is well worth seeing—practically, dealing in stars, a four star show.

Truant Officers Guests at Richardson School Dinner

Fifty truant officers were given a luncheon yesterday at the Richards school, a pre-vocational school for girls, at 2535 Line street. Girls from any section of the city are allowed to enter that school, where weaving dressmaking, sewing, beauty culture and the like are taught as well as the regular academic subjects. Graduates are permitted to enter any high school in the city. Talks were given by W. L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education; Dr. Frank Bruner, in charge of special schools, and Miss Marion Franks, teacher in charge of the Richards school. The officers were shown samples of the work done by the girls.

These Exercises Will Do Away with Too-Opulent Curves

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Capes and boleros that mark many of our current dress styles may not have been designed for women who have an unbecoming curve in the back, but they are a god-send to them.

It wouldn't be fair to suspect every cape and bolero of hiding the curves referred to, but it would be a safe guess that seven times out of ten the fair customer is persuaded to love that dress for its concealing artifice.

An unbroken line in a frock from the shoulder in back to the hem of the garment is a trying test to a figure, but one, nevertheless, suggested to discover if bad curves exist. Not that I am condoning the cape or bolero to hide a figure defect. It's a wise thing to adopt, but next season capes and boleros may be distinctly out, and what je going to do then? Beside, those tailored suits without capes, the trig, neat tailleur, is something every woman likes to have one of in her closet for shopping tours and such expeditions. You can't hide the curve with them. You can't hide a whole wad of curves.

The way out, obviously, then, is to take yourself in hand and do away with the curves. The cape and bolero will be even more flattering minus the underlying padding.

Line yourself up for a couple of good exercises, fortified with stout resolutions about doing them. You know the one about lying on the floor on your back with your hands stretched high over head. You know that from this position the idea is to come forward and touch your toes with your finger tips. That puts a grand pull on the back muscles that will eventually make life so uncomfortable for the bumps of flesh they'll just fold up and slink away.

When you are down there on the floor take an other exercise. Bring the toes back up and touch the floor over your head with them. Don't get discouraged if your toes are stopped half way up. Give them an inch further each day and before you know it they'll be showing you what a back somersault really is.

Young Wife Tells How She Met Husband's Unemployment Siege

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"All the talk of working wives being detrimental in their husbands' lives gives me a pain for I'm one of those working wives and proud of it. Who can say where we'd be today if I weren't? We're married nine months. Started out with little besides love and hope and faith in God. Our religions are different, which made our parents dubious as to whether they would consent to our marriage or not. However, despite all obstacles we took the big step and have no regrets at all.

"George was making $30 a week and had a small bank account. I, too, was making $30 and had a little larger account in the bank. We bought our furniture on the installment plan and rented a small apartment for $40 a month. We were and are proud of our little place.

"Things progressed more or less smoothly in a financial way until George got caught in the unemployment debacle following the market crash. Then our big fight against circumstances began. George's position was with a Wall street house. In being laid off it was no more his fault than that of a thousand other unfortunates. We were hard put—only my $30 a week to keep things running. And weeks became months with no sign of a job, though George looked and looked, spent long, weary hours trudging from one place to another. In the meantime, I tried my best to manage and can say proudly that not one payment on furniture slipped by. Also, gas, electricity, and telephone bills were paid in the months due, to say nothing of the rent.

"After four hard months George is working again. His salary is small and his hours long, but we are contented and justly proud of the fact that we love each other more, if possible, because of what we went through. I ask you if working wives are an additional expense, as some woman recently contended? LOUISE."

Louise's helpful sermonette is not printed in defense of working wives but because of a similar unemployment circumstance which another young wife confronts. Perhaps Louise's courage and loyalty may help the wavering girl whose last heard plan was to run back home to mother and let her out of employment George shift for himself.

Wedding Today in Garden if the Weather Is Good

BY THALIA

The first garden wedding of the season MAY take place this afternoon, for Miss Virginia Wilson, and Charles Dennehy, aren't counting too much on having their nuptials outdoors, because the weather is so uncertain.

The wedding is to take place at the Lake Forest residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver T. Wilson, and as it is to be most informal, there aren't any elaborate arrangements to be upset if the service has to be read in the drawing room, instead of on the lawn. Only relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends have been invited for the service, which the Rev. Father Mulcahy is to read at 5 o'clock, and to the reception afterwards.

The bride is to have only three attendants, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Hugh Wilson as matron of honor, and Miss Jane Warner and Miss Eleanor Dennehy Jr. is to be best man for his brother, and there are to be no ushers at all.

The bride is forsaking, for this summer at least, the golfing activities in which she is so proficient, and will have her wedding trip far from the scenes of tournaments. Mr. Dennehy and she will go to Europe. They have planned a motor tour in Normandy and Brittany. They are to return some time in August, and will reside in Lake Forest.

The Riverside Garden club is to hold its annual flower show on June 7 at the town hall in Riverside. Mrs. Henry Faurot is president of the club and is in charge of the show arrangements, and Mrs. E. M. Love is vice president. The committee includes also Mrs. Mabel J. Fuller, Mrs. Roy D. Grobb, Mrs. Richard Goodman, and Mrs. Joseph Harrington.

The Woman's City club is to have an "at home" in its new clubrooms on the 9th floor of the Tower building for its president, Mrs. Murr Nelson, and its past presidents, Miss Sophonisba Breckinridge, Miss Harriet Vittum, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Miss Mary E. McDowell, and Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, next Wednesday. The occasion is the club's twentieth anniversary.

The White Elephant Rummage shop is having its monthly dressmaker's sale today, with Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and her committee in charge.

Officers for this year's Lake Forest horse show, to take place on June 20 and 21 include John T. Pirie, president, Laurance H. Armour, secretary; William McCormick Blair, vice president; Earle H. Reynolds, treasurer, and Donald B. Douglas, assistant secretary. Mrs. Robert G. McGann is chairman in charge of the boxes.

The judges will include Elliott S. Nichols, M. F. H. of the Bloomfield hunt of Detroit; Drayton H. Meade of The Plains, Virginia, and Col. Frederic McLaughlin. One of the features of this year's show will be the Army Olympic team.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bennett are moving out to Lake Forest from their town residence at 43 East Burton place today. Mr. Bennett's son, Ted Bennett, will join them when his school in the east closes shortly after the middle of June.

Mrs. William P. Martin, who has been in Europe for the last two months, lands in New York City tomorrow on the Berengaria, and is to arrive in Lake Forest on Sunday morning, her Lake Forest home having been opened for the summer during her absence. Her sister, Mrs. J. Allen Haines, is coming out with her for a week's visit. The Haineses are leaving the latter part of June for Europe, to be gone until the middle of September.

Dr. and Mrs. Basil Harvey of the University of Chicago announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Thomas G. Kindel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Kindel of Grand Rapids, Mich. Miss Harvey is a graduate of Vassar, and is a member of the Junior league. After graduating from the University of Michigan in 1924, Mr. Kindel studied in Paris. The wedding is to take place in late June.

The Henry Hoopers of 33 Bellevue place will go up to Mount Huron, Mich., for the Memorial day weekend, and the Edward J. Berminghams of Lake Forest are to do likewise. Mr. and Mrs. Carter Harrison Jr. may, too, but they haven't yet decided whether they can get away for the long holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Wolfe of 1225 Astor street are leaving this week with their two youngsters for a stay of several weeks at Colorado Springs, Colo. When they return, the children will go to Ephraim, Wis., to be with grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stock, while the Wolfes go to Europe. June 28 is their sailing date.

Wins Publisher's Prize.

Eleanor Flynn, 21 Parks-Vale avenue, Allston, Mass., has been awarded the E. P. Dutton fellowship for library work among children, the American Library association announced here yesterday. Miss Flynn is a graduate of Radcliffe and at present is senior assistant in the Somerville, Mass., public library, near Boston. Annabel Porter, Seattle, is chairman of the committee which made the award.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—The secretary of war and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley gave a dinner tonight for the Oklahoma delegation in congress.

The secretary of the navy, Charles Francis Adams, was joined here last week by Mrs. Adams. She had been in their Boston home since their return from London. The secretary went today to Newport to be the guest of Rear Admiral J. R. P. Pringle, president of the naval war college, and to present diplomas to the graduating class.

Mrs. Elonzo Tyner and her daughter, Miss Peggy Tyner, of Chicago and Washington, who have been in Holland for a month, returned today to London for the Ascot races.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. and a group of well known men have organized the Atlantic Beach club. On the committee with Mr. Biddle are William Rhinelander Stewart Jr., Stanley G. Mortimer, Condé Nast, and others. The new club occupies a strand of beach near Hewlett Bay, about 3 miles from the town of Long Beach.

Mrs. K. Winslow gave a luncheon at Pierre's for Miss Anne Tilney, whose marriage to Dean Sage Jr. is to take place on June 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Law and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Law Jr., have returned after having passed the winter and spring at their home on Star Island, Miami Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Morgan have opened their country place at Wheatley Hills. They returned from Europe recently.

Mrs. John Murray Forbes returned from Stockbridge, Mass., today.

St. Mary's College to Give 8 Chicago Girls Degrees

St. Mary's college of Notre Dame, Ind., will have eight Chicago graduates June 3. They are:

To Welcome Chicagoans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 28.—Great preparations are being made to welcome America's oldest Danish society, the "Dania" of Chicago, which will arrive here Thursday and will spend the summer cruising Denmark in a specially chartered ship under the leadership of Dr. Max Henius.

3 Widows of Former Presidents Travel; Mrs. Taft Latest

New York, May 28.—(AP)—Mrs. William Howard Taft will sail for Naples tomorrow. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson both have been almost constant world travelers since the death of their husbands.

Mrs. Roosevelt has made several trips to Europe, particularly to the grave of her son, Quentin, in France. At the time of the Japanese earthquake in 1924 she was in Tokio.

After returning from the orient she visited Cuba and Yucatan, studying the mythology of the ancient Mayas, and in 1927 she went into the interior of Brazil, scene of one of her husband's voyages of exploration. Thence she went into Argentina and Uruguay.

Competition Means Working Against, Not with the Playmates

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A "Sex Education Booklet" by Mrs. Bevans will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

On Easter morning I went to a certain church in a certain city. The service was beautiful. There was besides the adult choir a boy and girl choir. There is always something touching about these young things as they move through the aisles of the church in their classic looking robes. Their voices have a sweet, light freshness that embroiders the background of the adult singing.

Late in the service the minister, and a fine one, too, awarded a prize to one of the choirs. They had been competing, he said, and were running neck and neck. Last year the boys had won, but this year the prize for attendance, behavior, quality of singing, and devotion went to the girl choir.

Competition is the life of trade—at least so it is said to be by those who know.

But emphatically, competition should have little or no place in child life. Competition is a short sighted way to get results—putting all the emphasis on visible, concrete ends. Competition generates a false sense of values. It destroys the purity of motive.

It tends to superficiality. It causes feelings of either inferiority or superiority. It results in strain or discouragement. It constantly involves comparison, and that, between two or more different young human beings, is an unwise procedure.

Children are so different in their temperaments and their capacities that they should not compete constantly in the same field. They cannot be judged by the same standards. They should not be matched up against each other in the results they get.

Competition doesn't mean working together—it means working against. What do we shy of a business when competition gets too keen? "They're cutting each other's throats," we say—or, "It's getting to be a cutthroat business."

When children are in a family or a class at school, they should not be incited to vie with each other to see who is best in this or that, but to work together without emphasis upon precedence.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Needs Summer Clothes.

"I would like to have a summer coat, size 46 or 48, and some summer dresses. My little girl, 10 years old, is in need of a coat, too, and I would be thankful if you could get it for her. We have been having such a hard time getting along, I can't possibly buy the things we need.

"MRS. G. R."

If your last summer's coat was of this size and you don't intend to wear it again, here is an excellent place for it. The garments your young daughter is outgrowing would be a help to this mother, too.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This conservative design, made of one of the lovely printed silk crêpes, has a definite charm and grace that makes it suitable for afternoons. It is cleverly designed to conceal weight, with the bodice showing a slight blousing, and with the hip yoke, split at the center front to insert a circular godet which combines with the circular side sections to add length to the skirt.

The pattern, 2,607, come in sizes 16 to 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 40 inch material and 2¾ yards of binding.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin [coin preferred; wrap it carefully], for each number, and address your order to Clotilde Patterns, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 220 East 42d street, New York City.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Fresh Apricot Marmalade.

The following recipe, translated from a French source and greatly abbreviated—it was in ten parts—has stood exceedingly well the wear and tear of many years. It makes something fundamentally good, widely useful, beloved of children, etc.

Measuring begins after the apricots have been reduced to a pulp. First wash the fruit—perhaps a pound only for easy and happy work—pour boiling water over it and let stand for three or four minutes. Pour off the water, peel the fruit, take out the pits or stones, then press the pulp through a sieve. In the old days the hair sieve was always used for such work. Today we would use one of new wire because wire sieves after wetting soon become dark and should be thrown away though careful wiping will prolong their lives. Darkened wire sieves darken fruits and injure their flavor.

Moisten the sieve pulp, add to it three-fourths as much sugar as it measures, and cook until a bit of the marmalade will stick the fingers together—this is a French test—then put into sterile glasses and when this is cold cover as you would jelly. A thermometer might be used and the marmalade cooked to 220, but in cooking a small quantity, rapidly with constant stirring, the thermometer is only in the way. Stirred constantly this ought to cook in less than half an hour.

To glaze a small cake or some puff pastry with this marmalade, dissolve one-half cup of sugar with one-half cup of water and cook to a sirup, add a half cup of the marmalade, cook a bit and spread on cake or pastry. When this is exactly at the right point it makes an ideal glaze.

The French, who call it a "confiture," use apricot marmalades in many ways in their pastries. They may stick together two pieces of puff paste with it or put a thin spread of it on a crust which is to receive a cooked cream, thus producing a tart taste which makes the combination so much more agreeable. They use these confitures especially to shine up or make mirror-like the top of a little tartlet.

Medical School Dance.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Steady encroachment of population on the agricultural areas within one hundred miles of Chicago is forcing the pioneering types of farming into the discard. Production of grains and grazing live stock are giving way to dairying and the growing of truck crops. These facts were established in the economic study recently issued by the University of Chicago, prepared by Prof. Edward A. Duddy, on "Agriculture in the Chicago Region."

But officials of the county farm bureau organizations report the greatest depletion in farm lands due to real estate subdivisions, golf courses, country estates, and enlarging forest preserves. The latter inroads are particularly found in territory near lakes and creeks, or in land devoted to trees or too low for profitable farming.

"Farmers in this nearby territory, within a radius of one hundred miles of Chicago, may find their swamps more valuable dammed than drained," stated one observer. "Their woodlands are becoming more valuable than their corn land."

Reforestation of such lands, formerly cut away by early day farmers, is described as proper foresight on the part of present farm owners. Such lands already have reached the point of being unprofitable for growing such crops as wheat.

O. G. Barrett, farm adviser in Cook county, describes the development of interest in vegetable crops as increasing in this area, on the good farm lands.

The University of Illinois is cooperating with local farm leaders in this. But little has been done toward preparing the land bordering lakes or creeks for profitable use.

Men's Garden Club Show at Garfield Park June 7-8

The third annual Spring Flower show of the Chicago Men's Garden club will be held at Garfield Park conservatory June 7 and 8, W. A. Schueler, president, announced yesterday. L. W. Nack has been placed in charge of the display of annuals, biennials and perennials, and the two classes of competition open to all gardeners of amateur or professional standing in the Chicago region.

Special exhibits will be made by the newly organized Aurora Men's Garden club. Prizes will be offered for peonies, irises, roses, lilies, oriental poppies, and pyrethrum showings. A silver cup is offered the amateur exhibitor who wins the most points. The August Koch bronze medal will go to the garden club member winning the most points.

Lace Frock Selects Lace Accessories

By BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Lace is the strongest ally of feminine charm the mode possesses. The majority of women look prettier in it than in anything else. Even the severely handsome, tailored girls have discovered they can wear it, since the couturiers have separated lace from fluffy ruffles and are treating it with the simplicity they accord to other materials.

The beautifying power of lace has made it the most popular fabric for formal afternoon and evening wear on warm days. It is perfectly handled in this transformation ensemble from Martial et Armand, which has proved to be the runner of Madame Vallet's summer collections. It's of Alencon in the light tone of her lovely new neutral which she calls mousse de chocolat, and it is one of the most wearable as well as the daintiest costumes I've seen.

The lace trimmed gloves which Madame Vallet launched are not the least important factor in the chic of the ensemble. They're of suede in a slightly darker tone than their Alencon godets. The ankle length frock, with its full skirt gathered on to a pointed hip yoke and simple bodice, is equally good for dressy afternoon or evening wear. A suède belt to match the gloves is fastened by a jeweled buckle. The tailored lace jacket makes the ensemble safe for street wear.

The large lacy horsehair hat with its rolling edge and shallow crown is typical of the latest millinery movement, as is the satin bow placed under, instead of over, the brim. The hat itself is in the light tone of mousse de chocolat like the costume, while the bow is of the darker tone of the satin flower perched on the right shoulder, the gloves, the belt and the suède pumps.

You cannot buy Finer Quality than

WARD'S FINE CAKE

Everything we put into a Ward's Fine Cake is the very same as you, yourself, would use at home. The eggs, butter, flour, milk and sugar used in the body of the cake are the very finest, and so are the chocolate, cocoanut and the many flavorings used in the filling and icing.

And the baking: The oven temperatures are just right and the timing of the baking is perfect.

And then Ward's Fine Cake is always fresh. We take the greatest pains to keep it so—read the pledge of freshness below.

You cannot afford the time, trouble, and expense of baking your own cake, when you can buy such fine cake, in such variety, and at so low a price.

Today, when you do your shopping at the store where you regularly trade, ask for your favorite kind of Ward's Fine Cake.

WARD BAKING COMPANY

PLEDGE OF FRESHNESS—You don't have to ask your grocer if Ward's Cake is fresh. Our special system of distribution is your guaranty that every Ward's Cake is fresh. If any Ward's Cake should not be satisfactory in any way take it back to your grocer in the original wrapper or package. He will give you a fresh perfect cake or refund your money.

HAL CARLSON'S BODY TAKEN TO ROCKFORD FOR BURIAL

CUB PITCHER PRAISED AS 'MAN WHO CAME BACK'

Death Reveals Long Fight for Health.

Hal Carlson, Cub pitching star and world war veteran, who died suddenly yesterday morning following hemorrhages of the stomach, will be buried in his home town, Rockford, Ill., Saturday morning.

Brief services were held at Linn's undertaking rooms, 3415 North Clark street, immediately after yesterday's ball game. All his former mates and officials of the club attended.

Then, escorted by several players, the body was taken to Rockford, where he started the career that carried him to the minors, to the majors, as a machine gun in France, back to the minors, and again to the majors.

Death Ends Two Years' Illness.

Carlson's death, coming only a few hours after he had been in readiness to pitch a game which was prevented by rain, marked the end of more than two years of fighting to regain his health. However, he never confided to his mates that he was not physically sound. None ever heard him mention that he had been gassed during his months of service in the front line trenches of France.

Two years ago this spring, while on the training trip in California, he suffered an attack of flu. He was placed under the care of the best physicians in Los Angeles, and their verdict was that he had pitched his last ball game. He went home, however, rested for several months, and returned to the mound without any noticeable lessening of his pitching skill.

Last spring illness again overtook him. This time it was the trouble which caused his death. He was out for almost half of the season, but when the pace grew hot and the Cubs set forth on the trail that eventually led them to a pennant he contributed regular victories. He continued to win this spring, and it was generally believed he had conquered his illness.

At last evening's services, conducted by Elmer Lund, pastor of the Elim Swedish Methodist church, President Veeck eulogized Carlson as a man who came back.

"Carlson was an example to the world," said Mr. Veeck. "He was a man of unquestioned courage. Carried out of the majors when the spitball was banned, he didn't give up. He went to the minors, learned to pitch without the spitter, and returned to the majors to become one of the really great pitchers of the game."

Following the services several hundred Cub fans were permitted to view the body, over which two members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars stood guard.

With Cubs Since 1927.

Carlson came to the Cubs in midseason of 1927. For several years he had been considered one of the real pitchers of the league and Cub officials leaped at the opportunity to buy him. The purchase price was $20,000 and two players—Shortstop Jim Cooney and Pitcher Tony Kaufmann.

In 1927 he won 16 games and lost 13 for an average of .552, and in 1928 he worked in 20 games, winning three and losing two. Last year his percentage was .688, with 11 victories and five defeats. His lifetime record in 11 years in the major leagues was:

	G.	W.	L.	SO.	BB.	H.	Pct.

Before retiring Tuesday night Carlson had been chatting with Kiki Cuyler in the lobby of the Carlos hotel. Shortly after 10 o'clock he told Cuyler he was going to bed. He appeared to be in perfect condition. At 2 o'clock yesterday morning he summoned Eddie Froelich, the clubhouse boy, who also resides at the hotel. He admitted he was in great pain, but said that he had suffered a similar attack a year ago and for that reason advised against summoning a doctor.

Dies While Awaiting Ambulance.

Inside of an hour he was bleeding from the mouth and in a semi-conscious condition. Froelich called Heathcote, Stephenson, and Cuyler. When they arrived Carlson was barely able to recognize them. Dr. John Davis, the club physician, was summoned from his residence near by. Carlson passed away at 3:35 a. m. before an ambulance could arrive to carry him to the Illinois Masonic hospital, where arrangements had been made for an emergency operation.

Carlson, who was born in Rockford, May 17, 1894, is survived by his widow and a 4 year old daughter.

Fight Decisions

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Otto Von Porat's right handed attack stopped Jack Gagnon in the sixth round of their fight last night at the Stadium. The Norwegian's sledge-like blows to the jaw sent the Boston heavyweight to the floor twice in the final round before he crashed his tottering opponent for the knockout.

Gagnon discovered early in the fight that his Chicago rival carried heavier armament. Although Jack's rushing tactics forced the Norwegian to give ground and cover up throughout the first three minutes, Otto came back immediately. In the second round a salvo of straight rights smashed through Gagnon's defense and he went to the floor. At the count of nine Jack was up.

Von Porat rushed him into his own corner and while half clinched pumped his right to the stomach. Again Gagnon toppled over, but regained his feet at the count of eight. He clinched and stalled until the bell.

Gagnon's Heart Carries Him on.

Gagnon's fighting heart carried him on for four more rounds. At the bell in the third the sailor rushed from his corner. A series of left jabs to the face and Otto retreated. Gagnon carried the attack but his strength was gone. Still he went on to earn a draw for the round.

Then came the final. Only Gagnon's determination brought him from his corner. A short right halted his rush and Gagnon sank to his knees. Again he staggered to his feet. Von Porat closed in as the crowd roared. He swung and missed. Again Otto drove forward. Gagnon fell on his face, but as the referee yelled "nine" he struggled to his feet.

Livan Whips Hansen.

Von Porat forced the defenseless sailor into a neutral corner. As the referee came in to stop the fight, Otto lunged with his right for the final blow. Gagnon tumbled sideways to the canvas and was counted out.

The Stadium officials announced the attendance as 12,468. The receipts were estimated at $38,659.46.

Vittorio Livan of Italy counted his 15th victory when he outpointed Haakon Hansen in the eight round semi-windup. Hansen sent the Italian to his knees for a count of one in the first round, but afterward Vittorio had an advantage. The fight was slow and both were warned repeatedly for hitting low. Neither showed willingness or skill.

Henry Lenard and Marty Fields, Chicago lightweights, waged harmless warfare for six rounds with honors even.

Redman Defeats Mendes.

Jimmy Mendes was the third of eastern fighters seconded by the veteran Doc Bagley, who was also in Gagnon's and Livan's corners. Battling Redman, South Bend Negro, fighting for the first time in Chicago, took Mendes' measure in six rounds.

Joe Feldman of Cleveland was outclassed by Tiger Johnny Cline in the four round bout opening the card. Feldman borrowed a pair of trunks for his first Chicago appearance. After the "Tiger" slapped him carefully on the back throughout the four rounds, Joe thanked him before he went to his corner to hear the judges' adverse decision.

Guy Bush Blows Up, but Cubs Beat Reds, 6 to 5; Rout Frey

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The comeback of Guy Bush yesterday was only a partial success. He was forced to leave before regulation quitting time, but he at least remained long enough to make it fairly certain that Bennie Frey, the youthful Red pitching phenom, would cease to function as a club nemesis. Bennie surrendered his title by a 6 to 5 score after compiling a record of having allowed the Cubs only two runs in the three games he had hurled against them.

Frey didn't have to wait long to learn the champions were not going to submit to a fourth dose of his almost run-less treatment. As soon as he started to work they cut loose with a salvo of four runs toward which Hack Wilson and Kiki Cuyler contributed heavily with a triple and homer. After this it became a matter of protecting this advantage, and it was done with a run in the fifth and one in the sixth, which were just enough to avoid complications when the Reds became unruly in the ninth.

Bush Lacks Stamina.

Bush began his labors impressively enough to indicate that he was back in 1929 form, but the arm lacked stamina. In five innings he was nicked for only one run, but in the sixth, when the usual costly infield error occurred, he did a fadeout. This made it necessary to summon Pat Malone, and the big speed baller concluded the inning after three men had scored. Then he handled the enemy without a miss until Clyde Beck made his second blunder in the ninth and gave them such a flying start that Pat had to bear down with all the tricks in his bag to prevent more than one run from scoring.

In the hope that he might discover a combination able to avoid the loose infielding current in recent performances, Boss McCarthy reversed his previous plans on Beck and English. Beck, who had been tendered Bell's job at third, was moved over to short and English was shifted to third for his maiden effort at that corner. Beck's two errors indicated the experiment was a failure, but that wasn't the case with English. He handled himself expertly.

The Cubs made their start on volume production in the first inning when Beck led off with a pass. He

NAIVE SHARKEY TAKES PUBLIC'S CHEERS TO HEART

2 "Yeas" and a "Wha" Move Him to High Ideals

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 28.—Jack Sharkey is said to place great value on the cheers of the prize fight customers who reared up from their chairs and gave him a series of good substantial yells when he climbed into the ring for an honorary introduction at the lightweight prize fights in the Garden last Friday night. Resuming his training for his own fight with Max Schmeling, Sharkey seems to have been invigorated by this show of faith and affection, he being very sentimental and inclined to break down and bawl over a bruised wild flower, a cracked robin's egg, or a touching scene in the weeping pictures.

Up to that moment Sharkey did not know the public cared, but now that he does, the young man will take the ring against Schmeling in a mood of dangerous ferocity, full of responsibility to the people, who hollered, "Yea yea, wha' Sharkey!"

What Does Crowd Yell?

This may not have been the exact text of the people's remarks that night but I have never been able to sort out such sounds and determine just what they do yell when they let themselves go for some momentary favorite of theirs, the general effect being mere noise. It is not "hurrah" because this is a word that is only printed, never yelled, and it is not "huzzah," either, for that's another one that meets only the eye, never the ear. "Yea, yea, wha'" is about as close as I can come to the remarks of a crowd in full cry of approbation, although I can give you verbatim quote on their comments when the mood is otherwise.

In such cases they enunciate distinctly, uttering a deep, growling word "Boo," and there may be thought for a serious essay in the fact that heroes of whatever kind remember that "Boo" sound longer than they remember, "Yea, yea, wha'."

Jack Loves His Public.

But, to a party in Mr. Sharkey's position, it really makes no material difference what the customers yell if they don't forget to yell, and if he were not such an easy weeper, so easily touched by praise or scorn, I should be inclined to disbelieve this talk of his going back to his training camp all bucked up and well nigh frantic to be at Schmeling's throat.

Of course, his resolve may weaken on the night of the boxing match if Schmeling pops him one or two stiff bashes on his nose as Fainting Philip

DAVIS CUP.

RENE LA COSTE is said to be definitely out of tennis competition this season and therefore out of Davis cup defense for France. One may wonder, then, whether the United States cup committee may decide to ask Bill Tilden to reconsider his decision and become an active member of the Yankee team.

Our tennis authorities decided, wisely we thought, to pit our younger players against the inevitable to give them experience for future years. That was when it seemed Cochet and La Coste could take between them three matches in singles against the best we could produce, including Tilden. The event is decided by best three of five matches, four singles and one doubles.

RENE LA COSTE.

Tilden is playing great tennis in France. He, and probably Lott, should defeat any of the French stars except Cochet. That would leave Van Ryn and Allison to repeat their doubles victory of a year ago. Under almost any figuring, United States would have an even chance.

Tilden always had confidence in himself. His wish to retire from Davis cup play was sincere. He felt younger men must take up the task sooner or later, so why not sooner. Yet we feel sure he would rejoin the ranks if thereby Yankees might regain the international trophy.

Gallant Fox.

Gallant Fox stands out as potential 3 year old champion for 1930. He won the Preakness under such handicaps of racing luck and the Kentucky Derby so easily there is marked tendency to belittle those finishing behind him in both races. On that basis, he may be only a good, not a great, colt in a poor year. The Wake is inclined to think he is a great colt.

That question will be determined if Whichone starts against the Fox in the Belmont stakes on June 7. On 3 year old form, the Whitney colt outranks the Woodward colt. But Whichone certainly has to prove superiority for his admirers to claim it for 1930. The Belmont is over the true Derby distance of one and one-half miles.

My Woods.

I do not own these woods and yet they're mine
To talk in, and I often come and dine
Where squirrels chatter and gaze at me curiously.

And then along dim woodland paths I stroll,
And of my trees and birds and flowers take toll:
Sweet, friendly faces, melodies, a vine
Hangs fragrant in a tree—all I find there is mine!

Athletic Publicity.

"There are times," philosophized Coach "Biff" Jones of the Army football eleven in Chicago recently, "when the publicity attaching to athletics is embarrassing. Much has been made of the fact that three "A" men—Garbisch, Sprague, Cagle—resigned their prospective commissions without serving in the army. They were athletes. Therefore it was news. In the same period, 41 other cadets did the same thing to enter more lucrative civilian occupations. They were not athletes. Therefore it was not news."

This same point has been made about athletes falling behind in their studies. These ineligibilities imposed a publicity hardship not suffered by other students who "flunked." Some Big Ten institutions no longer make public lists of such deficiencies.

Jones Beats British Champ with Stymie on 19th Hole

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. ANDREWS, May 28.—Bobby Jones today passed the biggest obstacle in his campaign to win the British golf title when he beat Cyril Tolley, the present champion, on the 19th green. Both champions faced the supreme ordeal of the tournament midway to the finals, knowing that half the battle for the championship was over when one or the other was beaten.

Only 15 golfers now remain with Jones in the upper bracket, and he is likely to find easier going until he reaches the seventh round and the semi-final on Friday.

It was a poor day for golf, and the day's playing was therefore frequently poor. A steady gale blew the balls into every sort of difficulty which this course provides. Worse than any hazard faced, however, was a gallery of 10,000 to 12,000, which stampeded blindly on the greens. There it shoved and pushed and bowled over helpless stewards and made it impossible for either Jones or Tolley to turn in scores which they might have made on a solitary round.

Crowd Disrupts Other Matches.

Other matches were hopelessly disrupted by the crowding thousands, and after contending with this for 17 holes Jones and Tolley played the crucial 18th while half of St. Andrews was fighting for a position at the upper end of the course. They halved the hole in fours and moved on to the 19th.

Jones won there on a stymie. He was down in two putts for a four while Tolley was taking a five.

Jones had been one up twice and one down once during the first nine, which ended all square. Bobby was out in 39 and Tolley in 38.

Jones took the first hole in coming in with a four, while Tolley took three putts for a five. They reversed that score on the second and the match was even. They halved the next on par fours and Jones went one down on the fourth with three putts. He won it back on the seventh when he drove into the gallery back of the green for the second time and was down with two putts for a four, while Tolley was taking a five.

Takes Lead on Eighth.

Jones took the lead on the 8th with a par three, by a brilliant pitch which was dead on the flag, but the Briton squared it on the ninth. Tolley's drive landed on the green, but Jones hooked his and the ball landed in the gorse, twenty yards off. He lost the hole with five while Tolley was takng a par three.

The tenth went in par fours. On the 11th Jones' ball bounced into the gallery and rolled through the heavy grass, 20 feet beyond the green. Tolley was 30 feet short of the green in the open, but he dubbed his first iron and was in the bunker with the next. He reached the green in four and though Jones wasted two strokes getting on he was down in four, while Tolley was taking a five.

Tolley Drives Over Green.

Tolley got off for a great drive of 325 yards on the 12th and went beyond the green. Jones got on in two and lost with a five, while Tolley was taking a pitch shot and two putts. Bobby's 50 foot putt on the 13th gained him a birdie three as well a lead of one hole. He pulled a drive in the wind into the next fairway on the 14th and Tolley climbed to an all-square again.

Jones moved to a lead of one again on the 15th with a trap shot for a three, but he lost the lead on the next hole. Tolley was on in two, but Jones' second shot was short and he took a

MANDELL WALKS OUT ON MYERS; FACES LAWSUIT

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—(AP)—The management of the Washington Athletic club, promoter of the Mandell-Myers bout, scheduled for tomorrow, announced tonight it will file a $10,000 damage suit against the champion for refusing to appear.

In addition, they said, Mandell will face the possibility of an attachment of the receipts of his next titular battle and charges will be filed with the National Boxing association, which may result in his indefinite suspension from the ring.

Mandell's decision to cancel was based on the ground "that the hall was too small for staging the fight," according to the promoters.

was forced by English's tap to Durocher. A passed ball and Hornsby's bounding infield single shoved English to third. Wilson lined to center and there was so much carry behind the ball that Callaghan was unable to hike back far enough to catch it. The ball bounced against the fence for three bases English and Hornsby scoring. Then Cuyler walloped the first pitch to right and it bounded into the end of the grandstand for a homer, adding two more runs.

After the first inning everything proceeded smoothly until the fifth, when the Reds broke in with their first run. The Cubs promptly countered with one on their own account. The Red tally was brewed from a two bagger down the left field line by Meusel and Walker's single past Hornsby. The champs needed only one hit to retrieve the tally. English opened the home half with a double to left, went to third on Hornsby's sacrifice, and slid in safely at the plate under Stripp's throw on Cuyler's grounder.

Pass Brings Bush's Dismissal.

The daily foldup on the mound didn't get under way in the sixth until after two of the Reds had been retired. It began with Gooch walking. Frey survived on a fluke single to Grimm. Gooch scored when Callaghan singled. Meusel bounced to Beck and there should have been a double play, but Beck's throw pulled Hornsby off second base. Frey scored on this. Bush then filled the bases by walking Walker, an offense for which he was summarily dismissed. Malone stepped in and ended the inning after one more had scored on Stripp's hit to deep short.

McCarthy's title holders lost no time increasing their advantage from 5 to 4 to 6 to 4. This was done with a lone run in the sixth. A pass to Grimm opened the inning. Hartnett flied out, but Malone contributed a single over third, Grimm stopping at second. Beck got so excited over having a bum strike called on him that he slashed a hit into right, sending Grimm over the pan. Then English lined to Heilmann and Malone was doubled off second.

The scare in the ninth came over the Cubs when Beck booted Stripp's hopper and Malone walked Heilmann with none out. Ford aided the champs somewhat by poking into a forceout. Grimm made a leap to get English's throw on Cuccinello. The play let Stripp run home from third. Then Gooch hit one back at Malone for the final out.

California Tennis Team Beats Northwestern, 5 to 1

Northwestern fell an easy victim to the University of California tennis team in Evanston yesterday, 5 to 1. Rus Bergherm, the Wildcats' captain, was the only Northwestern player to win his match. Following the match Bert Riel was elected captain of the Purple team for next year.

LOYOLA TOURNEY TO CONTINUE IF PREPS WANT IT

Loyola university will continue to conduct its national basketball tournament if it is the wish of the Catholic high schools, President Robert M. Kelley, S. J., said yesterday in a statement released by the acting athletic director of the university, the Rev. Thomas J. Powers, S. J.

"For seven years," the statement reads, "Loyola university believes it has been serving the interests of the high school athlete in holding the tournament.

"The facilities at the disposal of competing teams have brought favorable comment. In addition, an opportunity is given contestants to visit industrial and municipal places which make their trip valuable and interesting.

"Recent discussions of national interscholastic competitions have questioned the desirability of continuing the event. Eligibility rules of the tournament, however, conform to the highest in the country. Only one team is required to play twice in one day, and in this instance the games are 12 hours apart."

Campers Are Cautioned in Use of Fire

BY BOB BECKER.

When we were in the upper peninsula of Michigan a few days ago we found a trout stream that meandered through a wild forest country to Lake Superior. This stream found its source in several large spring fed ponds where the trout congregated by the hundreds. Here was a trout fisherman's idea of a happy hunting ground; a beautiful stream for fly fishing, and plenty of fish.

We wanted to know why this stream was barred to the average run of trout anglers, because signs were up, put there by the owner of all the timber around the river.

This owner did not mind if the boys took a reasonable number of fish from the stream, but he didn't dare let 'em in. They would burn him up, he said. They would go in, strike camp, cook over wood fires, and, either through carelessness with matches, cigarets, or cooking fires, start a blaze that would destroy valuable timber. In other words, the fellow coming from the city to enjoy his fishing in the north country couldn't be trusted with fire, so the stream was closed.

You will find this same attitude in many places in the north country, where hardly a year goes by without thousands of acres of land being burned over. We city dwellers have a reputation and it's going to be hard to live it down. Many a beautiful patch of timber, many a camp site, and many a fishing hole is barricaded because the owner has had too much experience with campers.

This experience started with a merry bunch of campers and ended with a tired bunch of watery eyed, smoke begrimed fellows battling to subdue a forest fire.

It's time for all of us to be more careful with fire when we're in the north woods if we want any forest left for our vacations.

WHICHONE TAKES EASY VICTORY ON BELMONT TRACK

New York, May 28.—[Special.]—Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, champion juvenile of 1929, had his first race of the year at Belmont Park today and won easily from Gifford A. Cochran's Xenofol and the Rancocas stable's Houssain. He carried stake weight of 126 pounds and ran the mile of the Ballot handicap in 1:37.

The manner of Whichone's winning caused critics to believe that the Withers is at the mercy of the son of Chicle and Flying Witch, and that Gallant Fox, winner of the Preakness and Kentucky Derby, will have to do his best to win the Belmont stakes.

Gallant Fox is not expected to start in the Withers Saturday, but Whichone is being pointed for it by Trainer Tom Healey.

Hunter Turns In Low Net at Midlothian.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Walt Springer's 158 was low gross in the Illinois Athletic club's 36 hole tournament yesterday at Midlothian. In spite of numbed fingers and a tricky wind Springer negotiated 19 of the holes in par and made a birdie 3 on another. His nearest rival was Elliott Evans, who shot a 73 on the first 18, but slipped to 82 the second time around.

The lowest net score was turned in by Tom Hunter, 170—28—142. S. E. Purdy was close behind, with 165—20—145, and William Atwell Jr., third, with 206—60—146.

There is a standing prize of a case of soft drinks offered to any one who makes a birdie on Midlothian's sixth hole. Two players did it yesterday—E. L. Erickson and Ben Stevenson. Both laid their second shots close to the pin and were down in one putt. Leading net scores follow:

The newly organized Central Professional Golf league will open its schedule Monday with a meeting between teams representing Chicago and Detroit. The matches are to be played at the Hawthorne Country club near Detroit.

The other cities are represented in the league—Cleveland and St. Louis. The schedule calls for eight home and home matches.

Chicago's team consists of Capt. James Carberry, Jock Hutchison, Frank Walsh, Al Hackbarth, Jimmy Meehan, Harry Hampton, Jimmy Wilson, Dewey Weber, Eddie Gayer, and Laurie Ayton. Profits of the first match are to go to the Michigan Society for Crippled Children.

The Butterfield Country club intends to turn over all Memorial day green fees to the Red Cross at the Edward Hines Memorial hospital to buy cigarets and magazines for disabled veterans.

Jones Wins on 19th in Duel With Tolley

five, while the British champion was sinking his on the fourth stroke.

They halved the next two in fours, and Jones came near losing the 18th and the match when his drive fell short of Tolley's, and his pitch overran the cup by forty feet. But he was down in two putts and they moved to the 19th.

Stymie Ends Match.

Both drives were even and near the edge of the famous Swilken Burn brook, bordering on the green. They were on it in two and Jones was a little nearer the cup. Tolley's putt was long past the hole by ten feet. Jones, in playing the first putt, laid Tolley to a dead stymie, and although the Briton tried to pitch over the ball, it bounced over the cup and Jones went down for a four and the match.

The fifth and sixth championship rounds will be played tomorrow. Besides the five American Walker cup players remaining, the chief British challengers remaining in a field of 32 are Tony Torrence, G. O. Watts, who plays Jones in the morning, Maj C. O. Hezlett, and R. H. Wethered. Only eight golfers will be left tomorrow night and out of these two will be picked during the seventh round and the semi-finals Friday. The two survivors will meet for the title at 36 holes on Saturday.

NAIVE SHARKEY TAKES PUBLIC'S CHEERS TO HEART

Two 'Yeas' Move Him to High Ideals.

Certainly Mr. Sharkey's ferocity abated abruptly in the Scott affair when Philip, in timid flight, reached out with a womanish left hand poke and took Mr. Sharkey on the chin. A moment later, Sharkey began to wallop him out of bounds and Philip sat down to discuss his rights with Lou Magnolia, the referee, who ignored the facts of the case to deliver the victory to Sharkey.

About a year ago Sharkey received a salute of twenty-one rousing "boos" from a crowd in the Garden and, on that occasion, remarked, "Let them yell; I get their money." That, however, was a speech from the neck, not from the heart. Like Gene Tunney, Sharkey has always wished to be popular and his feelings respond quickly to the temper of his public.

Dempsey Didn't Sulk.

Jack Dempsey was no less eager for the friendship of the crowd than any of his contemporaries but when the crowd in the Garden booed him with sudden, bitter wrath one night, he did not sulk, because he understood. That night the same crowd almost split the roof cheering for Harry Wills, the Negro, and Mr. Dempsey, realized that some one had sounded the pitch for both demonstrations.

Mike Jacobs, the ticket broker, explained it all some time later. In his youth, Mr. Jacobs toured the country for a big New York theatrical firm stimulating applause for dramas and this early experience gave him a cynical opinion of the intelligence of crowds. His system was to plant a few assistants in the galleries and to pat his palms together at moments which he thought appropriate, as a cue for his confederates.

Lew Raymond Responsible.

"Give me ten or fifteen guys planted in the Garden to cheer or boo when I tell them to and I will carry the whole house for anybody any time I want to," Mr. Jacobs said. "But I didn't handle that Dempsey-Wills job. Lew Raymond did that. He had a piece of Wills."

One sees similar mechanics in the national political conventions, where the delegates and the spectators sit, eager and expectant for the cue-line in the orator's nominating address, waiting for the final "Man than whom" to break out their rattles and horns, yank up their standards and be on their way in great demonstrations of sound and devotion as spontaneous as the pyramids and as honest as a bill-board testimonial. Mr. Sharkey probably exaggerates the importance of the cheering. That young man would be a sucker for a forty-piece band.

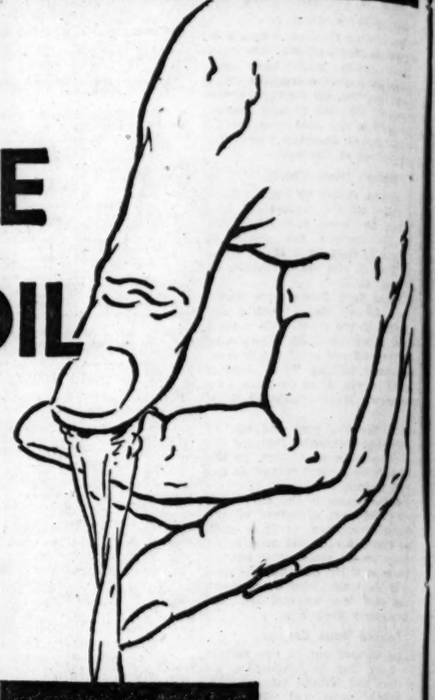
YOU CAN'T JUDGE A GOOD SUMMER OIL JUST BY THE "FEEL"



JUST "feeling" a motor oil doesn't tell you any more about its lubricating value than feeling coffee would tell you about its taste. Many summer oils are blended with sluggish, partially refined residue to give them a heavy feel.

The New Waxfree Havoline is all rich pure oil, every drop fully refined and double distilled, every drop the proper grade to lubricate every part of your motor. It contains neither heavy "filler" nor quick-burning volatile elements. No wax to turn water-thin with heat. It is the first 100%-distilled unblended paraffin-base oil ever refined for summer use.

That is why summer grades of Waxfree Havoline possess greater heat resistance—stand up better—than any other oil of the same body at high motor temperatures. That is why it resists friction, forms less carbon, lasts longer. It is the oiliest oil you can buy. You will "feel" the difference in the performance of your motor—and in your pocketbook in the cost of fewer oil changes. Dealers everywhere have the proper grade for every car.

Wax turns candle-hard under cold. Wax turns water-thin under heat. Now, for the first time, you can get a waxfree paraffin-base oil for the heat year-round lubrication

COUNTY STARTS PUBLICATION OF 1928 TAX LISTS

Property Owners to Learn What Neighbors Pay.

While Cook county taxpayers were debating the merits of the reassessment, the work of publishing 1928 real estate assessments was under way yesterday. The task will be completed in three months. The first printed lists are to be mailed to taxpayers in July and by the end of August all taxpayers will know what their neighbors pay.

The 1927 publication was the first in the county since 1898. Each taxpayer learned at a glance what his assessment was and how it compared with that of his neighbor. The resultant disclosure of inequalities caused the state tax commission to order the reassessment.

Each of the 1927 lists covered a precinct. They gave the street number and name of the owner, assessed valuations on his land and building, and changes on either as recorded by the board of review. The 1928 reports are to be more extensive under an amendment to the publication law enacted at the last session of the legislature.

What Reports Will Show.

Each report is to cover from one to four square miles [sections] in the county and city townships. In the city each taxpayer will receive a list of the properties in his section. In the county townships the taxpayer will receive a list which may include four sections, depending on the real estate development in his community.

The 1928 lists will also give the street number and name of each property owner with land and building valuations and changes made by the board of review. In addition the lists will have the size of lots and will be accompanied by maps giving the unit foot values on land as fixed under the reassessment.

The 1927 publication was done at a cost of $114,000 after opponents of the plan explained that publication had not been made in former years because the cost, which they estimated at $500,000, was prohibitive.

Cost of Publication Reduced.

The 1928 lists will cost approximately $60,000. The decrease is possible because of experience in methods gained in the last publication, said J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert.

"The publication of assesment lists is the basis of equitable taxation," Mr. Jacobs said.

"Now in 1928 the taxpayer will be able to compare his bill not only with those in his precinct but throughout his section. Such publication will guarantee justice in levying assessments. It puts a searchlight on taxing officials and places each taxpayer in a position where he can demand a fair deal."

Accused of Looting Farm of Stock and Machinery

Sheriff Lawrence Hattendorf and Assistant State's Attorney Russell Keeney of Du Page county are in Madison, Wis., to attend an extradition hearing for Stanley G. Winters, formerly of Elgin. It is charged that Winters was left in charge of a farm near Lombard during the absence of Richard Crosby, the owner, he sold $1,500 worth of cattle and several crates of chickens and kept the money. He also is alleged to have shipped a tractor, plows, and other farm implements, and two horses to Black River Falls, Wis., where he started a farm last fall.

Wilkins Tells Radio Audience of Polar Trips

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Sir George Hubert Wilkins, explorer and scientist, spoke from New York through W-G-N, 7:30 to 8 last night, and his talk was the feature of the radio evening. He related some experiences in the polar regions and gave us glimpses of what he proposed to do with a submarine in the north pole regions in 1931. His talk was full of exciting adventures, human interest, and interesting scientific sidelights.

The Revelers' male quartet and the special vocal soloists are usually given credit for the success of the New York program through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9:30. Gustave Haenschen's orchestra should also receive credit for sprightly playing of symphonic numbers and for their accompaniment to the vocal soloists.

The symphony orchestra concert, Howard Barlow conductor, from New York through WMAQ, 9 to 10, is outstanding among the heavier programs. Two sections of symphonies by Mozart and Brahms, one movement from MacDowell's fourth piano concerto, overtures, tone poems, and the like, were played.

Multicolored music of the orient was given a showing on the orchestral program from W-G-N, 9:30 to 10.

As to the singing contest from WIBO, 8:30 to 9, there was a bass-baritone who apparently will not find insurmountable difficulties in his uphill trip towards heights where vocalists are fewer and therefore may be seen.

J. J. PARTRIDGE LEAVES WEALTH TO CHICAGOANS

Los Angeles, Cal., May 28.—[Special.]—The will of Jacob J. Partridge, 54 year old business man, who was found strangled to death in his apartment here today, directs several bequests to relatives in Chicago. Mildred, Agnes, and Florence Partridge, all of 5614 Blackstone avenue, Chicago, are to receive $7,000 each.

A brother, John Partridge of San Francisco, is to receive $10,000. The remainder of the estate, which is estimated at $200,000, is left to Mrs. Mary Partridge Dabney of Chicago.

Partridge's death was called suicide.

Marshall, Captain of Liner Majestic, Dies

FRANCE MOURNS DEATH OF HEROIC RHEIMS CARDINAL

RHEIMS, France, May 28.—(AP)—All France tonight mourned the passing of Cardinal Lucon, dean of French cardinals, who died today after a brief illness at the age of 87. Messages poured in from every city and village and from many foreign countries. President Doumergue sent a personal message of condolence, as well as official sympathy.

The French press recalled the cardinals devotion to Rheims cathedral, and how he stayed there during the German bombardments at the time of the war.

The cardinal's funeral will be held from Rheims cathedral on Monday.

Louis Schafer, Wholesale Jeweler, Dies at Lombard

Louis H. Schafer, wholesale jeweler and a trustee of the village of Lombard, died of heart disease at his home there yesterday. He was born in Chicago 60 years ago. He is survived by his widow, a sister, and a brother.

MUSCLE SHOALS SUBSTITUTE BILL PASSES HOUSE

Washington, D. C., May 28.—[Special.]—After two days of debate the house late today adopted the Reece substitute for the senate Norris Muscle Shoals resolution. The vote was 196 to 114. All substantial amendments previously had been rejected by about the same majority.

As approved by the house, the Muscle Shoals resolution is fundamentally different from the senate measure, the house resolution incorporating a private lease plan, while the Norris resolution calls for government operation. Because of this wide divergence little hope is held out for an agreement in conference, and probabilities are that congress will adjourn with the ten year old Muscle Shoals problem still unsettled.

RATIFY BUYING OF HOG ISLAND FOR AN AIRPORT

Philadelphia, Pa., May 28. — [Special.]—The city council, by a vote of 17 to 1, this afternoon ratified the Hog island airport contract, by which Philadelphia purchases the Hog island shipyard tract from the shipping board for $3,000,000 for development as an air-rail-marine terminal. The signing of the contract by Mayor Mackey tomorrow morning will mark the final chapter in negotiations which have lasted more than a year.

George A. Ogle, Head of Map Company, Is Dead

George A. Ogle, 67 years old, for 40 years head of a map publishing company bearing his name, died Tuesday in Santa Monica, Cal., where he had gone recently because of ill health. He is survived by his widow and one son, George B. Funeral services will be held in California. Mr. Ogle was a member of the Chicago Athletic association, Union League, Exmoor, Chicago, and South Shore Country clubs.

AMITYVILLE, N. Y.—(AP)—Geoffrey C. Stein, 51, an actor, who made his last stage appearance in 1923 in "The Fool," died today at the Brunswick home.

RADIO TO INTERCEPT POLICE CALLS FOUND IN GUNMEN'S AUTO

Two low wave length receivers, apparently designed to intercept police radio messages, were discovered yesterday in the car driven by Stanley Warwick and John Fitzsimmons of Chicago, who on Tuesday night were wounded and captured in Elgin in a gun battle with Patrolman Frank Egner. The instruments were concealed under the instrument board, and were adapted to the reception of Detroit police radio and the projected Chicago police plant, it was said. Egner was slightly wounded in the battle.

Both men were identified yesterday as former convicts. Warwick, whose home here was at 3317 South Wall street, had served two terms in the Bridewell for larceny. Fitzsimmons, said to live at 3844 Lake Park avenue, had served time in Joliet for stealing the automobile of Assistant State's Attorney Keeney of Du Page county.

John Egan, assistant chief of detectives, said last night that the Chicago police radio would be in operation in about two weeks.

James Horan, Grandson of Chief Killed in Fire, Dies

James J. Horan Jr., 16 years old, grandson of Fire Chief James Horan who was killed in the Union Stock Yards fire of 1910, died yesterday at the University hospital after a three week illness with meningitis. His father is a telephone engineer. The family home is at 5504 Quincy street. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning from the Resurrection church.

Dr. Wm. Ufer, Veteran of Custer's Campaign, Dies

Dr. William Ufer, 75 years old, who fought with Custer in the Indian campaigns, died yesterday at his home, 3854 West Division street. He is survived by Mrs. Ufer and five children. He had lived in Chicago for 47 years. He was a mail carrier out of the Canal street postal station from 1891 to 1916, when he quit to become an osteopath and chiropractor.

STUDENTS SEND APOLOGIES FOR HUGO FRYE HOAX

Ithaca, N. Y., May 28.—(AP)—A telegraphed apology tonight to the prominent Republicans duped in the Hugo N. Frye hoax by the two Cornell students who perpetrated it was believed to have ended the "campus prank."

E. T. Horn of Ithaca and L. A. Blumner of Yonkers, editors of a humorous column in the Cornell Daily Sun, sent messages to Vice President Curtis, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Claudius H. Huston, Republican national chairman and Representative Ruth Pratt.

The students, pretending that the sesqui-centennial of Hugo N. Frye (a fictitious name) was to be observed here, had sent letters asking messages from the Republican leaders. They said replies were received from each.

DR. DAVID KINLEY IS HONORED BY STUDENT BODY

Urbana, Ill., May 28.—[Special.]—Homage was paid to Dr. David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois, by the student body at a convocation held on the campus tonight. The retiring president was presented with a scroll expressing appreciation for his grateful and unremitting and watchful care for the students' welfare, and of his outstanding service as professor, dean, and president.

Thousands of students gathered on the steps of the auditorium where the convocation was held.

A short twilight concert preceded the ceremonies, the University Concert, First and Second Regimental bands, a combined organization of 300 pieces, under the direction of Prof. A. A. Harding, rendering an appropriate program, opening with the new "University of Illinois March" by John Philip Sousa, and closing with a potpourri of Illinois songs and marches.

Among the 33 students who escorted Dr. Kinley to where the convocation was held were E. C. Hoelscher, 458 Briar place; Russell J. Crane, 6310 South Mozart street; Lucile Finnegan, 7467 Sheridan road, and Albert Lewis, 6620 Harvard avenue, all of Chicago.

"After Baby Came I Was Weak Skinny. I Gained 22 Pounds"

"After my baby was born I was very weak and 'skinny'. But when I took IRONIZED YEAST I began to eat and feel better. Now feeling good and can work hard every day. Have gained 22 lbs." Mrs. Laura Benoit

New IRONIZED YEAST Builds Weight and Strength Quick!

Pleasant Tablets. Quick Results—or Pay Nothing

Mrs. Laura Benoit

Mrs. Benoit's experience proves that there is little excuse for being weak, tired and "skinny." For new IRONIZED YEAST has enabled thousands of thin, weak folks to report gains of 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks; fill out ugly hollows, change bony limbs to graceful roundness. Skin clears like magic. New pep overnight. Rich, red blood right away.

Good for Mothers and Children

Why You Gain Weight Quick

This new, more powerful IRONIZED YEAST is two marvelous tonics in one—specially cultured, weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening, blood-enriching Iron. Only when Yeast is Ironized is it most effective, for Iron is needed to bring out the strengthening values of Yeast. Highly concentrated by a new process which makes it many times more effective than unmedicated yeast. Gives results in half the time required by ordinary yeast or iron.

Don't go on being half alive, with "skinny," tired body and an ugly skin. Get IRONIZED YEAST from any Walgreen or Economical Drug Store today. Feel great tomorrow. Gain weight pep and clear skin from the very start.

New IRONIZED YEAST Ends "Nerves," Constipation, Indigestion, Bad Skin

It amazes people to see how quickly IRONIZED YEAST ends nervous troubles. Nervousness is due to a run-down condition. IRONIZED YEAST builds up the system so quick you feel new pep arriving overnight; ends constipation and indigestion at once. Nervousness vanishes.

Mrs. E. White of Brooklyn writes: "Because of lost appetite and sleepless nights, I became nervous and run-down. Tried IRONIZED YEAST. Gained 5 lbs. and sleep like a baby."

Get IRONIZED YEAST from any Walgreen or Economical Drug Store today. Feel like new person tomorrow. Watch nervousness, nervous headaches, indigestion, constipation vanish at once. Sleep sound the first night. Get rich, red blood.

BEAUTY EXPERT CLEARS SKIN; GAINS WEIGHT, PEP

Mrs. Orne Dixon

"Lost weight. Complexion bad. Almost lifeless. Since taking IRONIZED YEAST I regained lost weight. Now vigorous and strong. Completion clear and rosy."—Mrs. Orna Dixon, Blackey, Ky.

Good advice from a Beauty Expert. IRONIZED YEAST beats creams and lotions.

Ends Nerves. Clears Skin. Gains 7 lbs. in 5 Weeks

Mrs. M. A. Sutton

"I was in awful run-down condition. My nerves were at the breaking point. Complexion bad. IRONIZED YEAST made me feel like new. Gained 7 pounds in 5 weeks. Skin has cleared."—Mrs. M. A. Sutton, Bozman, Md.

Miss G. M. Byrd

Ends Constipation with New Yeast No Longer Tired and Nervous

"Was constipated. Also weak, nervous, dizzy. Had failing appetite. Skin broken out. 3 bottles IRONIZED YEAST gave me vigor. Good appetite. Added 8 pounds. Never get tired."—Golda M. Byrd, Blackfork, Ohio.

Illinoisians Praise Ironized Yeast

Gains 11 Lbs. in 2 Weeks
"Been taking IRONIZED YEAST 2 weeks and gained 11 lbs. Good appetite. Also helping my wife and baby."—Cornelius Carr.

Gains 9 Lbs. in 2 Weeks

KRESGE PLANS BUILDINGS TO COST $200,000

Two Story Structure for East 55th Street.

BY AL CHASE.

First steps in a building and expansion program involving approximately $200,000 were taken yesterday by the S. S. Kresge company when work started on a $60,000 two story building at 1357-61 East 55th street. It will be 75x88 and the owners will occupy the entire building with the exception of a twenty-five foot store leased to the Winter Clothing company. The building was designed by the architectural department of the owners, with John Hocke, Chicago architect, associated.

Another building for the Kresge firm, according to L. F. Wysockey, district manager, will be a two story structure now under construction at 2048 East 71st street. Kresge will occupy this entire building. It will cost $40,000. The firm also is having the first floor of the building at 6753 Stony Island avenue completely remodeled. The estimated cost is $20,000.

Addition to Broadway Unit.

Still another unit in the Kresge expansion program is the construction of an addition to the company's building at Leland and Broadway which will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. A. Marcus has the contract for the first three projects. A $40,000 building also is announced for Harvey.

The United Cigar stores have leased the store at 14 North Crawford avenue from M. Alpern and L. Gamson for a term of years at a minimum guarantee of $10.50 per square foot. W. C. D. Trankle represented the lessors and the Noyes National Realty, the lessee.

Clyde Avenue Deal.

Henning Bood has purchased the six apartment building at 6906-08 Clyde avenue, lot 60x125, from Mayme Basil for a reported $65,000, subject to $33,000, giving as payment for the equity the business building at 7739 Stony Island avenue, lot 25x110. Thomas E. Kay & Co. and J. E. Merrion & Co. were brokers. Anderson & Anderson were attorneys.

Cushman Brothers, Inc., have leased the store at 4715 South Ashland avenue from Herman S. Flaxman for use as a bakery. The term is six years. McKey & Pogue, brokers, state the lessees intend opening a chain of bakeries in the local business centers.

5 FIRMS RENT SPACE AT 74TH AND ASHLAND

The recent leasing of 52,500 square feet of floor space in the Ashland Industries building, 74th street and Ashland avenue, is reported by W. E. Reynolds, general manager of the building. Fairbanks, Morse & Co. have signed for 16,000 square feet for machinery storage. The Young & Hoffman Chevrolet Sales will occupy 7,500 square feet for automobiles. The Slumbrick Motor Sales company will use 7,000 square feet.

The Triangle Steel company is taking 8,000 square feet for sheet steel, and the Seymour Howard company, manufacturing chemists, is taking 20,000 square feet. Disposal of space in the structure is in the hands of the Central Manufacturing district. J. B. Whidden of Hart & Whetston was broker in the Fairbanks Morse lease, Albert Montague of Chandler & Montague acted for Seymour Howard.

SAYS BUSINESS MUST PREPARE FOR RECOVERY

Bank Warns Against Reefed Sails.

The New York and Chicago stock exchanges will be closed tomorrow in observance of Memorial day and also on Saturday. The Chicago Board of Trade, commodity exchanges and the banks also will be closed tomorrow, but will be open Saturday.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Business is riding under such close sail at present that there is danger it will miss the first breeze of recovery, which even now is springing up. This is both the warning and forecast of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, one of Chicago's big banks.

"Those business men who accept the current rumor of the street that general business is dull may find themselves in a difficult position when the hoped for orders arrive," the bank says in its monthly digest of business conditions. "A considerable number of important concerns have reported to us their inability to take prompt care of orders now being received. The prevalent idea that business cannot improve until fall is already causing some business losses.

Consumptive Demands.

"Even a cursory study of statistics will develop evidence that business improvement has not only begun but, in some lines, is setting a new pace. While no business boom appears to be in prospect, the consumptive demands of the people must be met and, with a continuing decline in unemployment and heavy distribution of dividends and interest, it is clear that the general buying power is not subnormal at this time.

"Further increases in outdoor employment will augment consumer demand and mid-summer will be even better than the early months of the year for the merchandise distributor, which will reflect itself in transportation volume."

Both wholesale and retail trade in the middle west improved last month, according to the Chicago federal reserve bank's monthly survey.

"Increased sales for April over March were general in all reporting lines of wholesale trade, except drugs, where a decline of 1 per cent was shown," the bank says. "Gains averaged 3 per cent in groceries, 2 per cent in hardware, 5 per cent in dry goods, 17½ per cent in shoes and 6 per cent in electrical supplies.

"Easter trade at department stores effected an increase of 23 per cent for April over March in total volume of sales and because of the later date of the holiday this year. For the first time in 1930 business was in excess of the corresponding month in 1929. For the year through April, however, sales aggregated 9 per cent under the same period last year."

In Steel Industry.

The good and bad phases of the steel industry are presented in the midweek reviews.

"Pipe line demand is the conspicuously active feature in an iron and steel market characterized by sharp contrasts," the Iron Age says. "Brisk business in reinforcing bars, the prospect of a continuance of the present rate of automobile production, a fair outlook for structural steel and sustained activity among shipbuilders and manufacturers of road machinery are other encouraging features.

"Aggregate demand for iron and steel, however, continues to sag and ingot production for the country at large has receded from 74 to 73 per cent of capacity. The U. S. Steel corporation has succeeded in holding its rates at 80 per cent but operations among independents vary widely, with some plants on a 50 per cent basis. The downward trend of prices has not yet been halted."

Hear General Aviation Seeks Detroit Aircraft

New York, May 28.—(AP)—Wall street heard today that General Aviation corporation, new aircraft holding company formed by General Motors around the nucleus of Fokker, was negotiating for the Detroit Aircraft corporation. The report could not be confirmed. General Motors is already represented on Detroit Aircraft's board.

Grigsby-Grunow to Employ 15,000 Additional Workers

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Evidence that business is beginning to find its way out of the labyrinth of depression was found in the announcement made last night by President William C. Grunow of the Grigsby-Grunow company of plans which will give employment to 15,000 people within the next sixty days.

W. C. GRUNOW.

The company, which is the country's largest manufacturer of radio sets, beginning June 2 will employ 10,000 additional workers and increase the production rate to 4,000 sets daily. The company has been operating recently with a force of around 1,000. The Majestic Household Utilities corporation, affiliate of Grigsby-Grunow, will begin production of its refrigerator in July. A force of 5,000 people will be employed with an initial pay roll of about $1,000,000 monthly, it was stated.

With the increase in the working force the pay roll of the Grigsby-Grunow company will approach $2,000,000 a month.

Buys Equipment.

Mr. Grunow stated that the Majestic corporation has spent $3,000,000 for new equipment providing work for a substantial number of people.

In making the announcement Mr. Grunow reiterated his faith in the future of the radio industry. "I am firmly convinced that the future of the industry is secure and we are demonstrating our faith in the future by embarking on this program," he declared.

"The soundness of American business structures has been tested thoroughly in the past and it is only a question of time until it recovers its equilibrium, and the business of the country again assumes its upward course.

"The purchasing power of the country has not been impaired. Although it sounds almost unbelievable, the Majestic Household Utilities corporation has received advance orders from its 14,000 distributors for upwards of 1,000,000 refrigerators."

Both Issues Strong.

Stocks of both the Grigsby company and the Majestic corporation were strong in the trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. Grigsby finished the day at 25 and Majestic was around 4 points higher at the close. The market as a whole was firm, but trading was dull, due in part to the lack of outside buying.

U. S. Radio advanced 4 points with good support by the professionals. Motor shares were steady while the industrials turned in a few fair gains. Campbell Wyant moved up 2½ and Iron Fireman an even 2.

Chicago corporation, after days of idling, enjoyed a flurry of activity. Sales in the issue approximated 24,000 shares and the price was a fraction higher at the close. Active utility stocks showed little change. Cities Service eased nearly a point.

MELLON INTERESTS TO PAY $10,000,000 FOR PARAGON OIL

Cincinnati, O., May 28.—(AP)—E. D. Edwards, president of the Paragon Oil company, announced today the company will be sold to the Mellon interests of Pittsburgh for about $10,000,000.

Edwards said directors of the Paragon concern have accepted an offer from the Union Trust company, Pittsburgh, representing the absorbing interest, and that Paragon stockholders will be asked to approve the deal at a special meeting on June 24.

The purchase, Edwards also said, involves all Paragon assets except cash and accounts receivable. Stock of the Valvoline company, recently acquired by Paragon, will not be involved, he said. The oil company operates about 400 filling stations in Ohio and Michigan. Assets of the company on last April 20 totaled $16,912,044. All stockholders, Edwards said, will receive cash for their holdings, preferred stock bringing $50 a share.

New Inventions Seen Essential to Progress

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that this civilization of ours must have a constant stream of new mechanical improvements if we are to keep progressing to a higher standard of living for the whole mass of population.

Mechanical improvements, as every one knows, were first directed toward increased efficiency in the production of materials that were near the raw state. The cotton gin and the power loom aided in making cotton fabrics for further manufacture by hand into finally usable goods somewhat cheaper.

The most farseeing manufacturers in recent years have been directing their efforts toward the making of things that are actually used in the home itself. We need only to consider the radio, the electric refrigerator, the vacuum cleaner and the washing machine to realize this.

Real Pioneer.

Before them, the real pioneer as an aid to household labor, was the sewing machine; and it is credited with doing as much as any other article toward teaching American industry the doctrine of the interchangeable part.

Sales of all the articles mentioned are subject to fluctuations, but in general to smaller fluctuations than sales of articles usually considered raw or semi-finished articles. It might be said that the maker of goods for the home consumer has a steadier market than the one who produces for the needs of the man who will re-process. Probably he has a less variable price level. The important lesson here is that home consumption and consumptive demand are more steady that production itself.

The automobile industry's selling of automobiles this spring has been closer to the selling in 1929 than the making of cars in the same two periods. Production last year simply was not geared to consumption and this spring has been devoted to the moving out of surplus, to some extent. Comparable statistics are not available in regard to radio sets, but shrewd guessers have asserted that the number sold to users is about average.

Varies Little.

Both radio and mechanical refrigeration are so new that the prospect of radical betterments has acted as a deterrent to immediate sales. The washing machine business is older, perhaps more stable. How little that product varies is shown in statistics of the American Washing Machine Manufacturers association.

Reports from twenty-five makers, with one of the largest makers left out, compile to show sales in the first quarter of 1930 reaching 165,066. In the same period of 1929 unit sales were 173,156. The decline was less than 5 per cent.

EATON EXTENDS BOUNDS OF STEEL, O R E OPERATIONS

Cleveland, O., May 28.—(AP)—Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier, extended the bounds of his midwestern steel and ore operations, it is announced, through affiliation with Oglebay, Norton & Co. of Cleveland, an outstanding iron ore development organization.

The affiliation was viewed by Cleveland observers as a major move by Eaton in strengthening the future security of the Republic Steel corporation, the nucleus of his iron and steel projects. No details as to financial arrangements were forthcoming.

Oglebay, Norton recently received a contract from the union of socialist soviet republics to supervise the development of the iron ore industry in the union as part of the 5 year industrial program there.

The ten Oglebay, Norton ore boats will be added to the Cliffs' twenty-four, giving Eaton the third largest fleet of ore carriers in the great lakes.

BAR SILVER HITS ALL TIME LOW IN N. Y. AND LONDON

New York, May 28.—(AP)—Climaxing the gradual decline of the last few weeks, bar silver, in both the New York and London markets, dropped to a new low price for all time today.

New York bar silver declined ¼c, to 38⅜c an ounce, and London bar silver lost ¼d, to touch 18d. The declines followed a previous drop on Monday and culminated a prolonged period of weakness in the price of silver this year.

Budd Sails Tomorrow to Inspect Soviet Railways

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railway, sails for Europe tomorrow, at the head of a party which will make an inspection tour of the Russian railways. Mr. Budd said the purpose of the trip is to draw plans for reorganization of the railways to conform to American standards.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 28.—Six or eight exciting checker games raging simultaneously on the floor of the New York Stock exchange today enabled bored brokers to while away one of the dullest market sessions in years.

It was a typical midsummer preholiday market from start to finish. Outside orders came in mere driblets and the ticker had frequent and prolonged periods of utter idleness. Sales checked up at 2,405,350 shares.

Price movements were irregular and chiefly without significance for a major part of the session. Some good buying appeared in the utility stocks and a few pivotal industries in the late trading, however, and this served to point the trend definitely upward in time for the final record. But as usual here of late there were numerous minus signs to mar the picture.

Pressure on Rails.

Rail shares were on the "off" side all day and some of them were carried down rather sharply under repeated bear attacks inspired by a fresh batch of poor earnings statements. A number of isolated specialties were also pressed rather vigorously for various reasons—such as dividend reductions or omissions or predictions of decreased earnings.

News with a market bearing again was sparse and of no great consequence. The steel trade journals were meagerly optimistic, but any favorable effect they might have had on sentiment was offset by the disappointing railway statistics for April. Money still ruled easy at 3 per cent in spite of the calling by banks of a somewhat heavier total than is normal.

CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE LISTS TWO NEW ISSUES

Securities of the Federal Compress and Warehouse company and the Southwestern Natural Gas company were approved for listing on the Chicago Stock exchange.

The Federal Compress listing consists of 370,323 shares of no par common stock to be admitted to trading on further notice. The company, organized in 1925, operates fifty-four cotton compresses and warehouses with a capacity of 1,500,000 bales. It is said that the concern handles one-sixth of all the cotton grown in the country. The company derives its earnings from fees for compressing and storing cotton, but does not own or trade in the commodity.

The Southwestern Natural Gas listing consists of $2,500,000 principal amount first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund bonds. The concern is engaged in the distribution of natural gas in Muskogee, Sapulpa, and Boynton, Okla.

Chevrolet Produces Its Seven Millionth Auto

Flint, Mich., May 28.—(AP)—Production of the seven millionth automobile in its shops here today was announced by officials of the Chevrolet Motor Car company. The time elapsing since the six millionth car was ten months and 25 days.

HENRY M. DAWES FEARS GROWTH OF BANK CHAINS

Washington, D. C., May 28.—(AP)—Henry M. Dawes of Chicago, former controller of the currency, predicted today continued growth of group banking would result in control of the banking system by a few organizations "which have contributed little if anything in the way of capital."

Testifying in the house banking committee's banking investigation, Dawes also disagreed with the proposal of the present controller, John W. Pole, for a system of branch banking within trade areas.

Describing branch banking as "concentration carried to the nth degree," he asserted "any system of branch banking offers great difficulties in the matter of examination."

Referring to chain banking, he said, "the responsibility of control in chains is often hard to locate, and when located is, as a rule, more distinguished for its control than for any financial responsibility."

United Cigar Stores Cut Common Par Value to $1

New York, May 28.—(AP)—Stockholders of the United Cigar Stores Company of America have approved reduction of the par value of common stock from $10 to $1, and subsequently to no par value in effecting a recapitalization, George Morrow, president, said average net sales for the first four months showed a 15 per cent increase over the corresponding period of 1929.

Withdraws Application Against Allerton Corp.

Wilmington, Del., May 28.—(AP)—Application for a receiver pending litigation for the Allerton corporation, holding company, which operates a number of hotels in New York, Chicago, and Cleveland, was withdrawn in Chancery court today by Edgar Kenny of New York, a stockholder. The corporation is alleged in the action to be insolvent and mismanaged and its management negligent.

Rewards from Tapping New Markets

As the high pressure lines of the natural gas industry reach out in all directions for their large markets they pass by or near hundreds of communities not large enough to support a manufactured gas company, but which are immediate prospects for Natural Gas Service.

Since they are additional to the main line's major markets, these communities provide an especially desirable source of income.

The 1250 mile pipe line now under construction by this system passes through or near scores of such municipalities requiring millions of cubic feet of gas daily.

With no preferred stock or bonded indebtedness, the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company's common stock affords a first claim to earnings from the new expansion of the Natural Gas Industry.

SHORTS COVER IN MAY WHEAT; PRICES ADVANCE

Corn Under Pressure and Closes Lower.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The wheat market appears to be making determined efforts to get out of the rut in which it has been for many weeks, and the combined influence of less favorable foreign and domestic crop reports were instrumental yesterday in advancing the July to a high of $1.08⅞, the best figure since April 17.

Trade, however, was not broad enough to absorb profit taking and selling against offers and the finish was around 1c under the best prices, with net gains of ½@¾c, May being $1.07¼, and July, $1.07⅝@1.07¾. Winnipeg closed ⅝@¾c higher.

There has been liberal short covering in May wheat during the last few days and a further reduction in the open interest is expected to be shown in today's report following a cut of nearly 3,000,000 bu Tuesday, leaving 5,588,000 bu still open. It was the gossip there is considerable cash wheat held on track by commission houses, having been delivered on May contracts, and the disposition of the grain is puzzling the trade.

Talk Crop Damage.

Damage reports on winter wheat are coming forward from a wider area, being received from parts of Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, and Oklahoma during the day, the general comment being that the crop was going backward without apparent reason. Hessian fly talk is increasing from Nebraska.

All estimates on the Italian wheat crop received of late show liberal reductions in the prospective yield as compared with 1929, a private cable saying that indications were for a good average crop, which would be around 215,000,000 bu, or 45,000,000 bu less than last year. Around 400,000 bu Manitoba wheat was reported as having been taken by Italy during the day.

New crop Danubian wheat was reported as being offered in London for August shipment at equal to $1.08⅝, or a material discount under the September delivery in Liverpool. The latter closed ⅝@1¼d higher on small Argentine clearances, and a lack of pressure.

May Corn Under Pressure.

Reports that cash corn prices at Buffalo had declined sharply in the last few days, and talk of larger receipts led to increased pressure on corn futures from local operators and the nearly delivery closed ¾c lower, with other futures ¼c lower to ¼c higher, May finishing at 77⅞@77¾c, and July, 80@80¼c. An early bulge was checked by selling against offers. Weather conditions were favorable for field work, and planting is well ahead of this period a year ago.

Cash interests were on the buying side of May oats, and the market showed a firm undertone early, only to weaken later, and closed ¼c lower to ¼c higher, with May, 41⅛c, and July, 40¼c. Shipping sales aggregated $2,000 bu.

May rye closed 1¾c higher at 60¼c, and it was understood that the 15,000 bu open at the finish on Tuesday was closed up during the day. Deferred futures gained ⅛@⅞c, with July, 63¾c at the last.

BUTTER AND EGGS HIGHER

The principal butter and egg deliveries stood higher on the Chicago Mercantile exchange with receipts average, spot markets firm, and storings not particularly burdensome. November butter advanced 2c to 40c per car and May ¼c. Sales were 134 cars and receipts 6,807 tubs.

On account of the Friday holiday the current butter and egg contracts will be closed out today on the exchange. Prices follow:

Junior Mortgage.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS
There is a general tendency today for people to think that the more they pay for something, the better it must be.
While this may be true of merchandise, it is distinctly not true when applied to second mortgage financing. Financing of any type must stand on its own merit and whether or not it accomplishes its object at fair and reasonable cost.
It has been our constant effort to reduce second mortgage costs, without sacrificing any efficiency in handling transactions. Our rates on loans of this type are the lowest in Chicago. We charge 7% accruing interest and a commission which works out as follows:
$35.00 per $1,000 for 1 year
$65.00 per $1,000 for 2 years
$90.00 per $1,000 for 3 year.

STUDEBAKER'S MEMORIAL DAY BARGAINS

We are celebrating Decoration Day by offering revolutionary values. A comparison of our prices with those of competitors will convince you that we offer the greatest savings in Chicago.

THE FAMOUS STUDEBAKER USED CAR pledge PROTECTS YOU. FIVE DAY FREE DRIVING TRIAL GOES WITH EVERY CAR SOLD.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. 1927 5 pass. coupe; this's in excellent condition throughout; has expensive mohair upholstery and fine performance. Equipped with 4 whl. brks., snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc., $595.

CHRYSLER ROADSTER. 1930 model 66. Has driven a few hundred miles. Has brand new tires, shock absorbers, bumpers, etc. Upholstery is like a new dollar and the leather upholstery is very comfortable. Has a roomy rumble seat, and an attractive black finish. Special for $878.

ESSEX COACH. 1929 that looks and runs like new direct from the factory. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, shutter front, bumpers, etc. Has brand new tires and the motor could not sound. Will not remain long at $495.

SEDAN COUPE. 1929 Adv. 6 that was used on a trip to California and back. Has been in the garage the rest of the time and is in the pink of condition. It's in smart condition today. Has wire wheels, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Roomy rumble seat. $695.

DODGE SEDAN. This 1928 senior six was owned by a prominent manufacturer who used it only to have his children driven up and back every day. The result is a finish, upholstery and tires are in splendid new condition and the motor is running very smoothly. Equipped with 4 whl. brks., shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $645.

FORD SEDAN. Late model A. It's one of the prettiest Fords on the Chicago streets; has wire wheels, Houdaille shock absorbers, bumpers, tire, etc. The motor is in splendid condition. Will not remain 24 hours at our special price.

WILLYS-KNIGHT SEDAN. 1928 that has practically every conceivable extra. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spare tire, etc. The attractive finish is in A-1 condition. Mechanically it is only $345. A scratch on it.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. Recent de luxe 8 sedan. This car is a real beauty. It has the full crown fenders, expensive velour upholstery. Finished in beautiful maroon with attractive panel. Also equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, driving light, etc. The motor is smooth and powerful. Special at $795.

BIG SEDAN. This 1928 Flying Cloud is mechanically clean throughout. The motor runs like clockwork. It was oiled and greased every 500 miles by the original owner. It will give you 50,000 miles more of satisfactory service. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, spare tire, etc., $645.

PONTIAC COUPE. Here is the best Pontiac buy in Chicago. The finish glistens like a new dollar and the motor runs smoothly as it should. Has brand new tires and every special extra. $295.

BUFFALO SEDAN. Was traded in at a very attractive price, so we'll pass on the saving to you. This fine riding car is as smart as the new Paris styles. Any mechanic will vouch for the excellence of the motor. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, seat covers, spare tire, etc. $345.

PACKARD SEDAN. This six is equipped with a Dietrich body. Bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's tempered a beautiful blue. The motor is A-1. It's an exceptional buy at our price of $445.

GRAHAM-PAIGE SEDAN. 1929 with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. The owner of this car drove it exactly 11 miles and then decided what he really wanted was a Victoria. It's priced to sell at a low figure. His loss is your gain and now you have the opportunity to get a brand new car at a saving. Has wire wheels and is unusually low price of $550.

HUDSON SEDAN. Late 1928 that's the last word for sparkling performance and creative appearance. Equipped with shock absorbers, bumpers, trunk, shutter visors, etc. The finish actually glistens. Has a fine running motor. $585.

OAKLAND SEDAN. 1929 that was driven exactly 9,249 miles. It's finished a beautiful maroon with a green panel. Is also equipped with new tires and a wealth of extras. Priced at $785, but worth at least $300 more.
